GERMAN ATTACHE ARRESTED; PRISON SENTENCE FOR BUENZ

GOVERNMENT PLANS DEEP INVESTIGATION OF CONSULAR AGENTS

ENTENTE ALLIES WILL PROBABLY REFUSE TO GRANT SAFE CONDUCT FOR RETURN TO GERMANY OF CAPTAINS BOY-ED AND VON PAPEN.

By The Associated Press.

New York, Dec. 4.—Dr. Karl Buenz, George Kotter and Adolph Hachmeister of the Hamburg-American line, recently convicted of conspiracy to defraud the United States government, were sentenced today to serve one and one-half years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta. Joseph Poppinghaus was sentenced to one year. The Hamburg-American line was fined $1. All the defendants were admitted to bail, pending the suing out of a writ of error in their behalf.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Developments which have followed the request for the withdrawal of Captain Karl Boy-Ed and Captain Franz von Papen, naval and military attaches of the German embassy, indicated today that the state department would conduct a wide investigation of foreign consular officers in the United States whose suspected activities in some instances are looked upon with extreme disfavor. Should the investigation disclose that any officials have acted in a manner considered improper, their exequators will be cancelled or the state department will find other means of having them discontinued in the offices they hold.

Any action that may be taken will undoubtedly have the full approval of President Wilson. It is understood that the state department is proceeding with the utmost care and officials are reluctant to discuss the matter. It was said at the department tonight, however, that no decision had been reached in the case of Alexander von Nuber, Austrian consul general at New York, whose name frequently has been mentioned in connection with the activities of Boy-Ed and von Papen.

May Not Get Safe Conduct.

The entente allies, it became known today, probably will refuse to grant safe conducts for the return to Germany of the two German attaches. Great Britain and France, it was stated authoritatively, may take the position that safe conducts willingly would be granted if the two men were civil attaches and were not actively connected with the fighting forces of Germany.

The attaches, it was pointed out, would be free to proceed to Mexico. Should they be allowed to return to Germany, however, they might not only take part in the hostilities, but might impart information which would prove of great military value.

It was made clear at the state department today that to have the attaches remain in this country even as private citizens would be undesirable. The government has ruled that they are persona non grata and wants them withdrawn entirely from the United States.

The state department also made it clear that none of the information or suspicions upon which it had acted had been submitted to Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, Secretary Lansing taking the position that such action was unnecessary. It was pointed out that the request for withdrawal of the attaches could hardly become the subject of diplomatic negotiations.

Captain Boy-Ed Confers.

Secretary Lansing said he had received a stenographic report of the testimony and remarks of counsel in the conspiracy trial of the officials of the Hamburg-American line in New York and that it showed that Assistant United States District Attorney Roger Wood had not gone as far as press dispatches indicated in his reference to Captain Boy-Ed. Secretary Lansing was of the opinion that some accounts of the trial which reached Washington were "made of whole cloth." The references in the govern-

BARON VON BRINCKEN GERMAN ATTACHE IS ARRESTED AT FRISCO

ATTEMPTING TO DESTROY AMERICAN COMMERCE WITH ALLIES CHARGE FILED AGAINST MAN ALLEGED IMPLICATED WITH CROWLEY.

By The Associated Press.

San Francisco, Dec. 4.—Baron George Wilhelm von Brincken, who claimed immunity from arrest as military attache of the German consul general here last night, surrendered early tonight to federal authorities and was charged with attempting to destroy commerce with the allies. He was released on bail bond of $10,000.

The arrest of Von Brincken was in connection with the alleged conspiracy to block traffic and destroy vessels carrying food, clothing and ammunition to the allied countries in the European war. The formal charges against Von Brincken associates him with Charles C. Crowley, a detective, and Lewis J. Smith, Crowley's alleged accomplice in the handling of German funds for destructive purposes.

The federal authorities indicated an intention to press other neutrality cases by ordering service of a subpoena upon Robert Capelle, agent for the North German-Lloyd Steamship company, who was said by them to have been secreted on board the German bark Ottawa, interned off Sausalito, across the bay from San Francisco since the beginning of the war.

Search for Capelle.

Search for Capelle was begun ten days ago following testimony in the Hamburg-American case at New York that $750,000 was sent here for disbursement upon the orders of Captain Boy-Ed, naval attache of the German embassy.

The complaints against both Baron von Brincken and Crowley allege that the baron paid Crowley $845.60 at the Palace hotel August 1, in furtherance of the alleged conspiracy to destroy commerce, and that $250, and two payments of $50, alleged to have been made by Crowley to Lewis J. Smith, were given to Crowley previously by Von Bricken.

Baron von Brincken has been a prominent figure in San Francisco society. He and Miss Milo Abercrombie recently were married here.

Have Most of Men Wanted.

By The Associated Press.

Washington, Dec. 4.—After weeks of investigation covering the entire country, department of justice officials were convinced tonight that they had under arrest most of the men implicated in plots to interfere with American commerce in munitions of war.

The arrest today in San Francisco of Baron von Brincken, who claims to be connected with the office of the German consul general there, is regarded here as one of the most important made in several weeks. The baron, according to the information here, was a prominent figure in the plans of C. C. Crowley, arrested in the same city charged with plots against munition factories. More arrests are to be made in the Crowley case and important developments are looked for when all the witnesse the government is seeking reach San Francisco and give their testimony.

May Connect With Fay.

Although officials would not admit that a direct connection has been established between the Crowley plots and those in which Lieut. Robert Fay and his accomplices were implicated in New York, it is understood many facts point to such a conclusion. If this proves true the department expects within a few weeks to have completely defeated plans nation-wide to interfere with munitions shipments in the east to England, France and Italy and in the west to Russia.

Who the head of the suspected conspiracy was or whether it had any one head has not been discovered, but in gathering up the threads in the Crowley and Fay cases the department has

MONASTIR IS LEFT IN ORDERLY FASHION BY SERB REAR GUARD

ITALIAN CORRESPONDENT GIVES INTERESTING ACCOUNT OF HOW COL. VASSITITCH MARCHED OUT OF CITY PROCLAIMING BELIEF IN VICTORY FOR ALLIES.

BRITISH RENREATING IN ASIA

Rumania's Declaration That All Foreign Ships Will Be Commandeered Monday Taken as Indication That Some Stand Is About to Be Taken by That Country on One Side or Other.

By the Associated Press.

Paris, Dec. 4.—A dispatch to the Temps from Milan says that a special correspondent of the Milan newspaper Secolo, who was present at the evacuation of Monastir, has sent the following story from Florina, Greece, dated Thursday:

"The Serbs held back their adversaries throughout Wednesday, but the pressure of the Bulgarians descending from Kichevo threatened the road of retreat from Monastir to Resna and forced Colonel Vassititch to abandon the city. Wednesday at 10 p. m. a Serbian battalion passed through the city in retreat, taking the route to Resna. The Serbians gave an impression of resolute heroism. They defiled through the streets in good order and in absolute silence.

"The mayor and the prefect organized an improvised police service hospital, containing about 300 wounded, above which was hoisted the American flag. Colonel Vassititch gave to the American mission for distribution among the poor 400,000 pounds of provisions. Colonel Vassititch remained almost until the last. He left at 12:30 a. m. in an automobile with the officers of his staff. The colonel made this statement:

"'If the Bulgarians succeed now in cutting the route between Resna and Monastir they will be able to march upon Ochrida and cut the retreat of the Serbian army of the north which is retiring toward Struga and Elbasan (Albania). We now have a mission to defend the defile of Resna. I hope that up to the last minute we shall be able to make of the river Cerna a new Yser. We have resisted to the last extremity, but it is impossible to withstand the greatly superior forces. We will fight to our last man, sure of the final victory of the allies, sure of the resurrection of Serbia.'

"Colonel Vassititch, before leaving Monastir, posted a proclamation explaining to the inhabitants the necessity for the retreat. The mayor, prefect and other city officials left by train for Florina. This (Thursday) morning the last of the Serbian companies left the city with their machine guns, leaving the Greek flag hoisted above the railway station. The railroad service continues."

Defeat in Mesopotamia.

By the Associated Press.

London, Dec.4.—The British, German and Turkish accounts of the recent fighting in Mesopotamia while containing minor disparities respecting the casualties and character of the British retreat on the Tigris, clearly establish the fact that without further reinforcements to equal the over-powering odds against which they have been struggling, the British troops under Gen. Townshend have little prospect of continuing the march to Bagdad, which city appeared a few weeks ago to be almost within their grasp.

Having advanced during October and November through the desert of Irak to the very environs of Bagdad, the British force is now retiring upon Kut-El-Amara, eighty miles southwest of Ctesiphon, the scene of the battle fought in the latter part of November in which the British troops met their first serious check.

The position therefore of Gen. Townsheud's force is much the same as in October after the battle of Kut-El-Amara. According to a recent account large Turkish reinforcements, supplementing the forces which already outnumbered the British force four to one, were flung against the British troops retiring down the Tigris and made a British stand out of the question.

Rumania in Limelight.

There have been no military events of importance in the Balkans since the fall of Monastir, which was discounted in advance. Recent reports make Rumania loom unusually large on the Balkan horizon and that country is generally accredited with the intention either of joining the allies or at least stretching her neutrality to the point of allowing the passage of Russian troops. There has been, however, no confirmation of the report that Russian troops have already entered Rumanian territory.

Rumania's declaration that after Monday she will commander all foreign ships anchored in Rumanian ports is regarded by some as proof of Rumania's intention to abandon her neutrality, but the British press and public in general which have grown skeptical over premature announcements of changes in the policy of the Balkan states show little disposition to take a favorable issue for granted until it is established beyond the possibility of a doubt.

Aside from the continuance of desperate fighting between Austrians and Italians in the Gorizia district there is comparatively little activity on the various fronts.

Turks Claim Another Victory.

By the Associated Press.

Amsterdam, Via London, Dec. 5, 1.45 a. m.—A message from Constantinople claims a fresh success for the Turkish army in Mesopotamia, stating that it has captured two additional British gunboats equipped with fifteen centimetre guns.

A Turkish official statement received here Sunday by way of Perlin mentioned the capture of two British supply ships and two gunboats. Whether the above dispatch refers to these vessels already reported or to others is not clear.

RODRIGUEZ TRYING TO BREAK THROUGH LINES

ADVICE FROM AGUA PRIETA SAYS FIGHTING GOING ON ALONG NACOZARI RAILROAD.

Villa Forces Confiscate Livestock of Mormon Colonists in State of Chihuahua.

Douglas, Ariz., Dec. 4.—Advices received tonight from Agua Prieta, Sonora, opposite here, stated that fighting had started between the Carranza forces guarding the Nacozari railroad and the Villa troops of Gen. Jose Rodriguez, who are trying to break through the Carranza lines, between Fronteras and Esqueda. Agua Prieta almost was stripped of guns and soldiers to send reinforcements to the Carranza forces.

Gen. P. E. Calles, second in command of the Carranza forces, who arrived in Agua Prieta late today, hastily gathered all available soldiers of the garrison tonight and left for the scene of the fighting. He was said to have taken nearly every machine gun in town with him.

A short time later reports received here said that a special train loaded with artillery left Agua Prieta for Fronteras.

The few soldiers remaining in the Mexican town were stationed near the international boundary to strengthen the Mexican guard here. Neither the Mexican nor United States authorities would allow persons to cross the international bridge tonight.

Arrivals here tonight from the state of Chihuahua said that Villa forces had confiscated all livestock of Mormon colonists in the Casas Grandes valley and that they had threatened to destroy all property if driven from that section by Carranza soldiers.

The colonists, it was said, were compelled to haul lumber and perform other tasks for the Villa soldiers. They were given for their work green hides from their own cattle, which had been seized.

At various towns in the district, the arrivals declared, Villa authorities had commandeered stocks of grain and merchandise valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars, threatening with death those who opposed their wholesale confiscation.

Gen. M. M. Dieguez, the Carranza commander who has been operating in the vicinity of Hermosillo, capital of Sonora, was said here to be due in Agua Prieta tonight or tomorrow, supposedly for a conference with General Obregon.

PANAMA-PACIFIC CLOSES STRONG

By The Associated Press.

San Francisco, Dec. 4.—At 8 o'clock tonight 350,735 persons had passed the Panama-Pacific exposition's turnstiles, the total breaking the record made on Nov. 2—San Francisco Day—when 348,372 visitors were recorded. Officials predicted that that the 400,000 mark would be passed before midnight, when the exposition closes.

FORD SHIP LEAVES; SEVERAL LEFT BEHIND

RESERVATIONS MADE ON ANOTHER VESSEL FOR THOSE WHO MISSED OSCAR II.

Great Crowd at Pier Cheers for Success of Venture—Marriage Takes Place Just at the Start.

By the Associated Press.

New York, Dec. 4.—To accommodate a number of peace advocates who arrived too late to sail on the Oscar II., it was announced tonight at the Ford peace headquarters here that reservations will be made for them on the Frederik VIII. of the same line, which sails on Dec. 8. This second party may number a dozen and it was announced will include three governors who did not go on the Oscar II. Their names were not revealed.

Included among those who missed the Oscar II. was Frederick Bruce Davis, a Yale student, who, after a hurried trip from San Francisco, sacrificed his place in order to save Mrs. Alice Park, of Palo Alto, Cal., a suffrage worker, the disappointment of being left behind. Davis helped Mrs. Park to get her ticket and after he saw her safely aboard the ship returned to purchase his own ticket only to reach the pier a moment too late.

The crush of belated passengers at the sailing pier of the Oscar II. was almost equaled by the eleventh hour rush at the office of the Scandinavian line in Lower Broadway, beginning shortly before noon trains arriving in the city brought prospective peace advocates and newspaper correspondents by the score. Passports previously ordered from Washington were in the hands of a representative of Mr. Ford, who was on hand to see that they went to the proper parties.

Great Crowd at Pier.

As the hour of sailing drew near, all of those at the office were directed to go to the ship and complete arrangements there.

An hour before sailing time the crowd at the dock became so great that police reserves had to be called to keep the gangways clear for passengers and for porters carrying aboard the baggage.

After the ship had been cleared of visitors and the captain was waiting the word to cast off, the crowd that filled the large pier gathered as close to the ship as possible and either sang patriotic songs or cheered for the success of the venture.

Cries for Henry Ford were responded to by Mr. Ford appearing at the rail. His voice was not sufficiently strong to make himself heard to the great crowd, so one of his friends volunteered to act as his spokesman. He said:

Speaks for Ford.

"Mr. Ford asks me to assure you individually and collectively that he appreciates this demonstration and that he thanks you all for the interest in the mission."

Mr. Ford nodded in approval as the volunteer finished speaking. When the steamer had backed from her pier and headed down the Hudson river, a number of tugs, each loaded with friends of the Ford party, accompanied her until the Oscar II. was well past the Battery. River craft gave the peace ship a parting salute with whistles and sirens as the steamer swept down the bay.

"For several days Mr. Ford has maintained headquarters in a New York Hotel, inviting governors of states, leaders and workers in peace movements and students of universities to join the expedition. Of the governors invited so far as announced, L. B. Hanna of North Dakota was the only one to accept. William J. Bryan said he hoped to join the party at The Hague in a few weeks. He explained that he believed he could achieve more in the interest of peace at present by remaining in America.

In the list of envoys given out by Mr. Ford's assistants are, among others, the Rev. Charles F. Aked of San Francisco, Lieut. Gov. A. J. Bethea of South Carolina, Senator Helen R. Robinson of Denver, and the Rev. W. M. Wright of Little Rock.

Many Students in Party.

Twenty-three members of the party are women. Students from Yale, Vassar, Dartmouth, Oberlin, Williams, Drake, Vanderbilt and Columbia and the Universities of Missouri, Kansas, Ohio, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Illinois, Nebraska, Michigan and Texas, accompany the expedition.

The peace delegates received large red celluloid buttons bearing a white star

PREPAREDNESS PROGRAM BIG ISSUE FOR COMING CONGRESS

Democrats Have Majority in Both Houses But Administration Measures for Defense May Fail Unless Republicans Fall Into Line—Senator Clarke Looks With Favor on New Bill.

CLOTURE RULE NOT TO BE PARTY MEASURE

President Wilson Expected to Read Annual Message on Tuesday—Communication Will Probably Deal Largely With Plan to Increase Army and Navy—Many Important Measures Will Come Before Legislative Body.

Washington, Dec. 4.—National defense and the means of providing money to carry out the administration plans, admittedly, are the chief problems which the Sixty-fourth congress will face when it assembles at noon Monday.

Democratic leaders who had hoped to make military preparedness a non-partisan question are not confident of success, notwithstanding the widespread endorsement given President Wilson's program by prominent members and organizations affiliated with minority parties. The chief stumbling block is the method of raising the enormous revenues which will be needed.

Certain republican leaders have indicated they are ready to make political capital of the democratic dilemma should the party in power find itself compelled to resort to a bond issue or any of the tariff measures hitherto condemned by them. With leaders of both parties looking toward the national campaign next fall the session promises to be of unusual interest.

Washington is enlivened tonight with the last of the arriving members of the new congress, all of them aware of the huge legislative tasks ahead. The nation's law making bodies have not been in session for nine months, the longest legislative hiatus in the last two administrations, during which problems of supreme importance to the nation have arisen.

Clarke for Ship Bill.

Prospects for the administration merchant marine bill at the coming session of congress were enhanced tonight when it became known that Senator James P. Clarke of Arkansas, who led the democratic revolt against the ship purchase bill in the last session, looked with favor upon the new ship bill proposed by government heads.

Senator Clarke, who was renominated for president pro tempore by the majority caucus after a spirited fight against him, based on his opposition to the ship purchase bill, let it be known that he would not oppose the new merchant marine measure drafted after conferences between Secretaries McAdoo and Redfield. The Arkansas senator during the debate in the democratic caucus Friday was asked by several administration senators for his opinion of the new bill. He frankly stated that he saw no objection to it and could give it his support. His opposition to the bill last spring, he said, was because of its government ownership feature.

The bill now proposed by Secretaries McAdoo and Redfield contemplates a naval auxiliary merchant marine which he could favor and provides for government ownership of stock only in case private capital is lacking, thus eliminating the government domination feature of the bill.

Senator Clarke's attitude was a matter of optimistic comment among administration senators tonight, who said it had been influential in reconstructing a harmonious senate and preventing a struggle over cloture at the opening of congress next Monday.

Cloture Rule Not Adopted.

The fight to commit senate democrats to a cloture rule which began just after the ship purchase bill was filibustered to death at the last session, was abandoned by its champions at the meeting of the democratic caucus, although it was agreed a non-partisan effort should be made during the session to correct abuses that have made endless filibusters a matter of frequent practice.

It was declared to be the sense of the caucus that revision of the rules should not be a partisan question and that the whole subject should be referred to the rules committee. A resolution to that effect will be introduced at the opening of congress Monday and the rules committee, of which Senator Overman is chairman, will endeavor to get the co-operation of republican members in re-casting the methods of senate procedure. Senator Owens, chairman of the special committee which submitted a cloture rule to the caucus, withdrew the committee report today after several days spirited discussion of the threatening subject. The step dispelled the possibility of a fight on the floor of the senate Monday which might have delayed organization of the senate for many days, preventing delivery of President Wilson's address on Tuesday as planned.

In view of the harmonious ending of the senate caucus, Majority Leader Kern telegraphed Vice President Marshall that his presence in Washington on Monday would be required. The vice president had wished to remain in Indianapolis for another week because of the illness of Mrs. Marshall. The senate therefore will be called to order by Secretary Baker and the first order of business will be the election of Senator Clarke of Arkansas as president pro tempore. The old rules will prevail and the question of whether the senate is a continuing body will not be pressed.

House Caucus Harmonious.

Democratic nominations for house committees announced today which will be laid before the house Monday, assure support for President Wilson's national defense program. Republicans on the committees will be announced later.

Five of the six new members of the navy committee are "big navy" men. Oscar Callaway of Texas, named to succeed the late Representative Witherspoon of Mississippi, is opposed to any material increase in the navy. Witherspoon was of the same conviction. The new members of the military affairs committee are said to be unanimously in favor of a larger army.

Claude Kitchin, chairman of the ways and means committee, is opposed to the program of preparedness, but he said today that he was satisfied with the personnel of the committees. No opposition developed to Kitchin, who will continue to head the ways and means committee.

These are the democratic designations to the army and navy committees:

Naval—Padgett, Tennessee, chairman; Talbot, Maryland; Estopinal, Louisiana; Riordam, New York; Tribble; Georgia; Hensley, Missouri; Buchanan, Illinois; Gray, Indiana; Callaway, Texas; Hart, New Jersey; Connelly, Kansas; Oliver, Alabama, and Liebel, Pennsylvania.

Military—Hay, Virginia, chairman; Dent, Alabama; Fields, Kentucky; McKellar, Tennessee; Quin, Mississippi; Gordon, Ohio; Littlepage, West Virginia; Shallenberger, Nebraska; Farley and Caldwell, New York; Wise, Georgia; Olney, Massachusetts, and Nichols, South Carolina.

Chairmanships Unchanged.

The chairmanships of the larger committees remain unchanged from the last session. Representative Ragsdale of South Carolina, who figured prominently as an insurgent of the banking and currency committee last year, was not renominated to that committee, but was placed on the foreign affairs committee. Thirteen democrats and eight members of minority parties will compose each of the larger committees.

When the caucus recessed it was announced that the idea to make a cloture resolution a party measure had been abandoned. The opponents of the effort to limit debate, it was evident, were so much in the majority that the subject could not be approved by caucus action. It was predicted that a resolution containing some form of revision of the rules would be introduced on Monday and formally be ratified to a committee. The indications are that the friends of cloture will have difficulty in getting favorable action.

President's Message Tuesday.

President Wilson will outline the salient needs of the country in a personally delivered address to congress

Washington Awaits British Explanation Hocking Case

Washington, Dec. 4.—Pending receipt of Great Britain's official explanation, state department officials still were uncertain tonight just what attitude the deparment would adopt regarding British requisition of the American steamer Hocking and other vessels of the American Trans-Atlantic company without prize court proceedings. It is expected a protest will be sent to London but Secretary Lansing wants to know before determining its form the grounds upon which Great Britain expects to justify the action. Inquiries have been made through the British embassy here and the American embassy in London but no reply has been received.

Officials would not comment on press dispatches indicating the British explanation would be that the ships were being held without proceedings so that their cases might be transferred from the prize courts on this side of the Atlantic to the more important court at London. It was pointed out, however, that the generally accepted rules of prize courts required that seized vessels be taken before the nearest courts and that due regard shall be had for the convenience of the owners.

It is generally expected among officials here that Great Britain will endeavor to discredit affidavits being collected by the American Trans-Atlantic company in an effort to prove that the corporation is owned wholly by Americans. It is recalled that when the company was in process of formation last May the British government called the attention of the state department to what it considered suspicious circumstances connected with the purchase of vessels. The suggestion was made by Great Britain that at least a part of the money with which the line's ships were bought and registered under the American flag came indirectly from the German government.

The state department did not feel that it should go back of the application for registry though it is said suggestions were made to officers of the company that they make a test case of one ship before buying a fleet. Whether Great Britain will now go further and allege that the ownership of much of the stock of the corporation in actual possession of American citizens is not bona fide, is a subject of speculation among officials.

PRESIDENT TO MARRY MRS. GALT DEC. 18

CEREMONY WILL BE PERFORMED AT HOME OF BRIDE-TO-BE INSTEAD OF WHITE OUSE.

SIMPLE SERVICE IS DECIDED ON

Couple Will Leave Immediately for Honeymoon Journey, to Where They Will Not Say.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Extreme simplicity will be observed at the wedding of President Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt, which the white house announced today would be solemnized Dec. 18, two weeks from today, at the home of Mrs. Galt here. The arrangements virtually have been completed.

The president will have no best man at the wedding and Mrs. Galt will not formally select a maid of honor, although one of her sisters, probably Miss Bertha Bolling of this city, will escort her during the ceremony. The announcement at the white house that only members of the two families and the president's immediate household would attend the wedding and that no formal invitations would be issued surprised official Washington. It had been expected that at least a few of the president's friends would be invited.

The Rev. Herbert Scott Smith, rector of St. Margaret's Protestant Episcopal church here, which Mrs. Galt has attended in recent months, has been tentatively selected as the officiating clergyman, although it is possible that the Rev. Sylvester Beach, pastor of the president's church in Princeton, may assist. The president is a Presbyterian.

The president and Mrs. Galt spent practically the entire day together discussing final arrangements for the wedding. They played golf together this morning and went for an automobile ride this afternoon.

The wedding ceremony will be held in the drawing room of Mrs. Galt's home, where a temporary altar will be erected. The ceremony will be an evening affair. There will be no large reception afterward, but official Washington will have an opportunity to extend congratulations at the Pan-American reception, first of the formal social affairs of the white house social session, which will be held Jan. 7.

Plans for the honeymoon trip are being kept secret, but it is known they plan to leave Washington shortly after the ceremony. The Mayflower, the president's yacht, is being kept here and it has been reported that at least a part of the trip may be made on water.

In spite of intimations that the president and Mrs. Galt did not expect many wedding presents, a number of officials and close friends are planning to send them gifts.

Joseph R. Wilson of Baltimore, the president's brother; Mrs. Anne Howe, his sister, and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, the president's daughter, will be guests at the white house when they come to attend the wedding. Miss Margaret Wilson and Mrs. W. G. McAdoo, the other two daughters of the president, are already here.

Mrs. Galt's home, where the ceremony will be performed, is in the fashionable section of Washington, but is too small to contain a large party. Nevertheless, both Mrs. Galt and the president decided not to have the wedding in the white house.

The brothers and sisters of Mrs. Galt, who will be present at the wedding, are Rolfe E. Bolling of Panama, Mrs. M. H. Maury, Anniston, Ala., and Mrs. Alexander H. Galt, John Randolph Bolling, Miss Bertha Bolling, Richard W. Bolling and Julian B. Bolling of Washington.

Members of Mrs. Galt's family said today that the ceremony would be performed after 6 p. m. and that the couple will leave immediately for a honeymoon journey. Their destination has been kept secret, even from members of the family.

Mrs. Galt's mother is in personal charge of most of the arrangements.

The duty of securing a marriage license will fall to I. H. Hoover, chief usher at the white house, who performed similar services for the weddings of Mrs. McAdoo and Mrs. Sayre.

Here is a new face in moving pictures. Its owner, Miss Marguerite Gale, owes her position to the fact that the director of a big film company saw her picture in a photographer's display window. Civil Appeal Court Holds Law Good But Orders Injunction

Special to the Morning News.

Dallas, Dec. 4.—In the fifth court of civil appeals here today, the district court of Grayson county was ordered to grant an injunction against the county attorney, his assistants and seriffs from interfering with the operation of a pool hall by Dave Fearis in that county. The case was appealed from the Grayson county district court, which refused to grant the injunction.

The civil appeals court today held the local option pool hall law is "complete and finished in every detail," and needs only the expressed will of the people for its enforcement. In deference, however, to the Texas supreme court, which recently held the pool hall law unconstitutional, the court ordered the Fearis case reversed and remanded.

Tuesday noon after which committees will be organized and actual legislative grinding initiated. In his opening address the president is not expected to present in detailed form all of the legislation the administration has in mind, but as congress proceeds he plans to send messages on special subjects.

The president's first communication probably will concern chiefly the needs of the army and navy, giving especial attention to revelations and responsibilities growing out of the European war and what may be done to finance a plan of preparedness to assure continuing safety of the nation.

The new congress is still democratic, but not so overwhelmingly as it has been on previous occasions when President Wilson addressed it. In the senate the party has a slightly increased majority, but political fortunes have reduced the almost unwieldy force in the house that came in on the democratic landslide that elected Mr. Wilson so that now the party will have only a majority over all of 24 votes. This is regarded as a narrow margin in a body composed of 435 members, requiring a party deflection of only thirteen votes to defeat a measure.

The new house as officially classified will consist of 229 democrats, 197 republicans, 6 progressives, 1 independent and 1 socialist, and 1 vacancy. In the senate there are 56 democrats and 40 republicans. Republican ranks in the house have been swelled by the return of many familiar political figures who were leaders in the long period of republican supremacy. Among them are former Speaker Joseph G. Cannon and William B. McKinley, former chairman of the republican legislative committee, both of Illinois; Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, son-in-law of Col. Roosevelt; William A. Rodenberg, of Illinois; Ebenezer J. Hill, for years a republican power on the ways and means committee, and John Q. Tilson, both of Connecticut; George E. Foss of Illinois, former chairman of the naval committee; Cyrus A. Sulloway of New Hampshire, former chairman of the pension committee, remembered as towering above the heads of all other members; George W. Loud, of Michigan; Benjamin K. Focht and Daniel F. Lafean, of Pennsylvania, and many others. Prominent members of the Sixty-third house who do not reappear at this session are Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, who now is a senator; A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania; Robert F. Broussard, of Louisiana, who also went to the senate; Charles L. Bartlett, of Georgia; Timothy T. Ansberry, Robert J. Buckley and Stanley J. Bowdle, of Ohio; Jeremiah Donavan, of Connecticut; H. Robert Fowler, of Illinois; Henry George, Jr., Lathrop Brown, Herman A. Metz, Frank E. Wilson, Henry M. Goldfogle, and Jefferson M. Levy, of New York; Richmond Pearson Hobson, of Alabama, who has led the fight for national prohibition; C. H. Burke and E. W. Martin, of South Dakota; Victor Murdock, of Kansas, and many others.

New Senators.

New democrats in the senate are Mr. Underwood of Alabama, James D. Phelan, California; J. C. W. Beckham, Kentucky; Mr. Broussard, Louisiana; Edwin S. Johnson, South Dakota, and Paul O. Husting, Wisconsin. On the republican side the new senators are Charles Curtis, Kansas, formerly a member; James W. Wadsworth Jr., New York, and Warren G. Harding, Ohio. Senators who have retired after years of service include Root, New York; Burton, Ohio; Perkins, California; Thornton, Louisiana; Bristow, Kansas; Crawford, South Dakota, and Stephenson, Wisconsin. Others who retired after short service are White, Alabama, and Camden, Kentucky.

In relative importance on the administration's legislative program the army and navy increases in the five-year plan for perfecting the national defenses come first. Allied with them is the revenue problem, which involves consideration of many subjects. Reenactment of the war tax which expires by limitation, increasing the income tax, amending the tariff to retain the duty on sugar which otherwise would go on the free list next year, bond issues, some sort of tax on incomes from the manufacture of munitions of war, and an inheritance tax, all involve serious problems and there is great diversity of opinion as to what should be done.

Republican leaders who are expected to favor generally a large army and navy increase will seek to restore protective tariff rates and prolonged discussion and vigorous political scheming is expected when once the tariff is opened. Some democrats think the duty on wool should be restored.

The inheritance tax has many advocates and there are some who would amend the war tax materially by assessing all liquors heavily. Others would revive the agitation to tax gasoline and automobiles.

Opposition to Preparedness.

Already democratic opposition to the president's army and navy program has developed, and the defection of Majority Leader Kitchin, who will succeed Mr. Underwood as head of the majority party in the house, has been widely heralded. The administration, however, will not be embarrassed for adequate marshals on the floor of the house. Chairman Hay of the military committee will lead the fight for the army bill; Representative Padgett will guide the destinies of naval appropriations, and they will be aided by Representative Sherley, chairman of the fortifications' committee; Fitzgerald of appropriations and Speaker Clark himself, who is steadfastly an advocate of reasonable preparedness.

In connection with the preparedness program complications are expected to involve proposed investigation of organizations which are urging congress to make heavy appropriations. Lobby committees of senate and house expect to have plenty to do. Their inquiries may lead into the realm of foreign relations, for there have been predictions that congress would demand information of the government's investigations into bomb plots, attempts to cripple munition plants in this country and of other operations growing out of the European war.

Important measures which will be urged upon congress include:

Laws to extend the American merchant marine, rural credit improvement through establishment of farm loan banks, upon which a joint committee has been working for many months; Philippine self-government and ultimate independence; revision of the trust laws to prevent dumping of cheap foreign products in American markets after the war and to permit American manufacturers to establish collective selling agencies abroad; national prohibition, prohibition for the District of Columbia, a federal amendment for woman suffrage, amendments to the bank law, modification of the seaman's law, a national child labor law, conservation legislation to provide a new system for water power sites and mineral resources of the country; a law to provide for regulation by the interstate commerce commission of the issuance of railroad securities and many other measures.

The majority in the senate will try to overturn precedent and establish a cloture rule, thus making endless filibustering impossible. Senator Owen, chairman of a special committee to revise the rules, will submit a report at the outset of the session and an effort will be made to adopt a modified cloture rule before anything else is done.

The long delayed treaty with Colombia, including an expression of regret for the partition of Panama, and providing for payment of $25,000,000, is still pending. The Nicaraguan treaty, proposing payment by the United States of $3,000,000 for another canal strip and naval station rights, is in the senate and the new treaty for a financial protectorate over Haiti will be sent in at once. It is the purpose of the majority to force all the treaties to a vote.

Mrs. Charles Anspaugh, R. R. 7, Lagrange, Ind., writes: "Peruna has been a godsend to me. I can feel safe in saying that it saved my life, as I was all run down and was just miserable when I commenced taking your Peruna, but am on the road to recovery now. I cannot thank you too much."

PREMIER SALANDRA SAYS VICTORY SURE

PROMISE GIVEN THAT FRAUDS IN FURNISHINGS OF ARMY WOULD BE PUNISHED.

Families of Soldiers Being Given Bountiful Relief by Italian Government.

By the Associated Press.

Rome, Dec. 4.—Premier Salandra today answered in the chamber of deputies the different members who spoke on the statement of policy made by Baron Sonnino, minister of foreign affairs, on Wednesday. The premier said that he had no doubt left of final victory as the whole Italian people was convinced of the necessity and justice of the war which, besides giving Italy her natural frontiers and the civil hegemony of the Adriatic, would allow other peoples to have their share on the coast of that sea. By this last the premier was understood to mean Serbia.

Premier Salandra promised to punish with inflexible severity frauds in the furnishings for the army.

Relative to the relief granted by Italy to the families of soldiers, the premier said it surpassed that given by France, Austria and Germany, being inferior only to that of England.

Discussing the censorship, he admitted its inevitable defects, but assured the deputies that the censors always were inspired by impartiality. He added that if the day came in which a section of the press should attempt to weaken the combative spirit of the country and the resistance of the people, then he would use the censorship to the extreme limits, assuming even this terrible responsibility. The whole chamber applauded this, only the intransigeant socialists protesting.

Premier Salandra concluded his speech with praise for the civic virtues and endurance of the Italian race.

Italians Claim Success.

By the Associated Press.

Rome, via London, Dec. 4.—The official statement today reads:

"There were encounters between detachments in the Tonale zone and we repulsed the enemy near Sanbar, Tolmino, Hospite and in the Ledro valley, where the enemy delivered an attack on our positions north of Pre which we recently captured.

"On Thursday night after concentrated artillery preparations with guns of all calibres, dense masses of infantry advancing like waves charged our trenches in the Mrzli redoubt on Monte Nero. Notwithstanding the destructive effect of our accurate and rapid fire, parties of the enemy penetrated our lines in a few places from which teyh were driven out after violent hand to hand fighting. After a desperate fight the enemy was compelled to flee, leaving in addition to 500 dead on the field 131 prisoners, including three officers.

"In the San Michele zone and on the Carso we also repelled an enemy attack.

"There is no change elsewhere."

Nothing New, Says Vienna.

By the Associated Press.

Vienna, Via London, Dec. 4.—The official communication today says:

"Russian war theatre: There is nothing new.

"Italian war theatre: The enemy's attacks continue against the bridgehead of Gorizia and the northern part of the plateau of Doberdo. Weak attacks and attempts to approach near Oslavia and before Podgora were repulsed. The bombardment of Gorizia continues. Strong Italian forces attacked Monte San Nickele and in the neighborhood of San Martino but were repulsed.

"Southern theatre: Our troops early yesterday morning stormed the heights south of Plevije. Near Tresnievico, southwest of Cienica, the Montenegrins were also defeated. West of Novipazar armed Mohammedans drove off plundering Montenegrin bands. Near Novipazar and Mitrovitza two thousand prisoners were taken."

Bombardment in Dardanelles.

By the Associated Press.

Constantinople, Dec. 4.—(Via London)—Continued bombardment of Turkish positions on the Gallipoli peninsula by allied warships is regarded in an official statement issued by the Turkish war office. The statement says:

"On the Dardanelles front there have been artillery bombardments near Anawarta by enemy cruisers; near Ari Burnu by a torpedo boat and monitor, and near Seddul Bahr by a monitor and an armored cruiser. The bombardments were unsuccessful.

"Near Seddul Bahr on the right wing during a vigorous encounter the enemy fired a great number of shells on our center and on our left wing.

"Regarding the British retreat in Mesopotamia the statement says:

"Our forces dispatched from Kut-El-Amara, attacking the retreating enemy, inflicted heavy losses."

Bulgarians Ready to Quit.

By The Associated Press.

Paris, Dec. 4.—The Athens correspondent of the Havas Agency sends the following under current date:

"It is reported from Florina that the Bulgarian troops remain camped in the vicinity of Monastir at a place named St. Kiriaki. A delegation of the inhabitants went out to the Bulgarian outposts to notify the troops that they could enter the town. The Bulgarian officer said he had no orders to enter the town and recommended that the inhabitants organize a civic guard to maintain order.

"Bulgarian deserters arriving at Florina say that the great majority of the Bulgarian soldiers think that the war has been ended by the occupation of Macedonia and do not want to continue fighting in the interests of the Germanic powers."

Mine Fighting in West.

By the Associated Press.

Paris, Dec. 4.—The official communication tonight follows:

"Bad weather continues to impede the operations. An intermittent cannonade has occurred at divers points along the front. Mine fighting has occurred in the Argonne and Haute Checauchee and Les Eparges.

"In the Woevre our artillery by a well regulated fire demolished a large gun which an observer had reported near Woinville, east of Saint Mihiel.

"Army of the east: On December 2 the station at Krivolak was feebly bombarded with the exchange of a few shells on the rest of the front.

"On the third along the Cerna numerous enemy attacks were checked by our attacks. Cannonading has been in progress in the sector east of Strumitsa and on the British front."

Magazine Barred From Schmidt Trial

By the Associated Press.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 4.—Attorneys for Matthew A. Schmidt, on trial for the murder of Charles Hagerty, one of twenty men killed when the Los Angeles Times building was blown up, five years ago, obtained a ruling from the court today barring from evidence a copy of the Bridgmen's Magazine, published by the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, which contained an offer of reward by a bridge company for the apprehension of bomb placers.

The same issue contained an editorial suggesting that the bomb explosion referred to in the advertisement was the work of the employers themselves.

Letters that passed between John J. McNamara, the confessed dynamiter, and other officials of the Iron Workers' association, on the subject of whether the advertisement should be accepted and published, were admitted in evidence, but the court ruled out the magazine.

Ortie E. McManigal, who informed against many persons in connection with the dynamiting of about 100 buildings, probably will testify next week.

Frank Brown, 14, of Mulberry Grove, Ill., is 6 feet 3 inches in height.

GOVERNMENT PLANS A DEEP INVESTIGATION CONSULAR AGENT

ment attorney's speech most complained of applied not to Boy-Ed, but to other persons, the secretary said.

Captain Boy-Ed came to Washington today from New York and conferred with Count von Bernstorff. Officials of the embassy declined to comment on the state department's action against the two attaches.

It became known that a number of attorneys, among them counsel for the defense in the trial of the Hamburg-American officials had called at the state department late yesterday and asked to see Secretary Lansing. The secretary declined to receive them and they were directed to the department of justice. There they conferred at some length with Assistant Attorney General Warren, who has charge of the government's investigation of neutrality cases. The purpose of their visit was not disclosed.

Chinese Planning to Enthrone Yuan

Pekin, Nov. 3.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Plans for the enthronement of Yuan Shi Kai are being made in spite of the joint request of Japan, Russia and England that the abandonment of the republic be delayed. It has been announced that the new dynasty probably will be called the Wu, or war dynasty. What the emperor's imperial name will be has not been announced.

In exchange for the surrender of all imperial documents and the title to the throne of China, the boy emperor, Hsuan Tung, will be made an hereditary prince.

Already ten of the twenty-one provinces of China have cast their unanimous vote for the monarchy and have designated Yuan Shi Kai as their choice for emperor. There seems little chance that the others will vote against it. Though government manipulation of the monarchial scheme is denied, evidences of Yuan's handiwork are seen on every hand.

Does Coffee Bother?

Any one who has headaches, bilious attacks, heart flutter, or some other of these common ills, had better look to coffee drinking; and remember that there's one sure, easy way to be rid of coffee trouble—quit coffee— and

Use

INSTANT POSTUM

—the Pure Food-Drink

A level teaspoonful in a cup of boiling water makes a delicious drink—instantly. The rich flavour of Instant Postum, much like the mild Javas of the Old Dutch Gov't plantations, makes the change easy.

But more important, Instant Postum, made only of wheat and a bit of molasses is free from the drug, caffeine, in coffee, or any other harmful element. Old and young alike may drink as much as they desire with no bad "after effects."

Pure and delicious, Instant Postum costs less and tastes better than much of the coffee in general use.

No bother to prepare—no bother to health.

American Commerce Will Need System After War Is Over

By the Associated Press.

New York, Dec. 4.—American commerce will require all the co-operation and systematic organization that its elements can provide in the readjustment of world business following the war, reads an announcement by James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, accompanying a call for the third national foreign trade convention to be held in New Orleans January 27 to 29 inclusive. The council, the announcement adds, has received reports to this effect from foreign markets in all quarters of the globe.

The convention, according to Secretary Robert H. Patchin, will devote its attention to the practical application of sound business principles to the problems of further upbuilding the American foreign trade and particularly to protect it from discrimination.

The speakers will include Alba B. Johnson, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works; Frank A. Vanderbilt, James A. Farrell, Willard D. Straight, Capt. Robert Dollar and others widely known in the business world.

A recent official estimate gave Venezuela a population of 2,812,668.

RUMANIAN STATESMAN EXPLAINS ATTITUDE

ASSISTANCE WOULD HAVE BEEN GIVEN SERBIA IF ATTACK CAME FROM BULGARIA ALONE.

Example of Belgium Causes Following of Self-Preservation Policy for Present.

Correspondence of Associated Press.

Athens, Dec. 4.—One of the last issues of the Balkan Courier, published by the Serbians at their former capital, Nish, contained a long explanation of Rumania's attitude, written by a prominent Rumanian statesman, and published in Serbia with the permission of the Serbian censor.

"When it comes to fighting Germany" writes the Rumanian spokesman, "we are bound to tell you frankly that we are too weak to defend you. I can well understand that you in Serbia are surprised at Rumania's inactivity in the face of Bulgaria's attack on you. But our attitude is dictated by the circumstances which we have to face. If it were a matter of a conflict between Bulgaria and Serbia we would not hesitate to take up arms on your side, as, indeed, we did in 1913. Unhappily, this is not a war with Bulgaria only, but it is a question of participating in the terrific struggle between the Germanic powers and the quadruple entente. Serbia has not been attacked by Bulgaria, but by Germany, with Bulgaria as a subordinate ally.

"None but the great powers of the quadruple entente can face Germany and her allies. But when can we count with certainty on the effective intervention in the Balkan peninsula of England and her allies? Nobody can answer this question. We all know what Germany wants and what Germany will do. You know very well that the quadruple entente is not a harmonious whole. The agreement of September 3, 1914, only binds its constituents not to conclude a separate peace but no provision was made for a common and unified policy for pursuing the war. In this respect each of the four powers (England, France, Russia and Italy) has retained its own freedown of action. The result is that in every new situation the quadruple entente is obliged to confer as to what policy shall be adopted and such negotiations, even though they produce perfect accord, invariably mean delay.

"You will surely understand that in these circumstances every neutral country, and particularly Rumania (with her dangerous geographical position) must take care not to incur the hostility of Germany in return for the empty friendship of the quadruple entente.

"This is the secret of Rumania's attitude, and probably of that of Greece. You and others tell us that the final victory of the quadruple entente is certain. We do not doubt it, but it must be admitted that the victory is likely to be long delayed. The English, on their island, can afford to wait for victory, but Rumania cannot afford to incur the hostility of Germany and Austria while waiting for the end of the war, for in the intervening period she might easily suffer the fate of Belgium and share the destruction meted out to Serbia. You Serbians may say that this is a selfish policy. I assure you it is merely a policy of self-preservation. You cannot reasonably demand that we should expose our country to the terrible danger of making a merciless enemy without possessing a guarantee that his opponents will support us."

BRITISH SOLDIERS WASTEFUL.

Thousands of Tins of Beef and Millions of Rifle Cartridges Trampled in Mud.

Correspondence of Associated Press.

London, Dec. 4.—British soldiers in and about the trenches are careless and very wasteful both of ammunition and "bully beef," as corned beef is known here. This statement has the authority of John T. Hodge, member of parliament, who has returned from a visit to the troops in France. He was informed, he said, that thousands of tins of beef and millions of rifle cartridges were lying about in the trenches and trampled in the mud.

Wastage, Mr. Hodge found, was in some cases checked by the officers in charge. The trouble is the men get an excessive amount of meat—12 ounces—in their daily rations. No account is taken of casualties of the sick. So the tins lie around the trenches, fall into the bottom and get stepped on. Ultimately they are buried in the trench mud. This also is the fate of the cartridges left behind by the men when relieved. In some cases, the officer of the relieving party would ascertain how many rounds had been served out and how many fired so as to keep a check on this amount lost. But these officers, according to Mr. Hodge, are in a minority.

The same complaints as to wastage have been made against the troops in the English training camps. Here the blame is laid to overabundant rations and the wastefulness of cooks who throw away whole loaves of fresh bread and left-over beef and vegetables.

SYRIAN TREES FALLING FAST.

Turks Are Chopping Down Pine Forests and Olive Groves to Obtain Fuel.

Correspondence of Associated Press.

Alexandria, Egypt, Dec. 4.—The trees of Syria are falling fast before Turkish ashes, and their loss will be heavily felt when the war is over. Owing to lack of fuel, the fine pine forest on the outskirts of Beirut, a popular resort for the people of the city, is fast disappearing. But a severer economic loss will entail on the immense and rich olive plantations lying on the stretch of plain between the sea and Lebanon. It takes years before olive trees begin to bear and the prosperity of thousands has depended on the crops of these orchards.

Notice to Subscribers.

Delivery routes in the city of Waco are in the hands of independent carriers, who buy their papers at wholesale prices. Subscription accounts are due them, not the Waco Morning News. They are under heavy bond, not only to give the best delivery service, but to pay for their papers each month. Their remuneration is the difference between the wholesale price and the retail price which they receive from subscribers. This margin of profit is such that they cannot afford to extend credit, except month by month. They are not required, and they are advised against, delivering the paper to anyone who does not pay in accordance with the above subscription terms. These carriers are all earnest, hard working men and they will appreciate any courtesy shown them.

The Morning News should be delivered throughout the city of Waco by 6:30 a. m., and subscribers failing to receive the paper at that time will confer a favor by phoning the Circulation Department, both phones 1132, and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of the Morning News will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the management.

TRY IT THIS YEAR.

When we wrote an editorial a week ago setting forth the advantages of early Christmas shopping, we spoke from experience, for we had already done a considerable portion of our holiday buying at that time. The past week has witnessed other visits at the Waco stores, where exceptionally attractive Christmas goods are on display and our visits have added to our Christmas collection, so in again reminding our readers that it is to the advantage of themselves and everybody else to do their buying as early as is at all possible our conscience is entirely clear, for we have in this instance, at least, practiced what we preached.

But if our arguments against delay in Christmas buying proved insufficient to move you to action, dear reader, suppose you ponder the following appeal from the Baltimore Sun along the same line:

"No argument is needed to reinforce the familiar admonition, 'Do your Christmas shopping early.' To shop early is not an altogether altruistic proposition. If largely adopted, it would undoubtedly save the employes of our large stores most of the additional labor to which they are subjected at this season. But considered purely from a selfish standpoint, it is really worth while. It spares the shopper that eleventh-hour maddening rush, worrisome and unsatisfactory, when in despair he buys things he doesn't want, and pays more for them than he intended, because he must do that or do nothing. Sometimes, it is true, one gets cheaper things by waiting till the last moment, but they are generally 'bargains' that have been left by earlier and more discriminating purchasers.

"As a general rule, it pays in money, in physical health and in mental peace to leave a restful gap of a week or ten days between your last Christmas shopping expedition and the holiday period. If you have no consideration for anybody else, have some consideration for your own family. Many a Christmas has been spoiled by people who are cross and tired from the nervous and physical strain of doing late what they should have done early, and who have lost the Christmas spirit through sheer weariness and worry. The best thing you can invest in for Christmas is good humor, and that is impossible to an exhausted body and mind."

Our cordial felicitations to the hundreds of Masons of Texas who are assembling in Waco for their big annual conclaves. We always like to have visitors, for they spend some cash with us, go away saying nice things about our city, and not infrequently bring us valuable new ideas and inspirations. In the case of the Masons we are particularly glad to have them come with us every year because of their contribution to the mental, moral and spiritual uplift of the race and the assistance of the needy in a material way as well.

The adjectives expressed and unexpressed which describe the attitude of the people of the world toward the Ford peace expedition if collected would make a good dictionary of choice synonyms of "skepticism." But we aver that those gentlemen of the editorial pens who declare that Mr. Ford is going one on the bull by taking the world by the horns ought to bear in mind that a Ford car has never yet been known to balk at anything, and their originator naturally should be credited with a little of their spirit.

WHERE INTERVENTION WOULD HELP.

While we have steadfastly opposed political intervention in Mexico, except the problem existing there should become so acute as to render our duty to Mexico herself and the whole world which has any interest there, paramount to the political objections that are self-evident, the people of this country do owe an obligation to intervene in the name of humanity in an effort to stamp out the typhus fever which is so rapidly depopulating the capital city. The Rockefeller foundation and the International Red Cross made such a merciful intervention in Serbia when this dreaded scourge was added to the ravages which war and hunger and exposure had already wrought upon that country.

Mexico presents a peculiar problem in its relation to this country, and with drugs, bathing facilities, competent medical and nursing attention, and knowledge on the part of the masses of the people as to the nature of the extreme malady and how to combat it, all lacking, assistance from the outside appears to be the only hope of combatting the fatal scourge. With street car traffic blocked in order to give the right of way to electrically drawn hearses going to and from the hospital and cemetery, the situation is one so horrible as to make the stories sent out by the Associated Press almost unbelievable. The government has forbidden the local press handling the true news of the situation at all, and the Associated Press story was greatly delayed in transmission.

We are not unmindful of the fact that the Carranza faction asked the withdrawal some time ago of the forces of the Red Cross who were administering what relief they could in the way of clothes and food. But that was before recognition was afforded that faction and the attitude toward this country was altogether different from what it is now. The de facto president is more amenable to reason now, he probably realizes more fully the problems confronting him, and if he expects to forestall the reported revolution being fostered by Felix Diaz and supported by the Huertistas he will probably realize the necessity of accepting the assistance of foreign friends in such a calamity, provided, of course, that the debt-ridden condition of his country makes adequate relief from his own government impossible, and it is upon this presumption that we have proceeded. The Red Cross has no funds at present with which to meet any part in such a campaign of relief, but we believe a Christmas appeal in behalf of dying Mexico would bring forth a large fund and the resources of the Rockefeller foundation have been scarcely touched in its large benefactions in Serbia and elsewhere. We may not like some of the Mexicans, but they are human beings and the call of humanity should know no racial or secular differentiations.

Observes the Dallas Times-Herald: "The ladies are now faring forth on the streets of Dallas duly equipped with walking sticks. And when a lady has a stick you want to be very careful what you say." In the absence of fuller information we are led to presume that the women of Dallas had to resort to walking sticks in order to ward off the attacks of the sand-baggers, murderers and other criminals who are infesting that city recently.

The fact that a corset has again come into play in warding off a bullet aimed at the heart of a Galveston woman, has saved her life some of the prejudice on the part of mere man to this particular portion of female attire may subside. This much is said in view of the fact that while many of the men, especially the doctors, protest against the corset, the truth of the matter is, neither the doctors nor any other men like to look at a woman who does not wear a corset.

With Neill Edmond, Waco boy, heading the Sewanee eleven for next season; W. J. Neale Jr., also of Waco, holding a similar position for the St. Paul's eleven in Massachusetts, and "Rabbit" Curry of Marlin leading the big Vanderbilt team, Central Texas appears to be holding her prestige on the Southern gridiron without any difficulty.

Total bail in the case of fifty-four men held on graft charges in Chicago aggregated $10,530,000. The judge in the case evidently was animated with the spirit of the "safety first" movement.

We are perfectly reconciled to the holiday vacation the United States government has asked for Captain Boy-Ed and Captain Franz von Papen and we hope they will arrive home in time to eat their Christmas turkey with their loved ones.

Little did Benjamin Franklin imagine when he fished the lightning from the sky that his nibble would develop into an electrical age of prosperity which the whole world has just honored by a special week.

EMPTY STATE TREASURIES.

Under the above heading the Houston Post makes the following timely observations:

"It is announced that the state of Alabama now has a treasury deficit of about $2,300,000 and that the public school teachers are not being promptly paid. Governor Henderson is asking authority from the people to issue $1,500,000 of state bonds in order to get money with which to meet the most pressing obligations.

"So here it is again—another Southern state with a fiscal system so inadepate that its current obligations are not promptly met. The condition that is embarrassing Alabama is not uncommon in the South. We have it in Texas right along and other Southern states suffer from like causes.

"Why is it that some statesman who is an economist and financier as well cannot devise some plan to place the governments of the Southern states upon a decent business basis? We can imagine no single service that would prove so generally good and whose benefits would be more generally applicable.

"It is seldom that Northern or Western states are annoyed with frequently recurring periods of insolvency. Surely some state has evolved a fiscal system that if adopted in Southern states would forever put an end to insolvent treasuries.

"Alabama's thousands of school teachers are men and women of exceedingly meager incomes. They unquestionaly need every cent they earn and need it when due, otherwise they would probably be engaged in other lines of endeavor. Why does the state compel them to wait for indefinite periods for the slender pittances upon which they depend for daily bread?

"No municipality could be successfully conducted with such a faulty fiscal system. No financial institution could remain in business and default in the matter of meeting the legitimate demands upon it.

"Private business must pay or go into the bankruptcy courts. Why does the state set an example of such financial sloth and irresponsibility to its people?

"The citizen must pay the state the taxes it exacts, or it will take his property and sell it.

"Why cannot the state pay the citizens who serve it? Why is it so indifferent to its credit?

"It is useless to say there can be no such thing as a solvent state treasury, because most of the state treasuries are solvent and their fiscal systems are at least flexible enough to enable the authorities to obtain money with which to meet current demands. Only in the South do we hear of frequently recurring periods of state bankruptcy.

"Why does not some statesman devise a plan that will enable each Southern commonwealth to pay as it goes?"

The gentleman who was held up at midnight Friday by three highwaymen on the streets of this city added to the well known apothegm, "The pen is mightier than the sword," another peace maxim, that the human voice is more convincing in argument than the point of a big revolver. After a trio of hold-ups had secured the victim's much-prized gold watch, he talked them out of it over the glistening barrel of a revolver.

There was not so much straight news in the re-election of Charles Turner as president of the Waco Baseball club and Ellis Hardy as manager of the Navigators next season, for it was generally anticipated in advance, but that does not rob the story of the satisfaction it gave the Waco fans and citizens in general.

News dispatches advise that President Wilson shook hands with a thousand boys, girls, men and women, winners of various better farming contests in Ohio, the other day. But information comes from the white house that the president is expecting the candidate for vice president and the various other speakers in his behalf to do the baby-kissing stunt during the 1916 campaign.

Dr. J. Adams Puffer, the expert in vocational training, in suggesting to his audience at the high school that they study the book of human nature above all else, showed his own broad, sympathetic wisdom. But we surmise his recommendation would have been more generally followed if he had offered the teachers and parents an edition of this volume with notes, explanations, annotations and revisions up to date, instead of the numerous charts, outlines, etc., by which the students are to dig out the hidden secrets.

Whenever there is superstitious meaning attached to a number, something is always bobbing up to confirm this peculiar significance. The press is carrying a story of Star Dixon over in East Texas who has given agricultural Texas tips on making a modest fortune on fifty acres of piney woods soil at the age of 23. As a farmer, regardless of his age, "he is going some." But in this case it is not the magic of the young man's years that has made him a success, but ideas and thrift which he has used as a fertilizer.

SWEDISH MISSION CONFERENCECLOSES ANNUAL SESSIONS

Sermons in the Swedish language by Rev. T. J. Westerberg and Rev. J. J. Hamilton tonight will include the sessions of the Southern Swedish Mission conference which has been in session in this city since Thursday.

Rev. C. G. Lindberg and Rev. G. Olson will be the chief speakers at the afternoon session at 3 o'clock, while the morning address will be delivered by Bishop William Shepard.

The report of the statistical secretary and by the treasurer were read yesterday, showing an increase in membership in the churches of the conference and also an increase for missions and the disciplinary benevolent causes.

The superanulated relation was granted to Rev. Carl Fromen of El Campo, who has been an earnest and faithful pastor and preacher in Texas for many years. Many of his friends of this city and throughout the state regret that poor health has caused him to ask for his retirement from the active service of the ministry.

A constitution and set of by-laws were adopted for the Texas Home Mission Society, and Rev. T. J. Westerberg was elected the president and Rev. J. F. Sarner the treasurer of the society.

Last night Rev. Hugo A. Peterson spoke and an address on education was delivered by Dr. O. E. Olander.

President and Mrs. Brooks, assisted by several members of the faculty of the university and other special guests received the upperclassmen.

Entertainment was furnished by a musical program and by shadowgraphs thrown on a screen by a stereopticon. The entire membership of the class was present and the president's reception, which is an annual feature of the senior year of Baylor students, was pronounced by the guests as most enjoyable.

with rays and the words "Out of the trench by Christmas."

Just before the gang plank was pulled up, a cable messenger rushed on the ship and it was reported that Ford had received a message from King Haakon of Norway, stating that the Ford party would be courteously received in Norway.

All the salons and many of the cabins on the steamer were decorated with ferns, palms, flowers, flags and streamers, representing the national colors of about seventeen countries. Two large white doves, which had been carefully mounted and bearing olive branches, were suspended from the ceiling of the main salon.

Henry Ford boarded the steamer at 1:05 o'clock, accompanied by several friends and three policemen. The latter held the crowd back until Ford posed for a score of moving picture cameras and more than 75 other photographers. Ford carried a tattered American flag which he waved with one hand while he repeatedly doffed his hat to the cameras.

Marriage on Ship.

Fifteen minutes before the ship was scheduled to sail a messenger boy riding in a taxicab drove onto the pier. The boy carried a large covered cage, which was said to contain a live dove. When the cage was uncovered, however, it was found that the occupant was a large gray squirrel. The animal was placed directly under one of the mounted peace doves.

Two bands played constantly during the last forty-five minutes before the ship got away. One of the diversions during the last hour was the marriage on board the ship of Miss Marion Rubincom of Philadelphia and Berton Braley of New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones of Chicago, a member of the peace party. The bride and groom also sailed.

The ship sailed at 3:15 p. m., an hour and a quarter later than the scheduled time. There was much excitement prior to the departure, both on the steamer and the dock. Fearful lest the sailing be delayed until dark, the line waived its usual formalities regarding passports and baggage and sent a representative on board to check up the passengers while at sea. It was estimated that there were 175 in the peace party.

Russian Front Quiet.

Petrograd, Dec. 4, Via London.—The official statement today reads:

"On the western (Russian) front an attempted German offensive in the region of Dvinsk, near Schischkuo farm, northwest of Lake Sventen, broke down under our rifle fire.

"On the eastern front and in the Caucasus the situation remains unchanged."

Whitfield in Jail Here Charged With Kidnaping Daughter

James Whitfield of Marlin, who is wanted in Waco for kidnaping 6-year-old Mildred Whitfield, whose custody had been allowed to her mother, was lodged in the county jail here yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff John Morgan.

Whitfield was first held at Marlin in connection with the death of an infant by his second wife, and on being released in this case he was held by the Falls county authorities for Waco.

The little girl was brought back to Waco from Marlin by her mother, who has been divorced from Whitfield for several years. Whitfield came up in an auto several days ago and took the little girl from the street near Webster and Thirteenth, where she was playing.

GIRL SELLS ORCHARD OUTPUT.

Will Give Especial Attention to Fruit for Holiday Trade.

Another St. Paul society girl has entered the field of commerce. Miss Helen Bunn, daughter of C. W. Bunn of Portland avenue, is planning to sell fruit. Donald C. Bunn, brother of Miss Bunn, is a grower and shipper of fruit at Prosper, Wash., where he owns the Riverby orchard. It is the product of this orchard that Miss Bunn will market.

She has issued a business-like circular announcing that she will take orders for the fruit and giving details about the varieties to be had. Apples and pears will be the principal commodities. The first carload will arrive in St. Paul shortly and will be sorted and delivered as wanted through local retailers.

Miss Bunn's idea is to pay particular attention to fruit for holiday use. She will have fancy cartons and boxes for the holiday trade, but will promise no deliveries for the last three days before Christmas. Miss Bunn has spent a great deal of time at the Riverby orchard and knows all about the fruit raised there. She is well posted on the eating and cooking and keeping qualities of all the varieties of pears and apples which she will handle and will attend to the details of shipment and delivery herself.—St. Paul (Miss.) Dispatch.

The Science of Resting.

I know from personal experience that to "think of nothing when you try to get to sleep at nights, or lie down to rest in the day, is an almost impossible task." It requires a strong brain and much will power to create a mental vacuum. But any woman can steal away for a while to a dark room and lie with her eyes closed and think of things that have no bearing on her daily activities.

Routine is one of the deadly sins of life. It is thinking the same thoughts and doing the same duties day in and day out that destroy bodily and mental vigor. For this one hour while you rest think of anything that is foreign to your steady routine. No matter how foolish your thoughts may be, the lighter they are the more weight will be removed from your mind. When your mind is at rest your body quickly responds.

Some one asked Herbert Spencer how he managed to accomplish so much work in a day's time. "I always put my head to sleep for an hour a day," was the reply. His sleep may have been only day dreams, but at least he understood the technique of resting. By taking this one hour off, the time that followed was put to twice as good advantage. He went back to his work refreshed.—Elsie Morris, in the Southern Woman's Magazine.

London, Dec. 4.—It is officially announced that only German, Austrian and Bulgarian officers have entered Monastir, no troops accompanying them, says a Reuter dispatch from Athens. The flags of the three nations represented by the officers who entered the city were raised over the government house, the dispatch adds.

France has sent to the United States representatives charged with the task of arranging to build up her manufacturing plants, many of which have been destroyed in the war. These factories formerly equipped with German machinery will be fitted with American machinery after the war and the French Trade Commission is here to arrange for its purchase. Members of the commission, together with a new photograph of Paul Fuller, their American legal adviser, are shown above.

German Attack Defeated.

By the Associated Press.

Petrograd, Dec. 3, Via London, Dec. 4.—Delayed in Transmission.'—The Russian war office today gave out the following statement:

"The situation is unchanged from the Gulf of Riga to the Pripet.

"On the night of the second the enemy after a heavy artillery bombardment launched an attack on the railway station at Old Podtcherevshi on the left bank of the Styr, southwest of Rafalovka, and our forces at first were repulsed but regained toward evening the lost position. Our artillery by a concentrated fire upon the village of Semki on the left bank of the Styr above Czartorysk threw the enemy into disorderly flight, causing them serious losses."

Damage Suit Filed by Life Insurance Agent Raises Nice Question

Has a mutual insurance company the privilege of changing into an old line company, with higher rates, without consulting its state agents, even when the change virtually destroys lucrative business which the state agents have worked up?

S. M. Griswold, state agent for the Merchants' Life Insurance company of Burlington, Iowa, thinks not, and yesterday afternoon brought suit against the company in the Nineteenth district court for $35,000 damages.

The suit is one of the most novel ones ever filed in the local courts, and attorneys will watch its outcome with considerable interest. Alva Bryan and S. J. T. Smith are attorneys for the plaintiff.

It is alleged in the petition that Griswold was state agent for the company and that his contract extended until 1920. He had a renewal contract and his commissions from payments on policies amounted to about $5000 a year, it is declared. Mr. Griswold alleges that he had a force of agents working under him who wrote from five to seven million dollars of insurance yearly.

Two or three months ago, it is charged, the company, without consulting Griswold, changed for a mutual to an old line company. At the same time, rates for insurance were raised so much, it is alleged, that the agents working under Griswold will be unable to sell more insurance, and Mr. Griswold also alleges that the policyholders will most of them probably drop out, thus destroying his income from renewals.

Griswold estimates that he would have made at least $35,000 under his contract, which, as stated, has until 1920 to run, and, consequently, he brings suit for damages for that amount.

Evans and Fischer Praised by Critics in Europe and America

(British Press Notices.)

The Barnes and Mortlake Herald—Mr. Harry Evans not only sings with feeling and expression, but invests the words of his song with a dramatic power seldom found in a vocalist. He was loudly and deservedly applauded for his effective rendering of "The Toilers," and in the nautical song, "The Bosun's Log," given as an encore, one feels that he was listening to the recital of an "Old Salt" on the quay of a fishing village, rather than the artist on the platform, so completely did he grasp the spirit of the song.

The Reading Standard—Mr. Harry Evans, with his excellent voice, sang with true artistic ease and effect. He was no less successful in the subdued and smooth passages than in those requiring dramatic treatment, and his singing throughout the work was splendid. We have rarely heard a better bass at the Town Hall.

The Eltham District Times—Mr. —— was to have sustained the baritone part, but was prevented from doing so by illness, with the result that the heavy burden of the bass and the numerous solos allotted to the baritone fell exclusively upon Mr. Harry Evans, who discharged his enormous task with distinction and credit.

The Southend and Westcliff Graphic—A most enjoyable afternoon was spent last Thursday in the concert hall of the Metropolitan Academy of Music. The occasion was a recital of ballads "Old and New" with remarks on their origin and rendering by Mr. Harry Evans, who traced the evolution of the ballad from simple tunes used as a vocal accompaniment to dancing, up to the modern and more complete ballad. Mr. Evans has a fine voice, well trained and perfectly controlled and carries out to the full method of singing ballads that he advocates, with the result that his renderings are full of life and quite carry the audience away with their emotion.

Welmarische Neueste Nachrichten, March, 1899—Mr. Fischer, of Brooklyn, had full opportunity in the Wanderer-Fantasie (Schubert-Liszt) to show his great ability, both in overcoming the technical difficulties and in the production of a beautiful singing tone. Especially noteworthy from the beginning to the end of the work was the repose and the surety in grasping the proper tempi.

Welmarische Zeitung, December, 1899—By far the most successful number on the program was the performance of Chopin's E minor concerto by the well known pianist, Otto L. Fischer. A brilliant future may safely be assured this young pianist, who already possesses an exceptionally sure technic, besides strong temperament, taste and musical feeling.

Brooklyn Eagle, November 9, 1902—The first concert given by the Arion at its hall last night was of special interest, as an opportunity was given to Otto L. Fischer, a young pianist, to make his debut in America. Mr. Fischer has just returned from Europe, where he studied under Busoni and Teresa Carreno. For his first appearance he selected the Wanderer-Fantasie, by Schubert-Liszt, for piano and orchestra; an etude of Chopin and the E mapor Polonaise of Leszt. Mr. Fischer's playing showed, beside fine technique, a well balanced temperament, and the hearty applause accorded to him by the audience was well merited by the artistic interpretation of the works of the great composers.

New York Staats-Zeitung—Mr. Fischer showed an enormous technic, a beautiful tone, and a quiet, polished style.

Standard Union, November 22, 1907—Otto L. Fischer played R. Schumann's Grillen and Chopin's C sharp minor Scherzo. The numbers were brilliantly played and long applause followed. Later on he again appeared, playing the C major Nocturne of Grieg and the E major Polonaise of Liszt. His playing was superb. In the Grieg number the composer's idea was caught to a nicety and the Liszt music was grandly given by the talented pianist. His work with the left hand was so fine that you would imagine there were three hands on the piano instead of two.

Musical Courier, November 17, 1909—His performance of the rhapsody in F sharp minor, by Dohnanyi, the scherzo, Op. 16, by D'Albert, and the paraphrase on theme from Tschaikowsky's "Eugene Onegin," by Paul Pabst, was greeted by an ovation from the audience such as is seldom witnessed in the concerts of society. The deeply tragic element of the rhapsody contrasted vividly with the airy lightness and sparkling humor of the scherzo, whereas the waltz of the paraphrase, with its sweeping, spirited theme, literally brought the audience to its feet.

Mrs. Wren Pleased With Waco's Musical Prestige and Growth

"I have come home full of enthusiasm for the musical development and growth of Waco," said Mrs. Joseph G. Wren, president of the Euterpean club, yesterday on her return from Fort Worth, where she attended the concert given by John McCarmack, the great Irish tenor.

"Our own Euterpean club is classed with the progressive musical organizations of Texas," continued Mrs. Wren, "and Waco should be proud of her music club. But even more should the Euterpean club feel proud and encouraged by the audiences which hear their club and artist programs. There is no comparison between the courtesy, respect, attention and appreciation of the McCormack audience in Fort Worth and the Waco audience which heard the famous violinist, Fritz Kreisler, last season, when he was presented by the Euterpean club. Such courtesy, attention and appreciation as was given to Kreisler can and does inspire the artist to do his best work, and encores in plenty will be given, if the audience will let it be known that more of his artistic work is wanted.

"McCormack is a real artist. His numbers were all given in English text, and every word could be distinctly understood even in the huge coliseum. His voice is wonderful in its pure lyric quality, the limpidity and fluidity of his tones were most beautiful. Under his magic touch, the touch of true art, each song has a warmth and color entirely its own, and nothing could be added to nor taken away from it.

"I am more determined than ever," Mrs. Wren said, "that Waco shall have the greatest artists that are available for Texas, for I am sure the people of Waco are willing to assist."

The second attraction in the artist course of the Euterpean club will be presented at the Auditorium next Tuesday evening, December 4, when Harry Evans, basso contante, and Otto Fischer will appear in joint recital.

Mantell's Art Preserved for Ages to Come

Robert B. Mantell, the only actor who ever made Shakespeare pay, has entered photoplay under the direction of William Fox, the movie magnate. He has already made his debut in one Fox production and will be seen shortly in another, "The Unfaithful Wife." Mr. Mantell is the first really great tragedian whose consummate art will be preserved for posterity through the medium of the screen.

Students and teachers of the drama, who have often regretted that the achievements of Booth, Mansfield and other dramatic luminaries of bygone years live only in the printed page and in the memories of their admirers, are enthusiastic over the fact that the moving picture camera makes it possible for unborn millions to visualize even in the far future the stage triumphs that have endeared Mr. Mantell to the theatregoing public of the present generation. They regard Mr. Mantell's entrance into photoplay the greatest indorsement that any actor of wide repute has yet given to the artistic possibilities of the silent stage.

"The Unfaithful Wife" will play at the Hippodrome next Friday and Saturday.

NEW WAR FASHION—ENGLISH GIRL HAS REGIMENTAL BADGE TATTOOED ON ARM

Much has been heard of war brides and war babies, of the effect of the war on hat and gown fashions, but here is the latest wrinkle for which future generations will be able to blame the war. Many pretty English girls whose sweethearts are battling in the trenches have the regimental badges of their lovers tattooed on their arms.

SIX WONDERFUL DAYS OF SUPREME VALUES ON OUR THIRD FLOOR

A Mighty Demonstration of Goldstein-Migel Leadership in Women's and Children's Wear

THE CHRISTMAS STORE BEAUTIFUL

Every Aisle and Counter Overflowing With Gift Suggestions

Every woman would be glad to have another pair of Gloves—that's why Gloves are so popular as gifts. You may not know her size, or her preference as to color and style, but that doesn't matter, for she can exchange them if she wishes. When you buy Gloves of Goldstein-Migel, you're SURE of quality and style—and those are the things that count.

The most elegant Gloves you can give are our new three-dollar ones. White kid, with embroidered back and black suede cuff — or eight-button length with straps and pearl buttons. They're just as new as new can be, and splendidly stylish.

The entire range of the season's styles and colors is covered in our wonderful assortment of $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00 Kid Gloves—every pair a "quality pair."

* * *

The ideal giver is he or she who adds to the gift some little touch of sentiment which a less thoughtful person would have overlooked. For instance, when you've selected the handkerchief or gloves you're going to send, what a pretty idea to include a dainty little bottle of perfume. We have delightful perfumes in holiday packages priced as low as 50 cents—and up to $5.00.

* * *

Silver and gold and precious stones have been the world's gifts since the very dawn of history. What, after all, can better express the sentiment and good taste of the giver than a well-selected gift of Jewelry? Our Jewelry Section is just brimful of beautiful and elegant gift-wares—from the luxuriously handsome to the decidedly inexpensive.

A cunning little tea-pot, with sugar-and-creams to match—some sets have tray, too, and some are gold-lined. They are quadruple plate, and the prices are $10.00, $13.50 and $15.00.

A less expensive gift is a quadruple plate sugar-and-cream set; these are gold-lined, and have bordered space at side for initial. They're a wonderfully attractive value at $3.00.

And for two dollars more you can add to this set—or buy separately—a cream-and-sugar serving set of sterling silver, consisting of a sugar-shell and a cream-ladle.

A gift may be rich and elegant, and in perfect taste, you know, without being expensive. For instance, for just $2.75 you can buy a sterling silver gravy ladle or cucumber and tomato server in a handsome new silhouette pattern that matches well with almost any table service. Or give both pieces if you like—$5.50 for the two.

The boy of today has one advantage over his daddy—when daddy was a kid and played Indian or Cowboy, or Policeman, he just had to imagine that his clothes suited the occasion; but Young America nowadays can have a complete outfit to represent the part he likes best to play. Over in our Boys' department are Indian suits, Cowboy suits, Police suits, Fireman suits, and lots of other kinds of play suits, including Camp-girl suits for sister, too. Santa Claus couldn't do better than to select one tomorrow. Prices are $1.00 to $5.00 for the complete outfit.

There are many styles and sizes for you to choose from—the kind you—and she—will probably like best is a big, roomy 45-inch Colonial chest, and it is priced $19.00. It's something she'll appreciate all the rest of her life.

Where do you keep your telephone? It would be so much more convenient if you had a regular telephone stand, with a handy little seat to use while phoning. We may not do the whole family a good turn by giving some member one of these handsome, always-appreciated pieces of useful furniture, but Home's Beautiful department has them at $7.50, $9.00 and $15.00.

It's funny that a man will worry and puzzle over what to give his wife for Christmas, when for months she has been forgetting to express that greatest of all home-conveniences, a portable sewing machine. A machine she can carry about from one room to another, and use wherever there is an electric connection. No more tiresome treadling—just switch the motor on and sew. The price is $50.00, and it will pay dividends of happiness and satisfaction every day in the year.

Let the day before Christmas be the last day that your son or mother tires herself out sweeping with a broom. For $9.00 you can arrange with Santa to bring her a Vacuum Sweeper, and thus extend the happy recollection of this Christmas through all the days to come.

MASONS GATHER FOR GRAND LODGE MEET

MANY REUNIONS AROUND GRAND LODGE TEMPLE AS THE OLD-TIMERS DROP IN.

WORK COMMITTEE CONTINUES

Touch of Sadness Added by News of Death of Prominent Member of Grand Lodge.

From every section of Texas wearers of the square and compass are beginning to gather in Waco for the meetings of the grand Masonic bodies next week. The school of instruction for the grand Royal Arch chapter came to an end yesterday. The enrollment this year reached 154, considerably more than in 1914. Examination of applicants by the committee on work will continue through the sessions next week.

Judging from the attendance on the grand chapter school of instruction, the eightieth annual communication of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Texas, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, which opens Tuesday morning, will be the best attended in a number of years. Grand Secretary W. L. Pearson said last night that indications pointed to a total attendance of more than 1,000 Masons.

The first of the grand bodies to meet will be the grand Royal Arch chapter, whose opening session will begin at 10 o'clock Monday morning. The grand council will convene at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and the grand lodge itself will begin its sessions at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, continuing through Thursday. The committee on work for the Blue lodge will start its school of instruction Friday, or as soon as the grand lodge adjourns.

Many impromptu reunions were held at the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon by members of the fraternity from over the state. Probably 200 Masons are here already and more are coming in on every train. The big influx, however, is expected on Monday night, although those who are to attend the grand chapter and grand council meetings will, of course, arrive today or tonight.

Among the prominent Masons already here are D. S. McMillan of Whitewright, deputy grand master, who will succeed Grand Master Jewel P. Lightfoot next year; J. C. Kidd of Houston, past grand high priest of the grand Royal Arch chapter, chairman of the committee on jurisprudence and grand recorder of the Grand Commandery of Texas, Knights Templar; Ed R. Bryan of Midland, past grand high priest of the grand Royal Arch chapter and grand master of the grand council; Joe Adams of Crockett, past grand high priest of the grand Royal Arch chapter; A. W. Campbell of Dallas, past grand master of the grand lodge and member of the committee on jurisprudence; C. R. Russell of Dallas, grand visitor of the fifth district of Texas; L. A. Daniel of Tom Ball, grand visitor of the eighth district of Texas, chairman of the committee on credentials; D. F. Dwiggins of Fort Worth, grand king of the grand chapter.

While the Masons seemed glad to get back to Waco for their yearly visit, a tone of sadness pervaded the halls on account of the news that B. F. Frymier, prominent in Masonic circles, had died in Houston Friday morning. Mr. Frymier was a resident of Waco for many years, having been treasurer of one of the Blue lodges for twelve years. He was a past grand master and a past grand high priest. Before coming to Waco, Mr. Frymier lived at Cleburne, serving as mayor of that city for four years.

Funeral services will be held at Crockett today, that being his home, his death occurring at his daughter's residence in Houston. It is expected that many Masons from over the state will attend the services before coming on to the meetings here.

D. S. McMillan, the deputy grand master, is one of the most popular men in Texas Masonry, as is evidenced by the honors his brethren have bestowed upon him. He is a banker and cotton man of Whitewright. McMillan was one of the first grand officers to arrive in Waco for this year's meetings.

There are many good story-tellers among the Masons already here, among them being Grand Master Bryan of the grand council and Grand Recorder Kidd of the grand Commandery. Until a late hour last night, a small crowd of Masons sat around and heard these two swap Masonic yarns.

How an inexperienced master of a local lodge prepared for a cornerstone laying was told by Mr. Kidd, who went to the aforesaid town to preside at the ceremony. The cornerstone was there, as was the building, and that was all, when Mr. Kidd arrived. He got after the master of the lodge and sent him scurrying around after the necessary articles.

When the time came for the cornerstone laying, Mr. Kidd said the trowel and mortar was there all right, but when it came time to use the "corn, wine and oil," he discovered that the master had brought a can of kerosene oil and had it set out plainly in sight of all, that being his idea of the "oil" needed. "We got the cornerstone laid, though, anyway," he concluded.

MEDICOS HOLD ANNUAL BANQUETNEXT THURSDAY

HUACO CLUB WILL BE SCENE OF BIG STAG AFFAIR FOR MEMBERS.

Officers for Next Year Will Be Elected—Sparkling Program Being Arranged.

The big annual banquet of the McLennan County Medical society, which this year will take the form of a stag affair, and the annual election of officers will take place on Thursday evening at 7:30 at the Huaco club. The banquet, which is to be made an annual affair of the society, will be a departure this year in that it will be a stag turnout instead of the usual more formal meeting with the ladies. This banquet will be held in connection with the annual election of officers of the society.

It was the original plan of the society to hold the combined meeting on Tuesday evening, but a change of plans was made to avoid a technicality of the constitution of the club concerning the election. The original plan also called for a banquet at which ladies of the members of the society would be guests, but it has been decided on account of routine matters coming up that only the regular members will take part in the evening's gayety, thus making the feast a stag meeting.

In charge of the banquet and the festivities of the evening are Drs. H. F. Connaly, chairman; W. L. Crosthwaite, M. W. Colgin, Doyle L. Eastland, H. T. Aynesworth and Paul C. Murphey.

In addition to the banquet there will be a program of speeches and music and other features to entertain the members. The election of officers will also be held during the evening. The terms of all the present officers will expire with the exception of the junior delegate and alternate. These advance to the places of senior delegate and alternate.

Following are the present officers: H. T. Aynesworth, president; J. W. Gidney, vice president; Doyle L. Eastland, secretary; J. M. Witt, junior delegate to State Medical society; H. R. Dudgeon, alternate; H. F. Connally, senior delegate to the State Medical society; John L. Burgess, alternate; H. F. Connally, I. E. Colgin and Carl Lovelace, censors.

Montessori Method Subject of Address by Dr. Musselman

Parents and teachers will have a rare opportunity to become more conversant with the Montessori method of child culture by hearing Dr. Musselman at the Central Christian church Friday, Dec. 10, at 7:30 p. m.

Dr. Musselman comes under the patronage of the combined Parent-Teacher associations and the public generally is invited.

A Man May Eat Any Meal

AND DIGEST IT EASILY IF HE WILL BUT TRY.

FREE DIGESTIVE TABLETS.

Don't be afraid of your meals. The reason you have dyspepsia is that something is lacking in your digestive apparatus necessary to the stomach's work.

A perfect stomach loves to work. Perfect digestion is not afraid of any meal and benefits by its consumption of food the whole machinery of man.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make easy the work of digestion, because they combine active fruit and vegetable essences which ar eneeded by the stomach.

These essences are so powerful they digest food without aid from the stomach. They have done this with a meal encased in a glass tube.

We will send a trial package to any one free for his name and address.

Eat what you will or when you will, then take a Stuart Dyspepsia Tablet and see how you will digest that meal. In a short time your stomach will have a natural supply of gastric juices and your whole system will be able to take care of digestion easily.

Ask any druggist about Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. His answer will tell more than we can say. Ask him how they sell. If you want to buy them give him 50c. But if you want to test them write us and you will receive a trial package by mail without cost. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 213 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

The boys of the Saturday club of the Y. M. C. A. spent yesterday afternoon on the Bosque in search for pecans. Through the kindness of W. H. Torian the boys were allowed to gather nuts on his farm on the Bosque. The boys hiked out to the farm and had a very pleasant outing.

Music.

Song, "America."

Tea and social hour.

BECAUSE BOARD HAS NO TASTE FOR ART, DIRECTOR RESIGNS

Raymond Wyer.

Raymond Wyer, director of the Hackley Art Gallery of Muskegon, Mich., one of the most talked-of museums in the United States in its brief history of four years, has resigned his place, after putting Muskegon on the art map of the world, and announced his intention to retire at the expiration of his contract as a protest against the attitude of certain members of the Muskegon board of education, who take no interest in art.

Santa Claus to Be at Home to Kiddies at Goldstein-Migel

Waco children will all be intensely interested in the announcement that Santa Claus is to hold a reception in the Goldstein-Migel toy department tomorrow afternoon and will give a Christmas story book to every child who visits him there.

Of interest to the "grown-ups" is the vigorous campaign for early Christmas shopping which is now being waged by the Goldstein-Migel store. Two pages of today's Morning News are taken up with announcements of the many strong inducements which the big store offers to this week's buyers. The firm expects to make this the "big week" of the holiday season, and has gone about it in no uncertain fashion. The most unique thing about today's advertisement is that it is confined almost entirely to the offerings presented on the third floor of the store—demonstrating the vastness of a business which, though occupying four great floors, has enough attractions on a single one of the four to fill two whole pages of a newspaper.

Transfer Granted Klein-Eaton Case

The jury rendered a verdict in favor of the defendant on his plea of privilege in the suit of E. E. Klein vs. J. H. Eaton, which has been tried for five times in the county court here, and as a result the case will be transferred to Tarrant county, where the legal battle in which Klein hopes to secure real estate commissions alleged to be due him will continue. After a trial of several days, the jury rendered the verdict allowing the defendant's plea of privilege late yesterday evening.

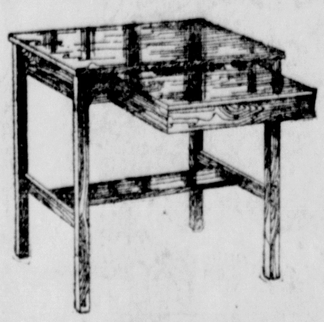

The suit was originally filed in the county court on Oct. 2, 1909, and this is the second time that it has been tried before Judge George N. Denton. Three times the case was reversed by the higher court, once the judgment was set aside by the court, and a fifth time the judgment was set aside by agreement.

MR. AND MRS. HOLDERMAN HAVE DINNER GUESTS

Among the smaller groups at dinner, the Huaco club weekly dinner and dance found the largest company guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Holderman. Their table followed the American Beauty in theme, in color and in flower, also with the candle screens and the place cards. The guests were, the honoree, Mrs. Gray Leavell of Temple, the Messrs. and Mesdames Lee Cowan, Walter Gregg, Pio Crespi, Nelson Smith, James Riley.

MRS. ELIZABETH DARWIN RETURNS TO THIS CITY

Following her custom of a preliminary visit, and later one of more professional service, Hrs. E. L. Darwin, state sanitist, will spend the coming week in this city. As announced in program for the City Federation this morning, Mrs. Darwin will deliver an address to the City Federation of Women's clubs on Thursday.

NEIGHBORLY NEIGHBORS WITH MRS. S. S. FLEMING

The Neighborly Neighbors have resumed regular session after Cotton Palace adjournment. Their last hostess was Mrs. S. S. Fleming. While needles ply in fancy stitches, the members review a Bible lesson, the last discussion being that interesting woman who has been prominent in art as well as Bible, Sarah. The Misses Merle Fleming and Marie Pfaeffle assisted with the luncheon service.

Mrs. Guy Daughtrey welcomes the club into Merrie Field on Thursday.

MRS. EDWARD ROTAN FOR THE ART LEAGUE

By special invitation Mrs. Edward Rotan will entertain the Art league on Monday of next week, by radiopticon views of her recent trip. Mrs. Rotan traveled ten thousand miles over the western half of the continent. She gathered many views and much by way of interesting comment and information. It is this which has prompted the league to ask Mrs. Rotan to occupy the time for their next meeting. It is probable that Mrs. Rotan will invite the league to be guests within her own home.

AUTO PARTY DIVERSION FOR CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS

Bent upon providing something that should be as novel as it was entertaining, Miss Merle Fleming, Eighteenth and Barnard, invited the Endeavorers of the Central Christian church to participate in an original auto party at her home on Friday evening. And instead of jokes at the expense of a very popular machine being placed under the ban, a contest in such stories proved the principal contest and a miniature car of that manufacture was awarded Frank Harrison for telling the most interesting joke concerning the machine. There were speeches by those present on the many merits of the car, after which the guests were blindfolded and assigned to the task of cranking the little car that had been given Mr. Harrison.

The affair was greatly enjoyed. About twenty couples were in attendance and Miss Mary Leach and Miss Marie Pfaeffle assisted the hostess in receiving. Refreshments of sandwiches and punch were served.

LAKEVIEW MOTHERS' CLUB HAS INTERESTING MEETING

With a full attendance and much interest, twenty mothers from the Lakeview school met on Friday. Mrs. J. P. Hayter and Mrs. Homer Martin, assisted later by Mrs. Frank Matthews, entertained the club. Guests were present in the Mesdames Elliott and Bryan, from the Elm Mott school, with request granted that Lakeview mothers go over to assist in organizing a Parent Teachers association at Elm Mott. In addition to business transacted, with Mrs. J. G. Smith leader, the motheres pursued their study of the home, the school and the community, and joined in an interesting round table discussion. Mrs. Chester Shumway as president, reported from the City Parent Teachers association, and appointed as delegates to this the Mesdames Hooks and O'Brien, with alternates in the Mesdames Rush and B. B. Mims.

BRIDGE GAME COMPLIMENTS VISITORS WITHIN CITY

Following the Progress club ball and other causes, a number of visitors are now within the homes of friends of the Mesdames Lehman Sanger and D. E. Hirshfield. In special compliment to these the two hostesses formed a week-end matinee game of five tables, and invited the hostesses of the out-of-town guests. In wating as game favors were two pretty pieces, and they were won, first and second, by the Mesdames Sidney Goldman and Henry Lawrence. With two hostesses and two prizes, it could but be that there were two courses within the luncheon feature of this pleasant game. This bridge courtesy was extended by the Mesdames Sanger and Hirshfield to the Mesdames A. S. Haber, Sidney Goldman, Leo Lowenberg of St. Joseph, B. Haber, Louey Migel, Henry Lawrence, Abe Alexander, C. G. Ringolsky of Taylor, L. H. Goldstein, Joseph Sanger, Sam Sanger, Asher Sanger, Alfred Godshaw, Jack Nussbaum, Scharf of Groesbeck, Isaac Simmons, Marcus of Wichita Falls, with the Misses Thelma Shusterman of Austin, Adele Schawrtz of Hempstead.

FORMER WACO WOMAN HAS REMARKABLE VOICE

During the year of her absence from this city, which she for so long called home, Mrs. John Tennant has made a remarkable impression over her wonderful voice, the "Made in America Voice," which Mrs. Tennant terms it. Both in the east and on the Pacific slope Mrs. Tennant has studied and traveled. She has used her maiden name, Petit Clerc, and, although now Mrs. Box of San Antonio, is appearing in program as Madame Alicia Petitclerc. While manager of the picture show on Austin avenue, Mr. Box was attracted to the possibility in Mrs. Tennant, and through this interest the two are now one. However, Madame Petit Clerc is continuing voice study, and she appears upon ambitious programs. Indeed, her "Made in America" voice has led to what may prove national celebrity. Musicians of San Antonio, voice, band, orchestra and individuals, are bringing strong pressure towards the white house, in the hopes that Madame Petit Clerc may be soloist at the Wilson-Galt wedding. The idea is, now to present the art of Texas to the chief executive of the land, just as crown heads of Europe invariably receive first homage from artists of their country. Rumor comes strongly, so the San Antonio press intimates, that the president's is not the only wedding soon to be within the white house, hence a dual opportunity for this Texas tribute to be paid. In the meantime, Madame Petit Clerc is sought for the best musical programs of her city. In the recent Thanksgiving homecoming she was soloist several times for the municipal band concerts.

MRS. WOODSON WHITE WITH MRS. JOHN SLEEPER

Just the cosiest little company imaginable was that with Mrs. John Sleeper on Friday afternoon. Within this company Mrs. Sleeper had invited a few from old friends whom she felt Mrs. Woodson White would especially enjoy. Thus a thoughtful hostess afforded a mutual pleasure, for it has been many months since Mrs. White has enjoyed her Waco friends. Only small talk and plenty of it passed the hour, which was interrupted by the passage of a two course 5 o'clock luncheon, a luncheon served no more daintily by any hostess than Mrs. Sleeper. Those who enjoyed the hour were the Mesdames H. C. Lindsey, Richard Munroe, H. C. Black, Marie Holway, Maud Cole, Minnie Carroll King, Corinne Casseday, Pearl Walker Yates, S. L. Downs, Llewellyn Aubrey, M. B. Willis, R. B. Killough, J. D. Morrow, J. E. Boynton, Edward Rotan, and Miss Kate Friend. In suggestion of the tea drinking feature, Mrs. Sleeper had a dainty little table, covered with Japanese cherry blossoms in art, and surrounded by tiny sprays in tiny jardinieres, all making a color line across a filmy Japanese embroidered tea cloth.

PALETTE AND BRUSH CLUB HEAR MISS PERLA DOYLE

In special compliment to Miss Perla Doyle of Dallas, knowing that she would have interesting things to say, Miss Esse Forrester invited the Palette and Brush club to spend Saturday morning with her. Miss Doyle has specialized in art, and devotes both time and study to tapestry painting; also, she has studied modeling from life as foundation for her drapery in the figures which go on her canvas. Miss Forrester invited Miss Carline Alexander for piano, and Miss Marian Miller, a member of the club, for voice. Other than these, there was no program feature except the talk from Miss Doyle. The roll call brought forward many interesting notes on current art and artists.

The club received first word from Miss Laurine Gay since her arrival at San Diego. Mrs. R. J. Alexander and Miss Bessie Byrd Burleson were guests. It was decided to adjourn until after Christmas and then to meet regularly and in alphabetic order of hostess. Mrs. Robert Coleman has been added to membership, and Mrs. Clyde Webb is the next prospective member. Miss Forrester brought her pleasant morning to a close with a luncheon plate.

MISS MARGARET KENDALL IS A DECEMBER BRIDE

On December twenty-eighth, in an afternoon home wedding, Miss Margaret Kendall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gray Kendall, becomes the bride of Dr. Emmett E. Reid, formerly of this city, now member of the faculty in Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore. This was announced by the aunt, Mrs. W. W. Kendall, at noon on Saturday. It was Mrs. Kendall's pleasure, with Miss Elizabeth Speight assistant hostess, to welcome twenty guests for a buffet luncheon. And quite the pretty luncheon service this proved. No home greenhouse in all the city can yield more generously for decorative purpose. The rich gold of oxalis bloom with candle screen repeating the tone, was detail in the pretty table picture. Not once suspecting, guests enjoyed the courses, until, a tiny pink heart about the ice, aroused suspicion that a Cupid feature was creeping into this circle. Guesses ran rife, but, it was still the secret until, underneath the demi tasse was found "Miss Margaret Kendall—Dr. Emmett E. Reid—December 28." Seldom is a love story hidden so completely. Dr. Reid is former member of the Baylor university faculty, hence well and favorably known in this city. Since leaving Waco he has been connected with Hopkins, first in research work, and now, as faculty member.

Miss Kendall, between this and her wedding day, will be honored by the lifelong friends whom she leaves so soon. Mrs. Ben Gray Kendall is luncheon hostess, on Saturday. Mrs. Allan Sanford will also entertain for Miss Kendall.

BRIDAL BRIDGE PLAYS WITH MRS. ROBERT SILVERS

Playing their postponed game on Friday, the Bridal Bridge found Mrs. Robert Silvers hostess to club members and several out-of-town guests. The game closed with the luncheon plate and the award of prizes, to Mrs. Isador Segal, who led in club count; Mrs. Sam Strauss, who scored second, and Miss Minnie Ryman, who led in guest score. Mrs. Milton Strauss in-

The Hair-Destroying Curling Iron Passes

The heated iron makes the hair dry and parched looking, burns off the ends, giving a most untidy appearance. You who have learned this from sad experience will be glad to hear of a very simple method which is open to none of the objections referred to and which gives better results than the curling iron.

Just get a few ounces of plain liquid silmerine at your druggist's and apply a little to the hair at night with a clean tooth brush, drawing this down one strand at a time from root to tip. In the morning your hair will be as beautifully wavy and curly as though Mother Nature did it, and it will be quite manageable, no matter what style of coiffure you adopt. The effect will be much prettier than if you used a waving iron, and the health of your hair will not suffer. As silmerine is not sticky or greasy it is quite pleasant to use.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

What They Are Doing in Various Phases of Their Work in Texas

Reported Weekly in The Waco Morning News by Miss Kate Friend, Editor, 525 Terrace Row, Waco, Texas.

TEXAS DIVISION U. D. C. MEETS IN AUSTIN

The coming week finds the state convention, Daughters of the Confederacy, in session at Austin, guests of the Albert Sidney Johnston chapter. From what has been given out, no radical measures are to be promoted. The Daughters of the Confederacy have various activities, and the reports from chairmen of committees for these consumes the most of the time. The convention will be called to order on Tuesday and adjourn on Friday.

JANE ADDAMS IN HOSPITAL NOT CONSIDERED SERIOUS

Although her condition has at no time been pronounced serious, yet there has been general interest over the news that Jane Addams, she of Hull House fame, has succumbed to fever. Miss Addams is in Presbyterian hospital in Chicago, and a consultation has been held over whether or not operation is necessary. Later than her settlement activity, Miss Addams has been more discussed in relation to her peace pilgrimage with other women to Europe last summer. She was muchly criticised over remarks made in the return.

Nothing daunted, Miss Addams had consented to go over with the Ford peace conference party. This illness has forced cancellation.

THE CLANS ARE GATHERING FOR SUFFRAGE PETITION

From all over the country word is coming that suffragists are active towards the gigantic petition which they will present to congress for federal amendment. This means that many of these are enlisting, not only signatures, but promises from men and women, to go personally to the capital before next Monday. This follows the visit of Mrs. Thompson through Texas two weeks ago, on the mission of interviewing personally every Texas congressman and senator. The same was done throughout the union. The object in this petition is to bring pressure towards the vote for women through national rather than individual state action. Many suffragists oppose this, since theirs is the doctrine of state's rights, each state to settle such matter herself.

NATIONAL SUFFRAGE WOMAN KNOWN TO MANY IN TEXAS

The last week has found the public announcement of Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout as candidate for presidency of the national suffrage society. We do not know whether this is in opposition to Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, who has held the office for so many years, or whether Dr. Shaw feels that she would like to shift her mantle of authority upon younger shoulders. This candidate is a woman whom all the Texas delegation met as Illinois suffrage president during the biennial. Mrs. Trout was in constant attendance at the Congress Hotel, Mr. Trout being with her constantly. She is a young woman, an energetic character, experienced in suffrage work.

FLORIDA ADOPTS SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT ALMOST TOTAL

No sooner had the news gone out that Texas had adopted resolutions favoring suffrage for women, than the same comes from the very conservative southern state of Florida. In Texas the majority was small, but down in Florida the resolution carried 100 to 5. Almost with the same breath, the state federation received into membership a suffrage club, the first for woman's suffrage organized in Florida. The prediction is now made that this action upon the part of the club women will lead to the entire strength of women's influence being applied to the June primaries; that is, for the election in the primaries of the men who will favor the constitutional amendment.

NEW HOTEL FOR ARTISTS TO COME IN NEW YORK CITY

Plans are about ready for the erection of a new hotel on West Sixty-seventh street, New York City. This is in the artist district, and will be modeled for artist convenience. The hotel will be built in what is called, already, "the studio block." Already on the same street is being built the "Hotel des Artistes," a more pretentious structure. In the proposed hotel, the first floor will be a large exhibition room, while the stories above, nine of them, will be given over to living quarters for artists and students. By and by, this quarter between Central Park west and Columbus avenue, will come to be a second famed Latin quartier.

MRS. FREDERICK PETERSON BLAME'S WOMAN'S SILENCE

Mrs. Frederick Peterson, daughter of Mrs. Edward Rotan, first state federation president for Texas, is for many years a resident of New York City. Mrs. Peterson has allied herself long ago with the active workers towards woman's suffrage in New York. She is a close student of economics, and generally knows the cause for every result. Mrs. Peterson this season has lingered longer than is her wont in her summer home. This was up in the interior of the state. In early November, when the vote of New York was to decide whether or not the state constitution would be amended in order that the sex clause of suffrage migth not prevail, Mrs. Peterson took an active part in the campaign in her district. Mrs. Peterson avowed that the New York women were not surprised at defeat; their real surprise was that they polled such a good vote, and carried so many precincts. She avows that radical reforms never come suddenly, and that the women are ready to march on again towards final victory. Had the women carried, they would have broken a world record. Mrs. Peterson is free to say that the real opponents to the women who are working for the ballot are the political corruptionists, and the two giants, sloth and inertia, on the part of women themselves. This includes the men who openly agree that women should have the ballot but do not actively assist them in getting it. In the meantime, and timely for every community, Mrs. Peterson urges women to be up and doing. A clean home town, disappearance of paper and other litter from the streets, children's brigades to watch for such, campaigns to fight flies, inspection of drainage, better play facilities for the children, these are some of the local things suggested as activities for women. Determination, activity and evidence that women are willing to work for better home conditions, these will have strong influence upon many men. And what Mrs. Peterson applies to Kisco, New York, is applicable to Texas. This state has suffrage societies, both local and state. It will be many years before the men grant these the ballot. In the meantime, are conditions of clean living, and more pleasant living, to go from bad to worse? What matters the bit of ballot paper if the spirit of community interest is not first manifest?

PARENT-TEACHERS OF WACO MAY APPROACH RURAL LIFE

Women of the rural school communities should watch with interest the expansion of the Parent-Teachers' association of Waco. While nothing definite has been done, it seems to be the underlying current of opinion that mutual good could come were all the county schools to form Parent-Teachers' clubs and to come into united session with the city association. Every community has a wide-awake mother, perhaps two or three of them, who will gather into a club, mothers or the neighborhood. This done, a communication sent to Mrs. W. O. Wilkes, Waco, will meet with ready response, assistance, literature or addresses which the rural club may need. In due time dates for joint sessions, public lectures and other mutual interests may be sent to the rural club. The welfare of the children is one thing upon which all mothers have equal interest, be these city or country.

ELLA FLAGG YOUNG RETIRED ON PENSION

There have been stormy times within educational circles of Chicago during years past and Ella Flagg Young has been the storm center. Later, Mrs. Young took passage abroad and had sensational escape from the war zone. All told she has been an American woman muchly in the limelight for the past five years. Be the controversies what they may women of America must admit that Mrs. Young's giant mentality is a credit to the sex. At the Biennial in Chicago everywhere she appears on platform what Mrs. Young says carries weight. Her life has been devoted to education. This has been a long life, so much has Mrs. Young done for advancement along the methods of education. Within the past week Mrs. Young retires to private life. She has been superintendent of the city schools of Chicago and the only woman president of the National Teachers' association. Her salary has been $10,000. She now retires on a teacher's pension of $400. What her future work will be, Mrs. Young has not made public.

SHAKSPERE TERCENTENARY THE WORLD-WIDE TOPIC

All over the civilized world, men and women and boys and girls are giving attention to the Shakspere Tercentenary. On the twenty-third of April Shakspere was born, and on the same day of the same month, fifty years later, he died. Thus, it is coming that next April sees the entire world paying homage to this life. In 1616, Shakspere died, three hundred and fifty years then, since he came into life, and three hundred years since he departed. Knowing that the world of drama and literature is to honor this anniversary, periodicals all through the country are responding because every editor seeks to give his readers that in which they are interested. Pageants, school programs, bibliologies, lectures, pictures—every possible phase of celebration is being devised.

Drama League Active.

The Drama League of America is especially active. While this embraces drama in general, ancient as well as modern, nothing dramatic can exist without direct connection with the far-reaching dramatic immortality of Williabm Shakspere. This Drama League has appointed as a sub-committee the Associated Shakspere clubs of Toledo. This association is sending out folders to suggest what may be done. In the meantime, Mrs. Pennybacker as general federation president is urging every club within the federation to observe one Shakspere program.

The Toledo association suggests plays, original masques, pageants, both professional and amateur, dance festivals, lecture recitals, programs with school children, public mass lectures, and so on. Addresses are given from which appropriate music may be secured. The association is sending out very antique book plates, such as individuals would be pleased to insert into every home library book.

Special Tree Planting.

But more than all, the association urges that the name of Shakspere be handed to the generation yet to come by means of the memorial tree. The idea is for a club to secure tree, enlist every allied body of men, women and children to unite in a program. Subjects appropriate for songs and a model program are given. Original poems to be read at the planting is suggested. College campus, public park, school square are some of the places named as suitable for the exercise. The idea of the tree planting is especially good for Texas. The tree planted, once a year the club is reminded to gather there. An imperishable plate, with perhaps stone seat, with proper tablet, may be added. The ideas are practical, and it is hoped that since more Shakspere to the square inch is studied in Texas than in any other state, the clubs will all respond.

Every community in the state should do something to emphasize that Shakspere's is the master mind of literature, and that he appeals to a wider range of humanity, education, student, lay reader, actor and dramatist.

MRS. PENNYBACKER TIMELY ON SECRETARIES' MINUTES

As all Texas women know, our wee Mrs. Pennybacker has been a muchly treveled woman since she became president of the general federation. Once a month, Mrs. Pennybacker furnishes a letter, which gives the results of her travels and her observations among the various club activities. In her last, she makes comment, while taken from state conventions, upon a phase of club work applicable to the smallest club and to anybody of women who keep record of proceedings. Mrs. Pennybacker says:

"There are some suggestions for betterment that I would like to make. These suggestions are the result of many, many pastoral calls made during the past three years. In some places the minutes are entirely too long. We should remember that adjectives have no place in the minutes of a convention. When a secretary begins to use complimentary terms she must either have sufficient adjectives to meet the case of each speaker or she will be confronted by an embarrassing position. Since minutes are supposed to record facts and not opinions, it is much safer for the secretary to allow herself no expression of judgment, even though that judgment be conveyed only through the medium of adjectives. Do you think this same principle might be applied in the introduction of speakers? Is it not more dignified simply to give the subject the speaker's name and the official position that the speaker holds? When one starts a precedent of praising the first speaker, is it not almost necessary to continue this policy throughout the entire program? Have we not progressed far enough to feel quite content if the presiding officer spares herself the strain of set introductory speeches and also saves much valuable time on the program?

Apropos of the minutes, in looking over the state year books recently, I have been impressed by the fact that the minutes sometimes take more printed space than is necessary. These year books are necessarily expensive. If the minutes recorded only the vital facts, some states would be saved much money.

Short Session Better.

Let me plead for shorter sessions, especially when general sessions are held in the afternoon. I have seen women give three hours uninterruptedly in the morning and then sit through three and a half or four hours in the afternoon. This is not consistent with our views on conservation. No woman can digest what she is hearing after so long a straing, especially when the ventilation of the convention hall is poor. Again and again it is necessary to beg for fresh air. Every local board should make it its first duty the ventilation of the hall. It is criminal to hold conventions in places where there is no possibility of proper ventilation.

Punctuality.

"Some presidents have asked what they can do to induce an audience to be on time. If the chair will in the very beginning appeal to the delegate body to co-operate with her, if she will explain how much is gained by the body not only convening on time but by the delegates being present, and thus removing the disturbing element of the late comers being ushered in, she will find that a certain proportion of the delegates will nobly respond. Certain states have made greater progress in this respect than others. If we keep on improving, within a few years it will be the exception and not the rule that every delegate is in her seat when the gavel falls.

U. S. MINISTER TO BELGIUM HOME FOR A REST; WILL RETURN DECEMBER 25

Brand Whitlock, United States minister to Belgium at Brussels, returned home last week for a short rest at his home in Toledo. His return to America, following closely the execution of Miss Edith Cavell, the British nurse, whom he tried to save, has been construed as meaning his retirement at the request of Germany. Mr. Whitlock denies that he has been recalled and has announced that he will return to his post, sailing for Europe December 25.

Detroit Electric Production Reaches Maximum Mark

Every shift at the Detroit Electric plants in Detroit and Cleveland is working at top-notch speed to meet the daily flood of shipping orders from dealers.

Mr. G. D. Fairgrieve, sales manager of the Anderson Electric Car company, builders of Detroit Electrics, in a recent interview said that "the season just begun promises to break all prosperity records we have ever set. Orders are coming in so rapidly that even with our increased facilities our production is being pushed to the limit.

"The 1916 Detroit Electrics, at the reduced prices made possible by our doubled output, are proving themselves the most popular type of enclosed car that has ever been put on the market.

"Daily reports from our dealers in all parts of the country indicate that this increased business is not confined to any one particular section of the country, but is true of nearly every locality in our sales territory.

"A number of factors are accountable for the stimulus electric car sales have felt recently. In the first place Detroit Electrics are in a position to offer every advantage formerly claimed by the gas car, except long distance touring, and in addition several features exclusive of the electric powered automobile.

"The 1916 Detroit Electric will carry its load farther on one battery charge than the distance of 98 per cent of all motoring trips that are undertaken.

"It has great power and plenty of speed. And, of course, it is far quieter in operation than any gas car can possibly be. And quietness is a quality that all automobile makers have long been striving to attain.

"To a great many families the Detroit Electric has a strong appeal because of its marked upkeep economy.

"A careful record of comparative costs show that it costs from 35 per cent to 50 per cent more to maintain the ordinary gas car than it does to maintain a Detroit Electric of equal size and power.

"There is no question in my mind but that the entire electric car industry is on the verge of a great business expansion. I firmly believe that the rapid growth of Detroit Electric sales is a forerunner of what the others will soon note, and that it is only because the Anderson Electric Car company is the largest and most powerful company that it received the first noticeable impetus."

FRIDAY BRIDGE PLAYS WITH MRS. J. S. HILL

With Mrs. Rives Posten Halsey the only substitute, the regular game within the season tournament for the Friday bridge club came with Mrs. J. S. Hill. The high score and winning cut were made by Mrs. W. B. Brazelton and Mrs. W. W. Pryor. Mrs. John Cooper is hostess for next Friday.

MISS ROBERTA ROGERS HAS MATINEE BRIDGE GAME

In introduction of her cousin, who is winter visitor from Nashville, Miss Louise Tilman, and in welcome as debutante of Miss Dorothy Finley, Miss Roberta Rogers was hostess to a large game of bridge during Friday afternoon. Amid a wealth of greenery in the home ferns, and with a pink touch here and there, the tables were set, eleven of them, and surrounded by society girls. Only the very few young matrons were included. As the luncheon plate passed, several called to meet hostess, pay their respects to honorees, and to enjoy the social hour. As prize feature in the game, Miss Rogers presented fancy delicate toned handkerchiefs to honorees, and correspondence cards in fancy boxes as prizes to the Misses Esther Webber of Texarkana and Monette Colgin. The score cards repeated the hearts, clubs, spades and diamonds, from the decks which played fast and loose with the players during exciting rounds. Miss Rogers' guest list is, the Misses Tilman, Finley, Louise Lawson, Esther Webber of Texarkana, Monette Colgin, Elizabeth Webber of Texarkana, Lyda Pearson, Lucy Lazenby, Virginia Lazenby, Anna Fry Jones, Beuna Clinton, Norma Bonner, Anne Risher, Thelma Ashburn, Ruth Hubby, Pauline McLendon, Ruth Evens, Enrique Smith, Mary Belle Wood, Lucile Gooch, Lucile Lewis, Sallie Thompson, Julia Smith of Paris, Dorothy Lake, Marian Duncan, Mary Farrell, Emma Farrell, Frances Hays, Ellen Forsgard, Emily Montgomery, Margaret Sleeper, Lilian Westbrook, Virginia Westbrook of San Angelo, Ida Grand, Katherine Raynolds, Sallie Keith, Clarabel Knight, Alice Brazelton, Ruth Lennox, Mildred Smith, Sue Edmond, Lucile Bruton of Comanche, Rachel Fraser, Marian Dilworth, Margaret Griffith of Lexington with the Mesdames Roscoe Stotter, William Edmond, Carl Lovelace, Lucile Stratton Kirksey, Kyle Vick.

Society Notes

W. D. Lacy, Junior, had for his guests at the Huaco club dinner Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. John Freeman with Mrs. Motz of Saint Louis.

Mrs. Albert Clifton and Mrs. Wilbur Crawford are new members of the Domestic Science club. This completes the membership list.

Miss Isador Levy's handsome gown was one of those much complimented at the Progress club ball.

Mrs. Marian Herz, who has just returned from Dallas, enjoyed a round of gayety which, she remarks, establishes Dallas in social life to be classed as the city sure enough.

So often we hear the couplet, "How happy could I be with either were 'tother dear charmer away." How many know from where this comes? It is from a comparatively unknown English writer, Gay, who uses the couplet in his "Beggar's Opera."

Is there not some humane man who owns vacant lots in suburbs who will allow some half starved animal to graze thereon? Surely there will be when springtime comes again.

It is now expected that Mrs. Ralph McLendon and Miss Ella Flewellyn, who have been in Battle Creek, Mich., for some time, will be at home for the Christmas season.

Mrs. J. W. McClendon will be up from Austin for her annual Christmas visit to her sister, Mrs. O. H. Cross.

Next to come in to Progress club gayety is the New Year ball, for which plans are already being laid.

After today, Mrs. Woodson White is the guest of Mrs. Edward Rotan, Fifteenth and Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Witt have taken the Guy Witt cottage out on West Austin. Mrs. Guy Witt is guest of her mother, Mrs. W. D. Lacy, until her going to the new home, San Antonio.

Now that the center of Mrs. Nelson Smith's recent luncheon table was so much admired, and it is a classic piece, it is interesting to note that the alabaster vase with its marble doves hovering on the brim, is known as the "Pliny Fountain." All of us who have visited the Old World, locate the original in the museum of Capitoline Hill, within the same room as the romantic Marble Faun. Pliny, the historian, by his comment, brought the vase into notice. Later, it has been adopted as a favorite piece in America, and the art shops advertise it as the "Pliny Fountain;" so, we must call it the same. Replicas of the coveted piece are in several of our downtown shops.

If you have a friend who is devoted to foreign missions, why not select for her holiday gift the new book, "My Lady of the Chinese Courtyard"? This is the first book ever written to disclose intimate private life of the high-class Chinese woman, and is called, "an epic of the Chinese woman, past and of the present." The story deals with the evolution of the woman and her child from original religion into Christianity.

So attractive did the report from the Cameron-Bolton luncheon read in the Morning News, it was copied in compliment to the new friends of one of the honorees, Mrs. Beverly Harden, in the Hillsboro Mirror.

We do not know how practical is the idea, but those who profess to know tell us that it is the touch of Jack Frost and not the degree of general cold which affects our oleanders in the winter. This means, merely to remove from where frost may reach is the only precaution necessary.

In paying debutante courtesy to Miss Frances Hays, Mrs. J. R. Milam has changed her day from Saturday until next Thursday.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Perry Parmelee, who are now at Portsmouth, Virginia, will go up into Washington for the Christmas holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Henry.

The Morning News woman editor appreciates deeply the thoughtfulness of those who have brightened her heavily burdened desk with flowers from their luncheon tables and reception rooms. To rest a tired brain or a nerve-wracked eye with such a bit of beauty means much.

Mrs. Frank Allen's home garden poinsettias are the admiration of all who see them. They bloomed with the first of November.

The unexpected happened with Mrs. Frank Allen, who was due to be at home from Dallas for her wedding anniversary on Saturday. Instead, Mr. Allen has gone up to spend the day with Mrs. Allen, whose homecoming is now an indefinite date.

FINE RECORD FOR TRAIN.

"Empire State" Has Covered Distance Equal to 14 Round Trips to Moon.

The famous Empire State Express of the New York Central, the first regular long-distance train in America to run at more than 50 miles an hour, including stops, has begun its twenty-fifth year. It has covered a distance of 6,518,600 miles, equal to 14 round trips to the moon, and has carried approximately 8,000,000 passengers safely to their destination.

The record during these 24 years has been a remarkable one. Not one of its passengers has been fatally injured. One of its enginemen for 16 years was Dennis J. Cassin, who last year was awarded the Harriman bronze medal in recognition of his unblemished record of safety.

When the Empire State Express was first placed in service it weighed only 230 tons; now it weighs 780 tons. It was drawn by engines of the "870" class and later by the famous "999," the locomotive that took the prize at the Chicago World's Fair. Nowadays that locomotive looks like a top in comparison with the giant Pacific type and it could hardly start the train, much less haul it on its fast schedule.—Railway Age Gazette.

Overland Has Part in Suffrage Pilgrimage Frisco to Washington

Armed with a message for the president of the United States, three women have traveled over 5,000 miles by automobile in an effort to further the cause of equal suffrage. A petition signed by half a million women at the San Francisco exposition was entrusted to their care and on the trip across country enough additional signatures were obtained to swell the total to what is probably the longest list of names ever secured on a petition of this kind.

The ladies, one from Oregon and two from Rhode Island, after looking over the motor cars offered in San Francisco, bought a model 83 Overland, believing that they could secure the greatest amount of service from the car, as well as knowing they could receive attention from an unlimited number of Overland dealers en route.

Miss M. A. Kindberg acted as driver, Miss Ingeberg Kindstedt as mechanician and Mrs. Sara Bard Field as utility driver and helper.

During the trip the car had an average gasoline mileage of sixteen miles per gallon, using one quart of oil in the first 280 miles, and averaging 100 miles to the quart, on the rough stretches. The highest speed attained by the lady driver was fifty-two miles per hour, and then she admitted she was going some.

Through the desert the trip was uneventful, except for the fact that water was scarce, and after trying to buy, or even beg water at one particular place, they were refused and finding the radiator barely half full, thought their troubles would commence, but true to the appointments en route, they undertook the drive without the needed water and drove 156 miles, with the supply half enough, and the motor, which is the highest improved of its type, carried them fine and did not overheat as was feared.

One blinding snowstorm was encountered from Laramie to Cheyenne, the first of the season. After debating awhile as to whether or not to attempt the drive, they started out and met three other motor parties returning to town. These people advised against the trip, telling them they surely would be lost, but that "grit" necessary in a case like that asserted itself and they went through the storm to the next town, glad of the trip for the novelty, as well as testing their mount to its utmost.

Crossing the desert at one time they were lost and used a compass to set them right and traveled by that for ninety-five miles before finding a place to get proper directions.

Mrs. Field, the speaker of the trip, is carrying a message to the president of the United States from the women voters of the west, and in this trip, as well as riding, they have been stopping at all the cities along the way, speaking on the equal rights of women and have used their car as a platform in several places. The message to the president asks him to support for an amendment to the national constitution giving woman the ballot.

Miss Kindberg was asked how she liked her car and said with a snap that she'd like to see any other car do a bit better or half as well.

There are more ducks in China than in all the rest of the world.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS

A DEPARTMENT DEVOTED TO THE FOSTERING OF MUSICAL INTERESTS OF WACO AND CENTRAL TEXAS.

By ZUMA WALLACE. Independent Phone 1607

Euterpeans Please Large Audience.

The first open session of the season given by the Euterpean club was held last Tuesday evening at the Central Christian church under the direction of Miss Zuma Wallace.

The program was a varied one, consisting of numbers from the Old English and Irish folk songs down to the modern American composers.

Two numbers, "Pilgrim's Chorus," from Verdis Lombardi, and "Annie Laurie," harmonized by Dudley Buck, were given by the Euterpean choral club under the direction of George F. Brierly. Mr. Brierly is an experienced and capable conductor and the chorus made an excellent showing, considering the short time and many interruptions since its organization. New members are being adde dand the success of the chorus is now assured.

The Baylor Glee Club, under the direction of John De Heck, gave "The Winter Song," "A Cannibal Idyll" and "Little Tommy Went-a-Fishing," by James H. Rogers and scored such a hit with the audience that they were repeatedly recalled.

Mrs. Joseph G. Wren, soprano, gave two groups of American songs and was at her best in the charming rendition of "Will o' the Wisp," by Spross, and "Birthday," by Woodman.

Mr. John De Heck, tenor, sang a group of MacDowell songs, including "The Robin Sings in the Apple Tree," "A Summer's Lullaby," "Confidence," and "Oh, Lovely Rose," all of which were well rendered although Mr. De Heck was suffering from cold and was not in his normal voice. A duet for soprano and tenor, "Oh, That We Two Were Marrying," by Smith, sung by Mrs. Wren and Mr. De Heck, was also well received.

Other voice numbers which were highly enjoyed were the sacred song, "O, Love That Will Not Let Me Go," by Hacker, and the folk song "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" (Old English, with words by Ben Johnson), and "Believe Me of All Those Endearing Young Charms" (Old Irish), sung by Howell James.

Mr. James is a most gifted singer, possessing a rich baritone voice of unusual quality and range and a musical temperament which enables him to sing with deep feeling in these songs, which were so well suited to his style.

The piano numbers of the program were "Sparks," by Moszkowski, played by Miss Edith Adelman, Weber's Rondo Brillante, by Miss Helen Owen, and MacDowell's "Witches' Dance," by Miss Louise Lawson. These are three of the young pianists of the club, and have many admirers and friends who are watching their progress with interest, for they are "Made in Waco" products, Miss Adelman and Miss Owen being pupils of Miss Zuma Wallace, while Miss Lawson is taking a post-graduate course under Prof. Rudolf Hoffmann of Baylor university. The accompaniments were played by Mrs. Eugene McNutt, Miss Lawson and Mr. Joseph Evans.

Soloists for Dudley Buck's "Coming of the King."

Soloists for Dudley Buck's cantata, "The Coming of the King," which is to be given by the Austin Avenue Methodist choir at 3 o'clock on Sunday, December 12, are Mrs. Charles W. Atkins, soprano; Mrs. J. G. Rousseau, Inezzo-soprano; Earl Busgy, tenor; W. H. Payne, baritone; J. D. Isaacs, bass; Miss Hazel Downs, violin, and Rudolf Hoffmann, organ. Other members of the choir who will sing the shorter solos are Misses Pauline Crawley, Ruth Bruyere and A. V. Applebaugh and Bryan Kyger.

This performance marks the closing of the year, which the choir has been under the direction of Mrs. Atkins. Aside from being director of the choir, Mrs. Atkins has been engaged as soprano soloist for the coming year.

More About Otto Fischer and Harry Evans.

Judging from the many favorable press notices concerning Otto Fischer and Harry Evans, Waco is to enjoy a musical treat at the Auditorium Tuesday evening, December 7.

The following clipping will show how these artists are regarded by the best European and American critics:

British Press Notices.

"The Barnes and Mortlake Herald" (Ballads)—Mr. Harry Evans not only sings with feeling and expression, but invests the words of his songs with a dramatic power seldom found in a vocalist. He was loudly and deservedly applauded for his effective rendering of "The Tollers," and in the nautical song, "The Bosun's Log," given as an encore, one felt that he was listening to the recital of an "old salt" on the quay of a fishing village, rather than the artist on the platform, so completely did he grasp the spirit of the song.

"The Reading Standard" (Haydn's Creation)—Mr. Harry Evans, with his excellent voice, sang with true artistic ease and effect. He was not less successful in the subdued and smooth passages, than in those requiring dramatic treatment, and his singing throughout the work was splendid. We have rarely heard a better bass at the Town Hall.

"The Eltham District Times" (Romberg's Lay of the Bell)—Mr. —— was to have sustained the baritone part, but was prevented from doing so by illness, with the result that the heavy burden of the bass and the numerous solos allotted to the baritone fell exclusively upon Mr. Harry Evans, who discharged his enormous task with distinction and credit.

"The Southend and Westcliff Graphic"—A most enjoyable afternoon was spent last Thursday in the concert hall of the Metropolitan academy of music. The occasion was a recital of ballads, old and new, with remarks on their origin and rendering by Mr. Harry Evans, who traced the evolution of the ballad from simple tunes used as a vocal accompaniment to dancing, up to the modern and complete ballad. Mr. Evans has a fine voice, well trained and perfectly controlled, and carries out to the full method of singing ballads that he advocates, with the result that his renderings are full of life and quite carry the audience away with their emotion.

Weimarische Neueste Nachrichten—Mr. Fischer of Brooklyn had full opportunity in the Wanderer-Fantasie (Schubert-Liszt) to show his great ability, both in overcoming the technical difficulties and in the production of a beautiful singing tone. Especially notworthy from the beginning to the end of the work was the repose and the surety in grasping the proper tempi.

Weimarische Zeitung, December, 1893.—By far the most successful number on the program was the performance of Chopin's E minor concerto by the well-known pianist, Otto L. Fischer. A brilliant future may safely be assured this young pianist, who already possesses an exceptionally sure technic, besides strong temperament, taste and musical feeling.

Brooklyn Eagle, 1903—The first concert given by the Arion at its hall last night was of special interest, as an opportunity was given to Otto L. Fischer, a young pianist, to make his debut in America. Mr. Fischer has just returned from Europe, where he studied under Busoni and Teresa Carreno. For his first appearance he selected the Wanderer-Fantasie, by Schubert-Liszt, for piano and orchestra; an etude of Chopin and the E major polonaise of Liszt. Mr. Fischer's playing showed, beside fine technique, a well balanced temperament and the hearty applause accorded to him by the audience was well merited by the artistic interpretation of the works of the great composers.

New York Staats-Zeitung—Mr. Fischer shows an enormous technic, a beautiful soft tone, and a quiet, polished style.

Musical Courier—His performance of the rhapsody in F. sharp minor, by Dohnanyi, the scherzo, Op. 16, by D'Albert, and the paraphrase on theme from Tschaikowsky's "Eugen Onegin," by Paul Pabst, was greeted by an ovation from the audience such as is seldom witnessed in the concerts of the society. The deeply tragic element of the rhapsody contrasted vividly with the airy lightness and sparkling humor of the scherzo, whereas the waltz of the paraphrase, with its sweeping, spirited theme, literally brought the audience to its feet.

Lend a Hand.

There is something that clubs in many places could do in the altruistic line which is being neglected and that is boosting along the home artist.

I mean artists who, because of some tie not to be severed, or the necessity of teaching to secure a dependable income, are forced to stay in their home town and give, year after year, much of their stock in trade to their community, but are never able to nurse one little laurel bush into growth on their native heath. They stay only because they must, else they would hie themselves off to New York or Chicago, knowing that to Garner engagements they must appear to hail from this or these centers.

It is like our cotton seed oil that used to be shipped across the Atlantic for a foreign stamp before we could look upon it as a food (and oil does not improve with age, either, the only improvement was in the price).

"All foolishness," you say, "this going to New York to live." Well, it's what experience at home has taught the would be artist he must do to win appreciation. Who gets the club engagements? Why, the outsider, who takes a heavy toll out of the club treasury, and cheered by a check, and the plaudits of the audience, flits on. And yet the home artist would have been so thankful for just a little of the shower, just a little of the applause.

Ah, no. Your local artist may be a "devil of a fellow" in Spokane, Wash., or Augusta, Maine, but he isn't much in "his own home town."

Now it isn't fair, it isn't reasonable, it isn't good business. The artist has it in him to give, usually does give, to his own town more than Mr. Smith, at whose grocery you trade, because he put a bird bath in the park, or Mr. Jones, whom you patronize because he gave a hippopotamus to the zoo.

The artist, in addition to helping along the artistic side of things, would like to spend his money with his own people, but they won't let him; they force him into exile if he is making any money from his art, to spend anywhere. "It always was so," you say, "A phophet is not without honor," etc. But need it always be so? The last few years has seen quite a number of our old saws and proverbs exploded. Put a little dynamite under that one before its false doctrine banishes all our artists.

It's odd, but when the home artist has gone, when he has learned to say "I take it" like a native; when he wears a silk hat and has his picture in the metropolitan dailies (easily recognizable by the name printed underneath), then the home town throws out its chest and says, "He was born and raised right here," "Knew there was great stuff in him," "We're proud of him," etc., etc. Oh, he's getting honor in his own country. Yes, but will they engage him? "Oh, no," they exclaim, "we've heard him before." Will you listen to that, now. Just as if one ceased growing roses because they had smelled them before; stopped eating watermelon because they had taste it before, or quit looking at pretty girls because one had seen them before. Oh, consistency, thou art a jewel.

I am getting away from my point. It is this: I want to appeal to every club in the federation to look over its town, find out if there is in its confines some one who is rightfully entitled to be ranked as an artist—one who has ambition to suceed—and engage that person for a concert and pay him for his services. Yes, I mean it. Really, actually, pay him in proportion as you pay the imported article; and do more—get some intelligent, fair-minded musician to write up the performance for the next morning's paper (it might come handy to quote when trying to pry loose an engagement from another club).

Speaking of saws, there's another that should be expunged, "Genius will always win out." I defy you to prove it. Of course we have all seen genius surmounting obstacles of gigantic proportion, getting adversity by the bit and forcing it back on its haunches, as it were; but who knows how much greater these great ones would have been could they have saved their strength? How many are born real geniuses but lack the herculean arm and are crushed by the prancing steed.

Now when your clubs see a votary of music in pursuit of a career, struggling in a chilly sea, please do not content yourselves with pulling him in a blanket (a wet one usually), but put your thumb under his chin, keep his head out of water until he gets the co-ordination that makes a swimmer, and after just a little he will be able to breast the waves alone.

Suppose we try this local fostering and see how much it will help our musical atmosphere and how much it will improve the quality and quantity of our artists.—Musical Monitor.

Beginners and Good Music.

One of the almost universal disparagements of an examination of the average vocal student, unless he has been one of such long standing that he has reached the artist point, is the class of music sung or comprehended.

So many teachers rely entirely upon a few modern English ballads or ditties, we may say, for the songs given beginners, or those whose voices are slow in developing, or less talented. Still others cling to the antiquated idea of endless solfeggi and after three, four or five years of voice placing, then begin to taken the serious things in music, when the tone is supposed to be perfected.

In the meantime, the student other than a drone is discouraged, and loses interest before catching an insight into the real realm of music, or else is found singing these ditties in the uninteresting manner bound to follow, with no musical taste as a backing.

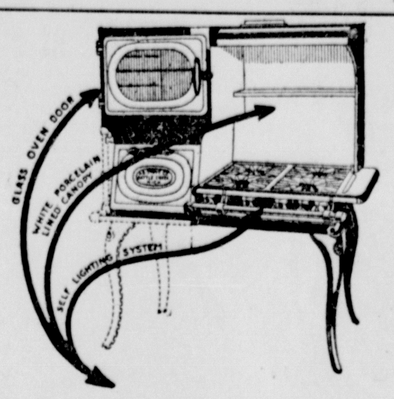

In most cases it requires but a matter of a few weeks before a student should be able to free the root of the tongue enough to allow the breath stream to enter the resonance of the cavities of the head, forming a good hum and other closed mouth exercises. At this point we should question his knowledge of music, and if, as in many cases, it is entirely lacking with regard to all that is worth while in song literature, a course should be mapped out to meet the difficulty; so that his musical knowledge may advance at the same time as his technique. Other than using the few simple combinations of scales and parts of scales and the arpeggi so soon carried in the mind, no text book is necessary, but substitute at once, according to the character of the voice, some good collection of Lieder, such as "Famous Songs," edited by Krehbiel. The compositions of Scarlatti, Mendelssohn, Purcell and others to be used first and then the entire book and later the opera albums, especially of the coloratura type, the latter of which are made up of practically the same firatura, filling the dozens of so-called feggi albums. Quite a repertoire can be worked out and memorized as to melody, time, rythm and tempo, before even the open vowel is used, and some time before words are attempted. Life is short at best, and the time of study at our command, as well as willingness, shorter. These directly form a nucleus for a repertoire for a student in appreciation of which he hears at least, if his own study does not extend to the point of being an exponent himself, and to the student ever arriving at professional lines, his mind must be early given some idea from a musical standpoint, as well as voice, of what study for concert or oratorio means, as well as the familiar, "I am studying for opera."

How often do we hear the latter phrase, when, upon questioning, find the person has studied several years, and even then would require a season to memorize a couple of arias, and require no end of prodding to avoid discrepancies in time and rhythm.

Singing, as well as other branches of music and conscious knowledge of standard classics, just as necessary to the singer as to the pianist, not only from the tandpoint of musicianship, but to form mental colors which in themselves help place the voice itself.—Hannah Butler in the Musical Monitor.

ECONOMIC LEAGUE TO AID TEXAS INDUSTRY

LATEST ORGANIZATION FOR UPLIFT OF STATE WOULD GUARANTEE PRODUCERS' RIGHTS.

ENLIGHTEN THE PEOPLE FIRST

Publicity Bureau Will be Established to Try and Acquaint Public With What Commonwealth Needs.

Special to The Morning News.

Houston, Dec. 4.—The plan of prominent citizens from all parts of Texas to form an organization moulded along the lines of the National Economic league was perfected here yesterday in the formation of an association to be known as the Texas Economic league. The league has been in process of organization for some time, and several called meetings have been held, but final details, organization plans and methods of procedure were not decided on until the meeting here yesterday.

The organizers of the association are leading business men of Texas, among them being J. S. Cullinan, Jno. H. Kirby and Jno. S. Radford of this city; Royal A. Ferris, Dallas; E. W. Kirkpatrick, McKinney; Paul Waples, Fort Worth; Peter Radford, Austin; W. W. Cameron, Waco; Ben B. Cain, Dallas; L. M. Keasbey, Austin; J. A. Kemp, Wichita Falls; B. B. Paddock, Fort Worth, and Frank Holland, Dallas.

The slogan of the league will be "Citizenship First," and those applying for membership in the new organization will be asked to place citizenship, federal, state and community, in the order named, above class or partisan interests.

According to the local members, the league will not seek to take the place of any organization, past or present, and will have no affiliations with any other organization or movement now working in Texas. It will deal with existing economic conditions and those arising as a result of the European war and with the natural resources of the state and public policies that affect the welfare of the people.

Aid Productive Pursuits.

It will endeavor through the enlightenment of public opinion to promote the interests of those engaged in productive pursuits and allied industries and seek a more equitable distribution of the fruits of labor among those employed in producing, manufacturing and distributing the products of the farm, forest and mine.

The league will do general publicity work and a periodical will be issued quarterly to the members, giving the progress of the work and featuring able writers, representing opposing viewpoints, who will present facts and figures on which they will rest their arguments. A systematic effort will be made to diffuse such discussions as widely as possible and the people will be kept informed of all issues that are before the public affecting the interests of every line of industry, and class of business.

The membership of the league is open only to individuals, corporations not being eligible, and the membership will be divided into three classes, regular, sustaining and honorary. The regular membership dues are five dollars per annum, the sustaining membership one hundred dollars per annum and the honorary members are elected for life without dues.

The temporary officers of the association are J. S. Cullinon, Houston, chairman, and J. A. Arnold, Fort Worth, secretary. A meeting has been called to be held at Dallas December 28th, for the purpose of ratifying the Houston meeting and for perfecting a permanent organization.

Declaration of Principles.

The declaration of principles adopted by the league are as follows:

Believing that the results of the European war will change economic conditions throughout the world and thrust upon the United States opportunities that challenge the statesmanship of the nation and demand increased business efficiency of the people, industry and government, we hereby organize the Texas Economic league for the purpose of securing such material benefits to Texas and the United States as the blessings of the world peace and the natural advantages of our country possess; and for the more equitable distribution of the wealth we shall hereafter create to those engaged in the production and distribution of the products of the earth.

The objects of this organization shall be to aid in the creation and expression of an enlightened public opinion on the important economic and social questions of the day.

Believing as we do, that government is the most powerful agency of mankind for progress, we pledge ourselves to study more diligently the fundamental principles of society, as enumerated in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, and we hereby agree to place citizenship, federal, state and community in the order named, above class interests.

We affirm unbounded faith in our constitutional system of government and unlimited confidence in the patriotism and wisdom of the people. We consider that the ills we are now suffering are due, in a large measure, to the incompetent application of law and the faulty administration of justice and to indifference on the part of the citizenship to the welfare of society. We, therefore, pledge our organization to the task of acquainting the people of Texas with the causes that have contributed toward defeating justice and promoting injustice, and to a study of the fundamental principles of modern civilization. We will suggest such remedies as in our opinion will correct existing evils, increase efficiency in government and improve conditions of society and industry.

Producers Must Be Protected.

We submit that those engaged in producing, manufacturing and distributing the products of the farm, forest and mine occupy a position in society which must not be surrendered to and cannot, as a rule, be wisely and safely exercised by the unproductive classes, especially in this hour of supreme opportunity and extreme necessity. We deplore the abnormal power in government of the unrpoductive classes and resent their effort to theorize, dictate to, discredit or ignore those engaged in productive pursuits and allied industries. We denounce the efforts of the unrpoductive classes to array government against the productive classes as rebellious, un-American and inimical to the welfare of the nation.

We consider that the destiny of the human race is dependent upon the necessary units of society performing their inherent functions, and we favor organized efforts of the people to honestly associate themselves together in such manner as to develop the productive energy, ability and power of mankind. But we believe that most of the misfortunes of civilization are due to inordinate lust for power or incompetent conduct on the part of one or more of the subdivisions of society, and we pledge our best efforts to restore the different classes to their appointed tasks as contemplated by our system of government. It is our aim to expose and discourage improper conduct on the part of any profession, class, business occupation, service or subdivision of government or society, believing that such a policy will greatly increase general efficiency; insure a more equitable distribution of the fruits of labor and promote the prosperity of all the people.

We direct the attention of the people to the constitutional rights and powers of a citizen and reiterate that public officials are servants—not masters—of the people, and we suggest that any person or influence that seeks to invert this order is guilty of crime against good government. As sovereign citizens we demand capable, honest and impartial conduct on the part of those who accept public service and we place business efficiency and economy in government paramount to all other requirements.

We appeal to the citizens of every class, creed and condition to discharge the full responsibilities of citizenship and render to government the business patriotism essential to building on Texas sail the greatest civilization the world has ever known.

Thrilling Trip in Dodge Brothers Car

Toledo Newspaper Man Makes Record Time With Election Extras.

The Toledo News-Bee prints an interesting story of a thrilling trip made by Adam Volk, of the paper's delivery department, in carrying extras to the towns adjacent to Toledo after the recent election in that city.

The trip was made in a Dodge Brothers motor car and the News-Bee enthusiastically describes the trip as follows:

"Volk left the News-Bee with several thousand papers at 2:30 a. m. Driving at full speed he made Maumee in the record time of 11 minutes (about 7 miles). He passed through Bowling Green, Cygnet, Jersey City, North Baltimore and Van Buren and arrived in Findlay in one hour and twenty-five minutes (almost 50 miles of night driving over country roads.)

"Between Findlay and Tiffin, Volk encountered a bridge that was closed for repairs. To avoid an eighteen-mile detour he took to an open field, climbed onto the right-of-way of the Tiffin and Fostoria Electric railway and crossed on a 500-foot trestle. Clear of the bridge he ran down the embankment and through a corn field to reach the road.

"Returning to Toledo Volk examined the Dodge Brothers car thoroughly and found it absolutely uninjured by the ride through the country."

Studebakers Cover Excellent Roads of Southern California

Where once ancient stage coaches of the Studebaker and Concord type were wont to lumber over the old roads of California now thoroughly modern motor cars spin over magnificently paved boulevards, plow through the desert sands and climb the highlands over excellent mountain roads. In southern California alone there are now more than 100 Studebaker cars covering on an average of 60,000 miles a year on stage runs.

Warner M. Bateman, Studebaker dealer for San Diego county, describes an excellent highway 135 miles long, which connects San Diego and Los Angeles. This route is traversed by twenty-one Studebaker cars operated on a stage line between the two points. These cars are not all operated by any single company, however, rather are they run by the individual owners operating on a regular schedule by mutual agreement.

Agents at the terminal practically control the selling of tickets, which are good on any stage, and by this means all cars get their full quota of passengers and the line as an organization offers keen competition to the railroads for traffic between these two points.

One way railroad fare between San Diego and Los Angeles is $3.85, or $5 for the round trip, while on the stages it is but $2.50 one way and $4.50 for the round trip. Thus, passengers on the automobiles not only have an excellent trip through the open country but they save money in the bargain.

Thanksgiving day witnessed the opening of a new and even better highway between the points mentioned, and now that it has been announced that the San Diego fair is to remain open for another year this new route will no doubt be patronized by thousands of tourists and sight-seers.

There is also another line which makes a strong appeal to tourists—from Los Angeles to San Francisco, and this also is made by Studebaker cars over both valley and coast routes.

The motor stage is responsible for opening up many sections of California hitherto inaccessible, and as a result there has been considerable development in these places and incidentally the stages now carry considerable freight.

While in the cities the automobile has given great competition to the street cars, the competition of the automobile to the railroads for interurban traffic in California has been even greater owing to the great development of the motor stage industry in that state.

It is believed that California will naturally always lead in motor stage transportation on account of its favorable climatic conditions, as it is possible to travel in comfort in an open automobile in almost any part of the state during the entire twelve months in the year.

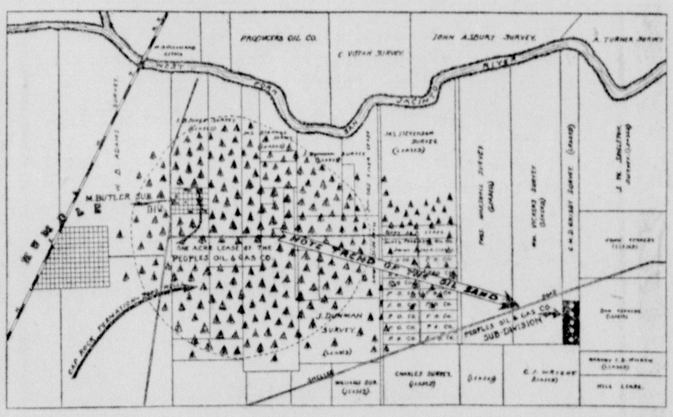

The Studebaker representative at Riverside, Cal., states that hardly a day passes that they do not handle from ten to one hundred tourists from all parts of the union. In most cases the only cars used for official tourist drives are Studebakers. The Rubidoux mountain drive at Riverside is but one of the tests that bring forth compliments for the Studebaker from the manner in which the grade is taken, as well as the hard turns in high gear with the car throttled down to five to eight miles an hour. And this is done with five to seven passengers as the usual load

Buy one lot, terms $5.00 cash and $5.00 a month for 5 months if it was in one and one-half miles of about fifteen oil wells at Humble, Texas that are gushing each from 3,000 to 10,000 barrels of oil daily, and 2,000 more wells in about three miles that have produced oil for fourteen years?

You not only get warranted title to your lot, but get your prorata share of all the oil that may come from 5 wells where your lot is, and from one acre in the "Cap Rock" proven Humble field, which our company owns and will drill on. This one acre is in the midst of 2,000 wells, some not over 100 feet from it. The map below shows the 25 acres of the Peoples' Oil and Gas Co. I invested here last August and many gushers have been brought in since, near the 25 acres.

Swiss Are Hard Hit by European War

Berne, Switzerland, Dec. 5.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Switzerland, surrounded on all sides by warring nations, obliged herself to arm against possible violations of her territory, forced into an economic neutrality in which she is scarcely able to suit anybody while suffering a great deal of harm herself, finds only one role that pleases everyone—that of the "Good Samaritan of Europe," relieving the sufferings her neighbors are causing to each other's subjects. The burden of maintaining communication between several million prisoners of war and their kindred fell upon the Red Cross committee of Geneva. Switzerland also rushed to the frontiers loaded with refreshments and comforts for refugees and mutilated soldiers, returning home through her neutral territory. What this has cost Switzerland in money cannot be reckoned. What it has lost commercially and financially in other directions it is difficult to estimate beyond the millions that her mobilization has cost her.

The Swiss people are particularly sensitive over the suspicions they have been exposed to by reason of their geographical position. The varied character of the population and the resulting division of sympathies in the conflict. There has undoubtedly been some contraband but no more than there would have been in any other country where private gain is tempted by high paid risks. A great deal of contraband has been prevented. By reason of commercial treaties Switzerland was unable to prevent the transportation across her territory of enormous quantities of merchandise that Italy sent to Germany in exchange for coal before she declared war on Austria. The inspection of that merchandise to detect contraband of war was a formidable task.

Regarding suspicions in France that importations from that country into Switzerland went to supply the Germans, the Swiss people point out that these importations for the first quarter of 1915 were 60 million francs less than for the first quarter of 1914. At the same time they complain of the stoppage by France of goods from across the Atlantic that were indispensable for the provisioning of the population and for the operation of their industries. These complaints were naturally more bitter from the German part of Switzerland.

From the beginning of the war Switzerland has been obliged to appeal constantly to the goodwill of both groups of powers at war while being at the same time tugged at from many different directions by as many conflicting interests. All this is what made possible, even necessary, the idea of an importing trust which bears the name of the Swiss Society of Economic Supervision. This, it is hoped, will remove the friction; it will not, of course, indemnify Switzerland for her direct outlays of a hundred million dollars in mobilization expenses, her charitable work nor her indirect losses in business stagnation. Her mobilization costs her an average of eight million dollars a month; if the war lasts two years the total will be nearly two hundred million dollars.

What Switzerland has lost in receipts from tourists was shown by the decrease of six million dollars in the receipts of federal railroads from August to December, 1914.

In July, 1914, the number of tourists registered at Zurich was 33,886; this year in the same month there were only 12,885 visitors. At Lausanne there were 8670 guests registered in July, 1914; this year there were only 2090.

Prof. Seipel is quoted as saying: "If the anguish of the sombre European tragedy didn't weigh so heavily on our hearts and consciences, life would never have been so agreeable in Switzerland as at present. We are like a little family that has bid adieu to its borders and found its charming intimacy again." The hotelkeepers are unable to look upon the situation with the same philosophy. All of them are in financial distress—some of them in desperate straits exposed to the ruinous competition of new houses or of old houses that may be bought at ruinous terms after peace that may be declared. Their situation prompted the suggestion of a hotel monopoly in order to improve the security to banks who are asked to renew advances.

All business in luxuries has been tried particularly.

In July, 1915, only 25,043 gold watch cases were stamped as compared to 67,060 in July, 1914.

Program for Week.

Monday and Tuesday—Return engagement of Griffith's "Birth of Texas," or "Martyrs of the Alamo." Ford Sterling in "His Father's Footsteps," Triangle-Keystone comedy.

Wednesday and Thursday—Julia Dean and Howard Hickman in "Matrimony," Triangle-Ince production. Mable Normand, Raymond Hitchcock and Mack Sennett in "Stolen Magic," Triangle-Keystone-Sennett production.

Friday and Saturday—Robert B. Mantell and Genevieve Hamper in "The Unfaithful Wife," William Fox production.

"The Martyrs of the Alamo."

As is to be expected in a picture by the name of "The Martyrs of the Alamo," the chief figures are Bowie, Smith, Crockett and Travis. But both in the history of Texas and in this portrayal of it that is showing at the Hippodrome for return date Monday and Tuesday, on the Triangle program, Silent Smith plays no small part. Even amid the horrible and tragic scenes of slaughter and the humiliating scenes of the Mexican's tyranny, this nonchalant, silent man makes us smile at his cunning and droll humor. It is not only humorous and picturesque, but absolutely true that this man called Silent Smith went into the camps of the Mexicans and pretending to be deaf and dumb gained the freedom of the camps and learned many important military secrets as well as liberated some of the American women who had been taken prisoners in the previous battle. Sam De Grasse, the New Brunswick "dentist-actor," so-called because his parents educated him for that profession and he practiced it for a few months, appears at his best in this difficult role and without doubt looms up as the most noticeable character in the portrayal.

Tom Wilson gives a splendid portrayal of Sam Houston, the man who in the greatness of his nature and his vision said, "Santa Anna must live for the future of Texas," and saved the tyrannical dictator from death by hanging. Walter Long, who is cast in the unpleasant role of Santa Anna, even excels his portrayal of Gus, the negro in "The Birth of a Nation." David Crockett, the beloved, brave, tall leader, is ably impersonated by A. D. Sears, and Bowie, sick with tuberculosis; Travis, Captain Dickinson and the old soldier are worthily imitated by Alfred Paget. John Dillon, Fred Burns and Augustus Carney. The two girls prominent in the production, Ora Crews and Juanita Hanson, do especially pleasing work as Mrs. Dickinson and Silent Smith's sweetheart. The picture is historically correct in detail, which is a guarantee of its thrills and bigness.

"Matrimony."

A new variation of the old eternal triangle theme is found in "Matrimony," the Kay-Bee production that is the feature of the Hippodrome program Wednesday and Thursday. While there is the "other woman" whom the wife thinks her husband is in love with, she is in reality only one among many; for the husband is not in love with one woman only, but likes women in general. Julia Dean plays with naturalness and spirit the part of the neglected wife, while Howard Hickman gives a splendid impersonation of the husband whose sense of right and wrong is finally awakened in a novel way. Louise Glaum excels in the role of the type associated with wine, women and song; sweet Eliazbeth Burbridge plays the younger sister, Antoinette, and little Thelma Salter does the best work of her short life as Viola, the 5-year-old daughter who unconsciously effects a reconciliation.

It is no simple part that Julia Dean has to play in "Matrimony." At first she is the ingenious, devoted wife who is attentive to every need and wish of her husband. Later she becomes the complex, fascinating siren that men follow after and worship, still being at heart very much in love with her husband and taking this means of winning him back. In the end she is again the devoted wife and showing a beautiful conception of mother love and tenderness. When the wife learns that it is not one woman, but all that her husband is attracted to, she is for some deep reason relieved and sets about winning him back to her by making herself attractive to other men. He is non-plussed at first, then indignant. Later he loses all interest in the gay crowd and the gay life and seeks happiness with his little girl at home. It is here at a birthday dinner for the child that the wife's ruse is disclosed and happiness is restored.

"Stolen Magic," the Keystone-Triangle comedy on the same bill with "Matrimony," features Mabel Normand, Raymond Hitchcock and Sennett.

"Mr. Grex of Monte Carlo."

Cast of characters:

Grand Duke Augustus Peter, otherwise "Mr. Grex" ..... Theodore Roberts
Grand Duchess Fedora, his daughter ..... Dorothy Davenport
Richard Lane a young American.. ..... Carlyle Blackwell
Herr Selingman ..... James Neill
Mons. Pitou ..... Horace B. Carpenter
Lord Huntersley ..... Frank Elliott

Synopsis of plot:

"Mr. Grex" is the incognito of Grand Duke Augustus Peter of Prussia. He and two other diplomats, unofficially representing France and Germany, plan to meet as if by chance in Monte Carlo for the purpose of arranging a secret pact and drawing up a new map of the world, with England and America left out. The English secret service gets wind of this meeting and Lord Huntersley is sent to Monte Carlo to unearth the plot and prevent the signing of the treaties.

Into this storm center comes Richard Lane, a forceful young American millionaire, strictly on pleasure bent and blissfully unaware of international complications, secret service activities and hidden diplomacy. He meets his old friend, Lord Huntersley. "Mr. Grex," seeing them together, decides that Lane is Lord Huntersley's spy and has him watched.

In the meantime Lane sees and falls violently in love with "Miss Grex,"—the Grand Duchess Fedora—who has been taken to Monte Carlo by her father as a blind. Lane is unable to obtain an introduction to the beautiful girl, but finally hears that she is to dine that night at La Turbie, a mountain resort. He hires a bandit to pretend to hold up Fedora's car that he may effect a rescue and meet her. The bandit agrees, but upon seeing the loot, decides to make the holdup a real one. Lane arrives on the scene, is informed of the change in plan and makes a real rescue. The firmness of his resolve to win her carries Fedora off her feet, but "Mr. Grex" tells her of his suspicions and orders his daughter to ignore him in the future.

Lane, elated at meeting "Miss Grex," tells Lord Huntersley and is greatly chagrined when he is informed that she is the Grand Duchess Fedora. "Mr. Grex" hears of this and orders Lord Huntersley and Lane "removed" before the third member of the diplomatic triangle arrives.

Lane unconsciously foils the plans of the diplomats in many ways. Another man is mistaken for the American and killed.

Finally, "Mr. Grex" and his associates decide to sign the treaty that night, free from annoyances, on a yacht. Lane hears of this and substitutes his own yacht and Lord Huntersley hears and interrupts the plans.

While the diplomats are on the yacht Lane induces Fedora to elope with him. An American parson is picked up. As the distinguished statesmen are being taken ashore in the dark, Lane, Fedora and the parson pass them. The two are married the instant the boat is outside the three-mile limit and Lord Huntersley is taken safely back to England.

Miss Besse Dainty, who is playing the Orpheum Theatre Tomorrow night, "Tess of the Storm Country" for the first half of the week, and "The Klu-Klux-Klan" for the last half of the week. Miss Dainty closes engagement here Saturday night, so this will be the last week to see her.

Theda Bara in "Sin."

The properties used in the William Fox production of Sin in which Theda Bara, the vampire woman, is starred, are the most elaborate and varied ever called for. The property list includes almost every conceivable article, ranging from an Italian necklace of gaily colored stones to a five thousand ton steamship, which latter is going some. A special property room had to be built at the William Fox studios to house the "props" for this single production alone, on account of the extent and elaborate nature of the effects used. When seen upon the screen this lavish attention to detail and carefully painstakin effort to leave nothing undone to make the picture effective, is one of the first things that strikes the spectator.

Lake Waramang, Conn., where many of the most strikingly beautiful scenes of the William Fox production of "Sin," starring Theda Bara, were made is far remote from civilization and its natives are primitive folk. Only faint echoes from the outside world ever reach their ears. William E. Shay, who plays Luigi in Miss Bara's support in "Sin," was talking about the war to an aged native one day.

"It will go down in history," he said, "as one of the most dreadful conflicts that man ever waged against man."

"Oh I dunno son, I dunno;" rejoined the native, shifting his quid.

"Why, what do you mean?" demanded Mr. Shay, shocked at such callousness.

"Wall," said the aged skeptic, "I guess you don't want to believe all of this newspaper-talk."

QUEEN.

"The Eternal City."

The elaborate Famous Players picturization of Hall Caine's well known novel, "The Eternal City," opened at the Astor theatre last Monday night and has since taxed the house capacity to the limit. As straight drama it created a furor, both in this country and abroad. As a photo spectacle it has scored a third triumph which promises to be enduring.

Few screen plays are exhibited without finding detractors ready to point out faults and the development of motion pictures to their present excellence has resulted in the growth of numberless critics who have been reared up, as it were, in step with the onward march of their favorite amusement. Therefore, the moving picture audience is apt to be keen and unsparing in judgment. But if there are any faults, mechanical, literary or dramatic in the big Caine picture, one never hears reference made to them in the snatches of conversation indulged in by its patrons when "talking it over," as the house is emptying. There is admiration expressed, but complaints are lacking, which is perhaps about the best proof that this great scenic marvel has hit the public fancy.

Directors Edwin S. Porter and Hugh Ford builded better than they knew when they pieced the production together. That long and patient effort went to the securing of the fine color effects obtained in the photography can easily be believed, but only a mechanical expert can quite realize what it meant to attain such a degree of perfection. Taken apart from the gripping story of the play, the views of the vatican, the Tiber by moonlight, the Villa d'Est at Tivoli and the many other spots of interest around Rome would be capable of holding an audience. They are veritable gems of art. The main plot of the book is followed in the screen production of "The Eternal City" with very few incidents of consequence eliminated.

Pauline Frederick's work in the role of Roma is the very climax of impressive emotional acting. It would be difficult to state at which point in the absorbing story of love and tragedy she reaches her greatest triumph. Whether in her portrayal of vindictive anger toward Rossi before she learns to love him, her outbursts of imperial rage against Bonelli, or the tender sadness of her self-sacrifice to save David's life—she is equally convincing and magnetic.

On a par with the leading lady's delineation of the character of Roma is the work of Thomas Holding as David Rossi. Holding will be remembered by lovers of the legitimate as starring in "Ben Hur" some years ago, when that drama was first staged in this country. At that time he won golden opinions from American critics and his appearance as Rossi adds fresh luster to his laurels.

Majeroni's air of sorrowful dignity and resignation to the decrees of fate furnishes an ideal Dr. Roselli. It is a part in which the pathos of the situation might easily become absurd in less competent hands, but Majeroni brings to its comprehension a subtle sense of delicacy which entitles him to high praise. Nor should Frank Losee be forgotten as the arch villain of the play—Baron Bonelli. A truly superb scoundrel, he strikes through the drama, powerful and resourceful. His personality carries with it undefinable suggestions of evil, and his final exit through the agency of a bullet brings about a distinct feeling of relief.

The remainder of the cast was in every way adequate to the demands made upon it. Lack of good support has been responsible for many plays falling flat, but this shortcoming will never be charged against "The Eternal City."

Considered from an executive standpoint, the great triumph of the picture is found in the staging of the immense throngs employed in the mob scenes. Everything moves with almost magical smoothness, there is no effort for effect, and the passions of the revolutionary citizens are portrayed with extraordinary and purely natural vigor.

Not an error can be detected by the most critical eye in the tinting and toning. Probably the most wonderful color effects in the world can be found in the moonlit and varied skies of Italy, and Mr. Porter availed himself of his opportunities with the trained eye of a true artist.

"The Eternal City" is now being presented simultaneously in ten cities. The bookings arranged by the Select Film agency already comprise New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Detroit, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Trenton, St. Louis, Memphis and Nashville. All indications point to one of the longest and most successful runs in this city ever experienced by a motion picture subject in its metropolitan presentation.—Morning Telegraph, April 18, 1915.

"The Eternal City" will be seen at the Queen Friday and Saturday.

At the Queen tomorrow and Tuesday, the next offering of Rolfe Photoplays, Inc., on the Metro program will be the superb dramatic actress, Ethel Barrymore, in "The Final Judgment," a vigorous, five-part photodrama, written by George Scarborough, formerly of Waco, author of "The Lure" and other successful Broadway productions.

In addition to Miss Barrymore there is a strong supporting cast of prominent and talented stage and screen artists which includes Percy G. Standing, H. Cooper Cliffe, Mahlon Hamilton, Paul Lawrence and Beatrice Maude. The picture is brimful of intensely interesting situations, affording Miss Barrymore an excellent opportunity to display her wonderful talents. The story is founded on the love of three men for the same woman, and the trio is composed of types that are at once vigorous, virile and distinctive. It is the best effort of the brilliant dramatist who has many achievements to his credit. Edwin Carewe directed the production.

"A Butterfly on the Wheel."

On Wednesday and Thrusday the Queen will present the five-part photoplay, "A Butterfly on the Wheel," based on the well known stage success of the same name. Maurice Tourneur, the famous director whose recent triumphs, "Trilby," "The Ivory Snuff Box," will be fresh in the memories of motion picture goers, is responsible for the direction of this picture, which will be found one of the most dramatic offerings on the World Film schedule.

The brief information that Holbrook Blinn plays the part of a husband who, perceiving his young wife in compromising circumstances with another man, divorces her and then is reconciled to her, and that dainty Vivian Martin is the wife, will give the reader a nint that a good play well played is to be expected from this famous director, but it does not suggest the care and painstaking detail which he always imparts to his work.

For Maurice Tourneur is an artist in pictures; he has a wonderful faculty of seeing life from a dramatic standpoint; he is a natural dramatist; stories, scenarios, plays are mere cues or suggestions to him; he makes pictures out of his own imagination, whatever the theme may be.

AUDITORIUM.

"It Pays to Advertise."

There is a world of illumination as to the methods of farce writing to be found in "It Pays to Advertise," which Messrs. Cohan and Harris announce for presentation at the Auditorium for one performance only, on Wednesday night, December 8. The audience is constantly led to expect something which it does not get. One observes the youthful hero evidently struggling to make his way in business only to learn the next minute that it is really his father who has been the cause of his ambitions. Then there is talk from the rival father of his successful son who has done so much to prove his business genius. So the audience sits in expectant suspense to see this model man enter, and lo and behold, instead of being the alert, smart man of affairs that is expected, Ellery Clark is in fact a languid person of artistic temperament and no sense of business whatever. This method of construction, which is the best that any of the writers has ever devised, runs through the play, and that is one reason why it is so successful.

ORPHEUM.

Besse Dainty Closes Saturday Night.

Miss Dainty will close her engagement at the Orpheum theatre next Saturday night and move to Galveston, where she opens the following week.

Two fine plays have been prepared for the closing week. Starting tomorrow night, "Tess of the Storm Country" will be offered, while the last half of the week "The Klu Klux Klan" will be presented. This play is one that should make a strong drawing card. "The Birth of a Nation" is nothing more than this play on the screen and the fact that the pictures were just here should make the play all the more interesting. A big scenic production will be painted to make it one of the biggest plays of the season.

"Tess of the Storm Country" has been pictured more than any other play up to the present time and was the play that made Mary Pickford famous as a moving picture star and the same may be said of Miss Dainty, as it is the play that made her a great favorite in Waco. Those who saw the play last year will want to see it again and those who did not see it will surely see it this week. The many friends of Miss Dainty here in Waco will hate to see her leave, but the work is too hard, as it means two new plays each week to satisfy the patrons of the house; therefore, the move was arranged. This being farewell week for Miss Dainty, the prospects are that large attendance will prevail all week.

The box office is open daily, where reservations can be made for any play or any night.

Letters from the People

To the Waco Morning News:

I note this publication this morning: "Wacoans Leaving for National Capitol. Mayor Riggins and W. W. Seley to Represent City at Rivers and Harbors Meet and Possibly ex-Mayor James B. Baker." Under this caption, further: "Ex-Mayor James B. Baker was one of the organizers of the Rivers and Harbors congress, and has attended every convention except two in the last twelve years. He said yesterday that he expected to go if it was possible to arrange his business affairs in time to make the trip."

I do not understand this mistake. I don't think I met a reporter yesterday at all.

I would go to Washington with the city government or any other body, defraying my own expenses, but for the following reasons: First, as you state, it is not my personal business affairs that keep me here, but it is Brazos river affairs entirely.

When I went to California last summer for my health, my friends and citizens promised to secure lock No. 6 below Marlin opposite Highbank, but they neglected it, and of all the time for quick action it should be now on account of the resurvey of the Brazos staring us in the face and threatening to abolish the whole project as well as many other rivers in the country. So, being as well posted and perfectly familiar with the case as I am, I am compelled to remain, as I consider at this time it is more important for me to remain and get the engineers to work on locks No. 3 and No. 6. Nevertheless, it is vastly important at this critical time that I should go to Washington.

It is true that our citizens gave me a bond valued at twelve million for lock No. 6, but we have to put it in shape to go to work. A few days since I went to Marlin and Highbank and closed a trade for the west side of the river for lock No. 6, abstracts and deeds being prepared to the United States government now, but on the east side, owned by Mrs. B. C. Clark, that is not fully settled, but will not be in time for me to go to Washington.

Our citizens knew the resurvey was to be made, but still they neglected lock and dam No. 6. I do well know that if we are actually at work on locks No. 3 and No. 6 when the river is resurveyed and using the appropriation already given us, we are not nearly so likely to have our project abolished at this time.

Now, if I am successful in time to have locks No. 3 and No. 6 under construction, I may likely go to Washington when the senate and house are in full sway. Hon. R. L. Henry and I both think it wise. Very truly, JAMES B. BAKER.

LEADING STARS OF STAGE WORLD TO TWINKLE HERE

AGGREGATION OF LUMINARIES INCLUDES ARBUCKLE, CRANE, ROSS AND BINGHAM.

Bronson Howard's Famous American Play "The New Henrietta," Offerfering at Auditorium Dec. 20.

Waco after all is to be visited by Joseph Brooks' galaxy of stars, Wm. H. Crane (dean of the American stage), Thomas W. Ross, Macyln Arbuckle (the noted Texan), Amelia Bingham and Mabel Taliaferro.

Contracts arranging for their appearance in Bronson Howard's famous American comedy "The New Henrietta," at the Auditorium December 20, were signed last evening by Miss Gussie Oscar, manager, and Edward C. Cooke, business manager of the combination, for Mr. Joseph Brooks, director of the tour.

When the ink was dry on the contracts Miss Oscar gave vent to a sigh of relief that startled everyone in the office. For several months she has held various dates for this pre-eminent organization of the American stage, only to have the date cancelled later on. She had about given up hope of securing the company, but owing to another change in the route, which called for the booking of three weeks of towns between Minneapolis and New Orleans, she succeeded in getting this city included in the tour.

Not since the time that Joseph Jefferson, Wm. J. Florence, Nat Goodwin, Julia Marlowe, Mrs. John Drew and Wm. H. Crane toured this country in a production of "The Rivals" has such an aggregation of stars been booked by any producing manager. For that reason the theatre-going public owe Mr. Joseph Brooks a debt of gratitude. As a reule, managers produce plays in New York and Chicago with superb casts, but when it comes to playing the smaller cities of the country a complete change in made with results that a play loses more than half its value.

The selection of Bronson Howard's masterpiece, "The Henrietta," for the exploitation of this organization could hardly be improved upon. "The New Henrietta" was first staged in 1887 at the old Union Square theare in New York, with Wm. H. Crane and Stuart Robson in the stellar roles. To bring the play up to date, Mr. Brooks engaged Winchell Smith and Victor Mapes to revise it. These two able playwrights are responsible for "The Boomerang," the big success of the season in New York, owned and controlled by David Belasco.

In order to make the engagement of this all star cast an event of importance, Miss Oscar intends advertising the date throughout the surrounding territory for a radius of one hundred miles. There is no doubt but several hundred out-of-town visitors will be attracted, and patronage of this sort is distinctly helpful to local merchants.

The cost of operating an organization of this magnitude is quite expensive, but notwithstanding that fact, an arrangement of prices scaling from 50 cents to $2.00 has been fixed to cover the engagement here. If any one of the stars was appearing alone, the same scale would prevail. Wherefore, the amusement seeking public can not fail to realize that in addition fo an unusual treat, they are getting an unusual bargain with this combination.

CHANUKKAH FESTIVAL WILL BE OBSERVED BY PROGRAM AT TEMPLE

The Festival of Chanukkah, one of the favorites of the Jewish calendar, will be observed by the Temple Rodef Shoiom Religious school by an elaborate program in the Temple beginning at 2:30 this afternoon. Following the program an entertainment will be given for the children.

Following is the program for the celebration:

Opening hymn, "Rock of Ages," intermediate class.

Prayer, Bernard Ginsberg.

Responsive reading, Dan Hawtof and school.

"The Story of Chanukkah," Lois Herz.

"The Lesson of Chanukkah," Blooma Kaplan.

Hymn, "Kindle the Taper," juniors.

"Kindling of Lights," primary and kindergarten.

Hymn, "Where Judah's Faithful," seniors.

Benediction, Sadie Berkman.

After the services an entertainment will be given for the children.

The program will begin at 2:30 sharp.

The Festival of Chanukkah takes place on Dec. 2 (corresponding to the Hebrew date, the 25th day of Kisley) and lasts eight days. It was established for historic reasons and celebrates the victories of the Maccabees over the Syrians. Antiochus, king of Syria, in the second century before the common era, aspired to dominate the countries of the East. He pursued the policy of suppressing all national distinctions and of foisting upon his subjects, in the various countries which had come under his control, the religion and civilization of Syria. This, through Greek in origin, was debased in spirit and practice. The Jews, proud of their traditions and devoted to their pieties and moralities, resented the intrusion and the violence of the Syrian conquerors, who were respecters neither of the conscience nor of the lives of the Jews. Under the leadership of Judas Maccabeus, they made good their loyalty to their faith and homes and met the Syrians on the battlefield. Their defense was valiant and successful, despite the fact that they were few and grappled with a powerful enemy. After signal victories, they achieved their emancipations, and re-affirmed the pious practices of their fathers and, true to the spirit of Judaism, they proceeded at once to the re-dedication of their Temple.

A legend says that, at the re-dedication of the Temple, a cruse of oil filled every lamp so that the great edifice was resplendent with light. In allusion to this, Jews signalize the festival by lights in their homes, increasing them progressively every evening of the festival week, culminating with eight lights on the eighth. It is the symbolic expression of the truth that self-respect, moral stamina and loyalty spread and enthuse everybody. Each can be an example and influence for the manly faith.

This revolution brought about also the establishment of the dynasty of the Maccabees, whose achievements during the course of more than a century were epoch making in the history of the Jews.

The Chanukkah Festival is one of the favorites in the Jewish calendar. Besides its high significance for men and women, it is also a children's holiday and the religious schools celebrate it with elaborate festivities and great heartiness. In the homes songs accompany the kindling of the lights and the ritual of the synagog is enhanced by the recital of selected Psalms. The social amenities of the week are happy and cheerful, and, in accordance with the genial spirit of the festival, comprise entertainment and benevolences in the home and community.

Sometimes There's a Rest for Busy Judge

In a long-drawn-out civil case which has been in the courts for several years and has gone through the whole gamut of hung juries, repeals, reversals and new trials, a judge must have a sense of humor in order to keep the hum-drum routine from wearing on him. Occasionally the long appeals of the attorneys are interspersed with a bit of sarcasm for variety and once in a great while a true bit of humor. These are veritable oases.

But from the scenes of much contention and testing atmospheres of one's faith in the general order of mortals and humankind, there is a side door that leads into the judge's private office—and sometimes it leads into a new atmosphere, one of hope and deep human interest.

In the late afternoon yesterday, after a long-drawn-out day of it, Judge George N. Denton deserted the dignified bench of the county court for a few minutes during a lull in the case and entered into this side door and incidentally into a new atmosphere. Roger, a small but apparently brave swain of dusky hue, with Carrie, an openly timid and grinning negro girl, just over the age limit, were awaiting the judge. The embarrassment of the two was only equalled by their eagerness—the "I do-es" were interspersed generously throughout the brief ceremony. When told by the genial judge that it was time to "salute" his bride, the newly made husband declined with a grin and the girl, playing with her fingers, turned away.

"Now," said the judge, "you're not quite married until you file this certificate back in the county clerk's office."

The young negro's timidity was gone. He grabbed the piece of paper in one hand, his bride with the other and "beat it" in the direction of the clerk's office.

M'COLLUM ANSWERS RIGGINS

Editor of Tribune Says Every Word About Garbage Plant is True and Defends Staff Correspondent.

Last Sunday the Morning News published a greatly deleted statement from Mayor J. W. Riggins criticising a recent article on the city garbage plant, as published in a recent issue of the Waco Tribune as misrepresenting the facts in the case and highly prejudiced to the interests of the community. In yesterday's Tribune Editor A. R. McCollum has a signed editorial statement giving the paper's side of the controversy, and that our readers may have the benefit of both sides of the controversy, we are publishing Mr. McCollum's statement below. With that, the matter is dismissed, so far as the Morning News is concerned.—Editor.

Viewpoint of Tribune.

Mr. McCollum's statement follows:

It is not probable that Mayor Riggins expected the Tribune to print the statement he read to the city commission Thursday, respecting conditions at the city garbage plant. But inasmuch as publicity has been given to that statement, every consideration of duty to the public, self-respect and justice calls for notice here and now, albeit as brief as the situation demands.

The Tribune has not recalled or modified in any measure any statement made in any article criticised by the mayor. The statements made by this paper as to conditions were true, and were made from a sense of duty to the public.

The chief feature of the mayor's statement is criticism and personal disparagement of Mr. James Hays Quarles, of the Tribune editorial staff, who wrote the articles criticised by the mayor. It is not my custom to leave a friend in the lurch when I think he is in the right, and especially when he is acting, directly or indirectly, for me, and I am not going to do so now. Mr. Quarles exercised his right as a citizen to criticise any public matter and acted further in the line of duty—duty to the public, as he and I saw it—as a newspaper writer. He did not criticise the mayor, nor have the mayor in mind. It is deplorable, it is unusual, that he should be arraigned as he was (even if not called by name), and it is an unusual interpretation of official duty and prerogative that brought such criticism.

There may be those who read what Mr. Quarles wrote or writes who do not agree with his views, on this or that matter. Difference of opinion is legitimate and sometimes wholesome in effects. But Mr. Quarles is known in this community, where most of his life has been spent, as a reputable gentleman and useful citizen, and it will be conceded that his standing in these respects will not suffer by comparison with that of other citizens here.

I might add that there are instances of his thoughtful and generous consideration, manifested at times and under circumstances that should make such consideration to his credit and grateful to those who were the beneficiaries.

I am as responsible as he was, perhaps more so, for the appearance of the articles. They were printed from a sense of duty, keeping in mind the responsibility of a reputable newspaper to truth, to public opinion and the public weal.

The Tribune has no quarrel with the mayor. It has not disposition or time to engage in disputation with him. It has been his friend more than once when it believed he was right, and this episode will not change its course. Under no circumstances is it likely to be his or anybody's enemy.

But it wants the mayor to realize that the Tribune thinks it knows s duties and its rights, moral and legal, as a reputable, responsible newspaper. The only censors in this country are the laws and representative public opinion.

A. R. McCOLLUM.
Editor of the Tribune.

WHAT IS STYLE?

Difficult to Define Because It is So Intangible.

What makes a woman stylish? Applied to dress, style is a curiously elusive quality, either to define or to acquire.

"A stylish garment!" we say, of one made in the fashion of the day. But when we ask, "What is the style of the garment?" we are inquiring for a description that may be of this year's style, or last year's, or of the last century's. A dress may be "in style" so far as its material, cut and trimming go, and yet not look stylish when worn, either because it is worn by the wrong person or in the wrong way.

"A stylish woman," we say, of one dressed a la mode, and yet in the next breath we describe another woman as "good style," although she is not wearing the latest fabrics or newest cut, and often is not herself beautiful.

Style is not a simple quality, but a compound one. "We say style," says an old writer, "of anything in which form or matter is conceived to be, in however slight degree, expressive of taste and sentiment." And it is taste and sentiment more than a specific mode that go to the making of style in dress—that intangible something so hard to define, so seldom acquired and so much desired because it is so widely admired.

The French word chic expresses, as Americans and English use it today, a good deal of what we have in mind when we say "stylish." It implies a certain knack in the selection and manner of wearing clothes. The meaning in French includes the idea of subtlety and finesse, and it is these qualities more than the ejatant (striking) effect that are suggested by the best-dressed women, so often lacking in those of expensively dressed Americans.—Good Health.

NO STRAIGHT-FACE CAN SURVIVE THIS FARCE

IF you want to be thoroughly entertained and made to forget your troubles, your pet corn and the weather report, take a night off when it comes this way and see Cohan & Harris' latest laugh promoter, "It Pays to Advertise."

"It Pays to Advertise' really needs no boosting, for it advertises itself, being one of the brightest, most enjoyable plays produced in many seasons. It is not a "high brow" play. It is just a sweet, clean comedy of the farce variety that every one can understand and appreciate. Wittily written and excellently acted, with enough romance to make it attractive to the sentimental loving portion of an audience—and which of us is not interested in a lover?—especially if we can laugh with him and at him.

"It Pays to Advertise" was written by Roi Cooper Megrue and Walter Hackett, who have told a succinctly delicious story into which is woven love, laughter and the philosophy of advertising that teaches a lesson and points the way to big activities in the business world at one and the same time.

The story of the play has to do with the idle son of a rich man, who, goaded into an active business career by his fond father, starts an advertising campaign that creates a sensation in the commercial world that astonished no one more than the young man himself. Few theatrical offerings of recent seasons have furnished so good an evening's entertainment. Primarily the farce is funny—not merely funny, but exceedingly funny—and also it is clean and wholesome.

For many, many moons there has existed in the domain of theatricals a mythical figure known as "the tired business man." The tired business man, according to all traditions, is the acme of carping criticism, a most difficult person to please and at the same time one whose amusement must be of the lightest order.

There is no adequate reason for this presumption save time honored custom, and this custom is defied in "It Pays to Advertise," which is a straight farce comedy without a scrap of music, and if there is a tired business man in all this broad land who won't find a viewing of this play a better nerve tonic, general bracer and health restorer than any musical comedy that ever saw the light of day we are willing to be placed among the false prophets.

Cohan & Harris, who produce "It Pays to Advertise," have made a reputation for bringing out corking good plays of the lighter variety, and this one adds another to their long list of successes.

PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION ENDS

MORE THAN 17,000,000 VISITORS AND PROFIT TO BE SHOWN WILL BE ABOUT $2,000,000.

TO SAVE PALACE OF FINE ARTS

Most of Buildings Will be Destroyed as They Stand on Land Owned by Government.

By The Associated Press.

San Francisco, Dec. 4.—The Panama-Pacific international exposition closed tonight. Hundreds of thousands of incandescent lights twinkled and trembled the farewell signal a few minutes before midnight and at 12 o'clock the lights went out for the last time. The exposition of 288 days' duration officially was at an end, though the farewell carnival continued in the morning hours.

With the extinguishing of the electric lights there was a flash in the sky of thousands of rockets, bombs and star shells. More than half a ton of powder was used to hurl them into the air, making a salvo which W. D. A. Ryan, the director of illumination, said was the heaviest and most elaborate pyrotechnic display ever attempted.

Hundreds of searchlights which had pointed to the art of the sculptor and shone on the Tower of Jewels and the domes and minarets each night since February 20, when the exposition began, were also dimmed in the closing moments, and for thirty seconds the 635 acres of exposition grounds were in total darkness. Then patrol lights here and there along the avenues and byways and in the courts began to glow so that the thousands of merry-makers could make their way about. Throngs remained to go on with the dances in the open spaces and in the courts and to wander about the grounds in the farewell festivities.

The carnival spirit prevailed, in keeping with the decree of President Charles C. Moore and the exposition directors, who said: "Let there be cheers instead of tears. The exposition has been a success."

Profit in Millions.

In a financial way it is expected the exposition will show a profit of something like $2,000,000—perhaps more. All indebtedness was paid before the exposition was two-thirds over. The expense of preparing the site and the buildings for the opening date was said to be approximately $50,000,000. There was no federal appropriation for the undertaking, although the various departments of the United States government made displays for which $500,000 had been allowed for maintenance.

The exposition attendance was beyond all hopes of the management, especially after the outbreak of the war, when, for a time, there was talk of postponement of the opening date. On a daily average the attendance has been more than 62,000. Within twelve days after February 20, 1,000,000 persons passed through the gates. The 17,000,000 mark was reached November 19.

San Francisco's exposition in every particular was an exposition of progress. All exhibits entered for award were contemporaneous articles originated or produced since the St. Louis exposition ten years ago.

In the general color scheme it was different from any effect ever attempted on so large a scale. The night illumination, with subdued lights everywhere, reflected on the buildings also was unique. Many experts and artists, among them Thomas A. Edison, declared the night scene the most entrancing display of light effects they ever had seen.

Color Scheme Alluring.

To carry out his idea of colors for the exposition palaces, Jules Guerin, director of color, took into consideration the climatic and atmospheric conditions found in San Francisco near the Golden Gate and worked in warm colors in an imitation of travertine marble. This marble was much used in Roman palaces of the Augustan period and it gave Guerin what has been described as a pinkish-gray-buff surface which carried a suggestion of warmth. This shaded off into reddish-brown sometimes and yellow-golden-orange was used extensively in enriching it and working out lights and shadows. Oxidized-copper-green, for domes and lattices, cerulean blue for ceilings of courts and burnt orange for small domes and moldings, gave an Oriental richness to the exposition, but the whole scheme was soft and alluring. Excepting perhaps one tower, which was generally deplored by architects, including, it was said, the designer, there was nothing anywhere to dazzle or blaze.

The decorative sculptures of the exposition, many of which were created for the exposition and were of a character depicting the spirit of the west or life on the Pacific coast, attracted much attention. There were more than 15,000 individual pieces of sculpture or groups placed at various points about the grounds.

Thirty-nine men and women of recognized ability at home and abroad contributed as sculptors. The late Karl Bitter, killed in New York in an automobile accident, soon after the opening of the exposition, was in charge of this department, with A. Stirling Calder as acting chief of the work.

The plan of the exposition sculpture was designed to form a sequence from the first piece that greeted the visitor on his entrance from the city, throughout the five interior courts and the circuit of enclosing walls. Two of the most imposing works were the groups of "Nations of the West" and the "Nations of the East," which faced each other 160 feet above the sunken gardens of the Court of the Universe. Everywhere the idea of the achievement of the building of the Panama canal was embodied.

Sentiment in Trees.

A bit of sentiment, one which will outlast the exposition many generations, is a grove of young trees occupying government territory. Each tree was planted by some honored guest of the exposition directors. The first to plant a tree was Vice President Thomas R. Marshall in April. Others to plant trees in the federal grove were Theodore Roosevelt, William Jennings Bryan, Major General George W. Goethals, William G. McAdoo and Thomas A. Edison.

The Palace of Education was classed by educators as a temporary university whose accomplishments will always be one of the enduring features of the exposition. Every phase and branch of educational work was taken up there, the tutors being always the best the country could afford. By means of moving pictures adults as well as children were given daily lessons in geography, social hygiene, physiology, chemistry, agriculture, horticulture and school system. There were five moving picture theatres within the building.

In addition to those mentioned, the governor of every state represented at the exposition planted a tree in the garden surrounding his respective state building and the American Press Humorists planted a fir tree, known as the "chestnut tree," on the lawn near the Press building. Each of these trees is to be transplanted in the federal grove.

Many Sporting Events.

Among the sporting events at the exposition were the Vanderbilt and Grand prize automobile cup races held soon after the opening date on a course embracing a circuit of the exposition grounds. Other events of more than local interest included yacht races for which cups were given by President Wilson and King George of England. The sloop Nordug II was sent from Christiania, Norway, to take part, which she did successfully. For three weeks during the summer running races featured and later in the season there were harness races with $227,000 in purses. A livestock show with $480,000 in prizes, horse show and international sheep shearing contests were also held.

Among the world developments portrayed at the exposition were the Diesel engine in actual operation; trans-continental telephone, development of nitrates from air, color photography, motor truck and gasoline driven farm machinery; cure for hookworm in the south; oxy-acetylene gas burner; vocational training in schools; advance in steam locomation; telegraphone; wireless telephone; wireless telegraphy; synthetic camphor; dyes from coal tar and the pure food movement. Daily demonstrations of the trans-continental telephone were given in the Palace of Liberal Arts, where audiences listened to a speaker in New York reading headlines from the latest editions of the newspapers.

Thirty-Nine Nations.

Thirty-nine foreign nations participated officially in the exposition, several of the warring nations of Europe, chief among them being France and Turkey, having buildings. Thirty-seven states of the union were represented, virtually all of them having their own state buildings.

It was estimated there were 80,000 different exhibitors the displays of which were valued at something like $350,000,000.

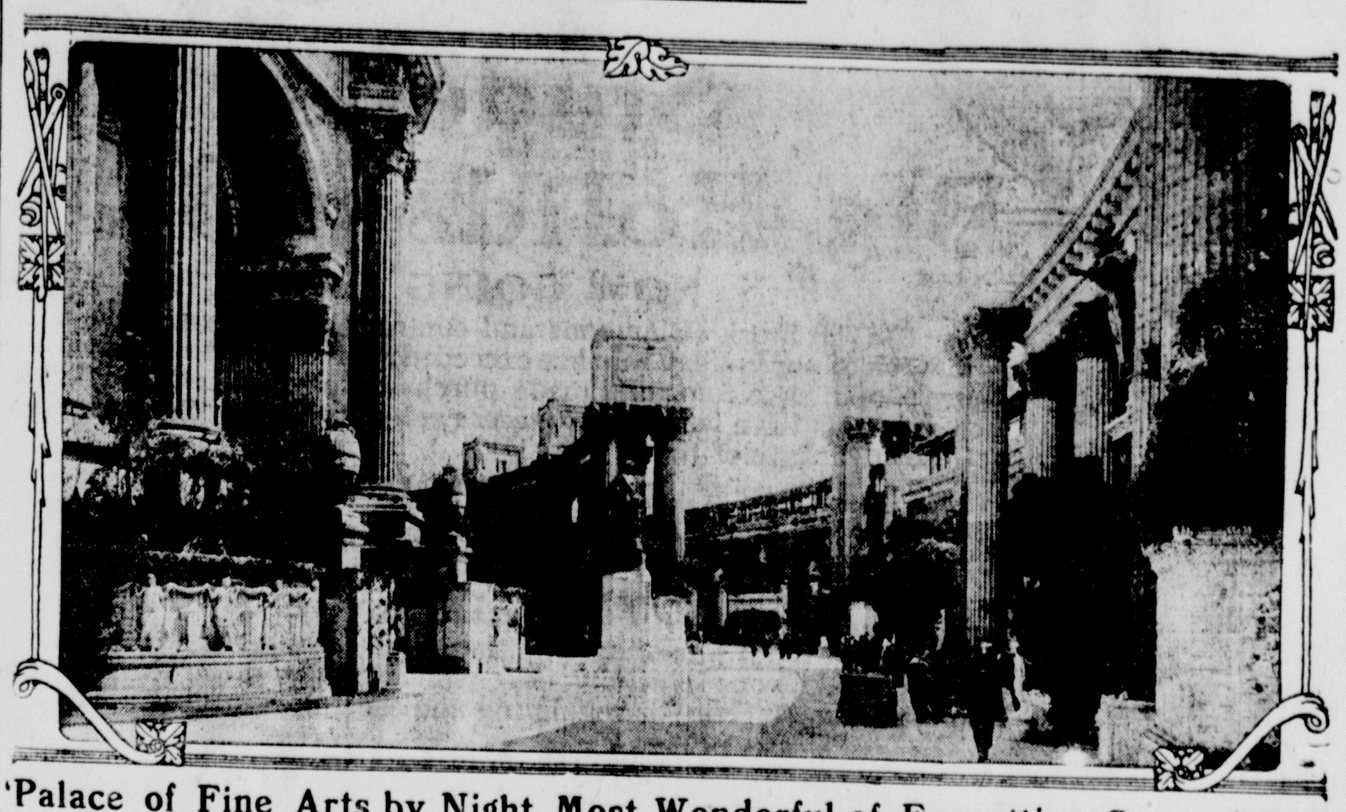

With reference to some of the benefits to be derived by San Francisco as a result of the exposition, the foreign trade department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce has issued a circular which says:

"Without taking into consideration the millions of dollars spent in San Francisco for the construction of the exposition, and the further millions spent by those who have come here to see it; without considering the educational advantages afforded, the exposition has more than justified its construction for the benefit it has been to San Francisco from a 'foreign commercial' point of view. It is not to be expected that the beneficial results will all make themselves apparent at once; it may take years for some of them to develop, but the seed has been sown in fertile soil and the returns will be large and certain even though slow."

Most of the exposition's buildings are to be demolished. A movement has been started, however, to preserve the Palace of Fine Arts, perhaps the most imposing building of them all, which stands on government land.

As for the majority of the other buildings, the management is under contract to clear the land within four months, and the workman's hammer will echo in the courts after tomorrow instead of the bands of music which have been there for the last ten months.

DOGS WEARING SPECTACLES.

One Owner Complains That Canine's Glasses Weren't as Represented.

Spectacles for dogs may become the subject of an investigation by the office of District Attorney Charles F. Clyne, to whom charges were made that a company at Elmira, N. Y., had advertised spectacles for dogs, and that a pair purchased had proved worthless and not as represented.

The person who made the complaint is a woman, Mr. Clyne said, but he refused to give out her name. If the facts warrant it an investigation will be made, he said.

"Glasses for dogs outside of comic pictures or children's books were new to me," Mr. Clyne said, "until the complaint was made. The other day I had occasion to go to the office of an oculist in the company of a friend. To our amazement, a bull terrier was being fitted with a pair of large lens glasses, which were strapped to a shoulder harness which he wore."—Chicago Post.

Diamond Tires Work Well With Tire Chains

"Now is the time of year," says local manager of the Diamond Control, "when we begin to see the chain cut tires come in, and if you want to know the fundamental reason why, just take a piece of rubber from any tire in one hand, and a piece of chain in the other, then try to push them together with a five hundred to a thousand pound pressure, and you have only a slight idea of the constant battle between chains and tires.

"If a man feels that he must use chains, Diamond tires will stand up to them beautifully if they are properly put on; and for applying them you can't do better than to follow the advice of the chain manufacturer.

"But remember that the fundamental principle of using chains without injury to tires is to have them so fitted that they will creep around the tire and not bruise it continually in one place. There is little danger of this on smooth tread tires, but with the almost endless assortment of rough "anti-skid" tread on the market, there is danger in getting a tire whose projections will hold the chain stationary.

"Some rough treads, however, offer chains no obstruction to hold to, while still performing their anti-skid functions. It will be well for every motorist to look to his own tires in this respect; and in buying new tires for winter wear, this should be one of the features to be considered. The Squeegee tread on Diamond tires is a good example of an anti-skid that will not hold the chain in one spot.

"Chains that are too lose are dangeruos, also, for there is a tendency for the tire to spin around on the chain and rip off the rough tread.

"But above all, chains should never be used on city streets or hard, bare roads, after the trick mire and slush of the open country is past. By promptly removing them from the tires then, much unnecessary wear will be saved."

Minnesota's 1914 poultry and egg output was valued at $35,000,000.

ESPERANTO CAN BE USED BY ALL NATIONS

DR. TORBETT, MARLIN, SOUTHWESTERN COUNCILLOR, POINTS OUT ITS BEAUTIES.

IS A VERY SIMPLE LANGUAGE

Grammar Can be Mastered in Half Hour—Object to Provide Medium of International Communicaton.

To the Waco Morning News:

A few weeks ago the writer, while in San Francisco, attended the eleventh annual session of the Universal Esperanto association (U. E. A.), and the eighth annual session of the Esperanto Association of North America.

The assistant secretary of labor was present to represent the United States. Letters of inquiry in that language to that department are now answered in the same.

I heard speeches, songs, operas, jokes, etc., in that beautiful and simple language, which sounds very much like Spanish. I was surprised to learn of its great and beneficial service to humanity. In Europe at the present time it is estimated 11,000,000 people speak Esperanto.

It is not a new language intended to take the place of any existing language, but is an universal language, intended strictly for international communication. Every word is spelled phoneticaly, has one meaning, and is derived, when possible, from Latin or one of the six dominant languages of Europe. It has 1891 root words. All nouns end in o, all adjectives in a, adverbs in e, and all verbs are regular. The entire grammar can be learned in half an hour.

Esperanto has more than forty prefixes and suffixes, by means of which the root words are built into shades of meanings recognizable at a glance if the parts are known.

For instance, hundo from the German hund, is dog; id means the young, hence hundido means a pup, an entire change of word in the English.

This language has been in use 28 years, and is now spoken by more people than the combined populations of Denmark, Greece, Belgium and Switzerland. It has been proven practical by ten world congresses, to which several governments, including the Unitde States, have sent official representatives. These congresses, which have been held yearly since 1905, have been attended by 1000 to 4000 delegates, from 20 to 45 countries.

It is the only international language ever proposed that has been more than a mere project, is gaining ground the world over, has before it a great future, and has over 200 periodical publications appearing in all parts of the world. It is valuable as an aid to travel through foreign lands, thanks to the agents of the Universala Esperanto Asocio. It has a literature, translated and original, of over 5000 books, among them the best works of Shakespeare, Moliere, Dumas, Poe, Hugo, Tolstoi, Heine, Ibsen, etc. It offers the best possible preparation for the study of any national language and is used by both the French and German governments for the dissemination of their war reports.

Esperanto is used by the Red Cross and by hundreds of doctors and nurses now on the battlefields in Europe, and is used in the Repatriation Bureau in Switzerland in the work of returning captured and disabled soldiers to their homes. The Rubber Plant.

"Some youngsters still believe that rubber is somehow made from the thick, waxy leaves of the rubber plant growing in the home window garden," said F. Haskell Smith, factory superintendent of the Federal Rubber Manufacturing company, Milwaukee, "which isn't remarkable, considering the general misconception regarding rubber from those who are familiar with it only as finally manufactured into tires or other things.

"Wild rubber still furnishes much of the raw material. The forests in Para and other Brazilian districts supply this native rubber.

"But rubber has now been successfully domesticated, and is grown on East India plantations just as any other cultivated crop or plant is grown.

"In both cases, 'wild' or 'plantation,' rubber comes from the tree in a creamy, viscuous, syrupy form, nearly pure white in color. The natives who gather and ship 'wild' rubber don't give their product the same protection as that given to farm-grown rubber, so it comes to the market smoky, dirty, sometimes almost black.

"The 'plantation' rubber comes to the market in yellowish-white sheets of nearly the same color as the sap from which they are made.

"We get both kinds of rubber in our big Federal factory and do nothing to either excepting to cleanse both of all impurities, to make and keep the natural color and strength—especially in the rubber we use to combine with other material in making automobile tires. For this purpose, we need all the resiliency, toughness and wear with which Nature has endowed rubber.

"This is why the Federal is 'the whitest tire you know,' and why it is our desire to use and keep our rubber pure and strong, making the Federal factory 'the rubber plant' in the minds of tire users who want to get all the mileage out of rubber which Nature put there."

FEW PARTICIPATE IN CHINESE ELECTION

WITH OVER MILLION INHABITANTS PEKING ONLY CASTS TOTAL OF 1602 VOTES.

Representatives From Tibet to be Chosen in Capital Instead of That Country.

Peking, Nov. 30.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Explanations and counter explanations concerning the current elections have been forced by the attacks the press has made on the non-representative character of the vote so far reported. The Peking Daily News, the chief organ of the government in the Chinese capital, seeks to justify the recent primary held in Peking to designate delegates which will pass on the proposed change of the republic to a monarchy. In discussing the fact that only 1602 votes in all were reported in the Peking primary, a city with more than a million inhabitants, that paper says:

"Assuming as correct the figures of sixteen hundred odd votes cast in the metropolitan district of Ta-Hsing and Wan-Ping, this was not a bad showing in Chinese civil virtue considering the high qualifications that voters have to posses, the lack of training of Chinese citizens in regard to elections and the fact that this is the second time that Chinese have cast votes in all their centuries of history."

The Peking and Tien-tsin Daily Times continues its attacks upon the character of the Peking primary, saying in a leading editorial: "It is simply ludicrous that a pretense should be made that the government is consulting the wishes of the nation as to the form of government when sixteen hundred odd voters attend the poll out of a population of approximately one and a quarter millions. On this basis London would only poll a total of 5700 odd for the whole administrative county. To suggest that such voting can be regarded as an expression of the will of the people is an insult to one's intelligence. If voting throughout the rest of China is in the same proportion, the fate of the nation will be decided by less than half a million persons out of a population of 342,000,000, or roughly, one person in 800 will have a say in the momentous change which has now been decided upon.

"The process of king-making has been decided upon and will doubtless be carried through. Pious manifestos will be issued calling upon all concerned to consider the respective merits of republicanism and a constitutional monarchy. There will be a great show of reluctance in accepting the crown, and the prospective emperor will at last yield to 'the peoples' will.' The stage management, however, is designed principally for the hoodwinking of the foreigners, who might be disposed to criticize harshly an abrupt reversion to a monarchy at such a time as this, scarcely two years after the powers had recognized the republic, especially if no evidence could be adduced to show that there was a popular demand for such a step. It is imperative, however, that the foreign governments and peoples should not be deceived by the farce which is being played in China."

In a detailed explanation of how the election is being conducted the Peking Daily News says the 2050 representatives who are to pass on the form of government will be divided among nine classes as follows:

"First—One representative from each hsien, or district, in the provinces and special administrative territories, amounting in all to 1834, the number of hsiens in China.

"Second—Thirty-two representatives from Outer and Inner Mongolia.

"Third—Twelve representatives from Tibet.

"Fourth—Four representatives from Kokonour.

"Five—Four representatives from Mohammedans.

"Six—Twenty-four representatives from the eight Banners.

"Seven—Sixty representatives from the Chambers of Commerce and Chinese representatives abroad.

"Eight—Thirty representatives from those who have performed certain services to the state.

"Nine—Twenty representatives from learned scholars."

For all the persons of the first class there are to be primaries and then a second or final election. The primary for this class, held in Peking on October 20, caused the agitation which the government is trying to quiet.

All the delegates in the eight other classes are to be chosen at an election, which will be held in Peking probably this month.

In discussing the election of these delegates at Pekin, the News says: "One of the reasons for the selection of Peking is the obvious inconvenience and in some cases the impossibility of holding elections at any other place, and it will be remembered that these classes were elected at Peking in previous elections."

The view of the critics of the present election concerning this plan to name men in Peking to represent the various tribes and special classes is voiced by the Peking and Tient-tsin Times: "There is no other place where the farce of electing representatives of the Tibetans, Mongols, Manchus, Bannerman, Chamber of Commerce, literati and meritorious could be held without covering the whole scheme with the ridicule it deserves. The fact that such elections have been held in Peking before is no defense. If we remember rightly the members of the now defunct parliament had some scathing comments to make upon the election of Tibetan and Mongol representatives in Peking on the last occasion. We do not know the exact figures of the Tibetan population in the capital, but it may be doubted whether the Dalai Lama, the Panshen Lama, and the other dignitaries and chieftains have forwarded proxies or powers of attorney for this stupendous event.

"Foreign and Chinese spectators may be invited to attend the election of the eight classes mentioned, and may be favorably impressed with the gravity of the demeanor and decorum with which the farce is carried out. But those who look beneath the surface will at least wonder who is responsible for the topsy turvey state of affairs under which the Tibetans, Mongols, etc., are elected hundreds and even thousands of miles away from the electorates, and carefully selected representatives of the literati, commercial classes and meritorious have the effrontery to pose as mouthpiece of the nation's will upon such an occasion."

Press and Teachers Praise Concerts by Evans and Fischer

By the Tulsa, Oklahoma, Daily Democrat, Tulsa, Okla.

Citizens and musicians are indebted to the Hyechkel club for bringing two such artists as Harry Evans, baritone, and Otto L. Fischer, pianist, to the city for joint recital. There was a good sized audience, though not a full house, but what was lacking in numbers was made up in artistic appreciation and critical insight into the splendid work done by the soloists.

Mr. Evans sang with exquisite expression; his greatest effect attained in the subdued and smooth passages, showing long and painstaking study directed by a highly intellectual mind. His enunciation and declamatory powers were exceptionally fine. Perhaps the consensus of opinion would give the preference to the difficult "Monotone," "The Diver" and "The Arrow and the Song."

Not for years has there been heard such playing in Tulsa as was done by Otto L. Fischer last night. His beautiful singing tone, his repose and surety, his taste and well-balanced temperament, made his interpretations superb. It would be extremely difficult to select any special number, but the "Polonaise, op. 53," the "Legend" and the "Rhapsody in F Sharp Minor" were masterful. His own "Serenade" was as light and fantastic as moonbeams on rippling water.

Mrs. Mary R. McKee, who wrote the following letter, formerly taught in the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, Cincinnati, O., and was when this letter was written president of the Wichita Falls College of Music and Art, Wichita Falls, Texas, which institution has made exceedingly rapid progress since its origin:

Wichita Falls, Texas.

Mr. Iris Pendleton, Wichita, Kan.

My dear Mr. Pendleton:

I want to thank you so much for sending two such splendid artists. I cannot tell you how much I enjoyed the concert. It was to me like an oasis in a great desert. All the people were so enthused over it. Mr. Evans and Mr Fischer are both such delightful gentlemen, that it is a treat to meet them as well as to hear them. I trust that it may be our privilege to have them again next season, for such work as they did is a great inspiration and help to students. All our teachers have reported better lessons on the part of those who attended the concert.

What kind of a combination will you have to offer us for next season? I do not know just when I will be able to go to work on it.

Thanking you again and again for the concert.

Cordially yours,

(Signed) Mrs. Mary R. McKee.

Pres. Wichita Falls College of Music and Art.

Sanger Buyer on Third Trip to Market for This Season

M. Forum, buyer for Sanger's ready-to-wear department, is again in the New York markets making a new record of three trips in one season. Just at this season the big manufacturers are making a final clean-up of all winter models in cloaks, suits and dresses, and with Mr. Fromm's reputation as an expert in his line, it goes without saying that Waco women will have an opportunity of buying the very latest models—entirely new ideas—at prices even lower than the biggest cut prices on styles that were purchased when the season opened.

The Sanger store has broken all records in sales in the ready-to-wear department, which necessitated this third trip to the markets. Mr. Fromm will also take advantage of seeing the advanced spring models of all the leading ready-to-wear houses and placing orders for early delivery of the new spring styles.

It looks like prosperity has arrived, judging from the great crowds which have thronged all departments of the Sanger store for the past six weeks, to say nothing of what is coming in the way of Christmas shopping.

Cohan's "Ad" Play a Lesson and a Scream

Modern Drama by Famous Producer at Auditorium Wednesday Night Only.

By Dudley Glass.

There's so much fun and devilment in "It Pays to Advertise," mixed with so much sound sense and business judgment, that one hardly knows sometimes whether he's enjoying himself or listening to an ad solicitor. Surely no such string of statistics and argument was ever strung into a play—and a good play, at that. For "It Pays to Advertise" is funny nearly every minute of its three acts, so funny that the audienie laughed until the tears come.

The plot, peppered liberally with Cohan stuff, is something like this:

Papa, the Soap King, has Willie-boy offspring who won't work. Papa frames with Sweet Mary, private secretary, to let Son fall in love with her, fires both of them and tells Son never to darken his well-known door again. Son opens offices, starts in to buck Soap Trust and bust Daddy. Advertise to Beat the Band. Capital runs out. Creditors at the Door, Sheriff on the way——

Presto: Order from Marshall Field for quarter million cases '13 Soap. Papa converted to merits of advertising. Big money and Wedding Bells.

The company is an excellent one, and its bright spot is Frank Allworth, who plays Ambrose Peale, late press agent for "The Belle of Broadway," who lives, breathes, eats and sleeps advertising. He exudes it from every pore. Listen to his first-act spiel:

"You bet it's advertising. What made Anna Held? Milk baths. What made Gaby Deslys? A dago king! Oh, you're one of those guys who don't believe in advertising, are you? Maybe you think love is important! Piffle! Advertising, my boy, the power of suggestion, the psychology of print! Say a thing often enough, a.ar enough, and the other chap will not only believe you, but he'll think it's his own idea and fight for it. Some old gink, professor of psychology, showed forty Vassar girls the other day two samples of satin, one blue, one pink, same grade, same value. Called one 'delicate warm old rose' and the other 'faded blue.' He asked them to pick their favorite. Thirty-nine of 'em picked the old rose. Why? Because they'd been told it was warm and delicate. What did it? The power of suggestion. Advertising!

"Oh, you never read advertisments? I guess you do. If I say His Master's Voice, you know it advertises a phonograph. You're on to what soap 'It Floats' refers to. 'There's a reason,' Uneeda, Quaker Oats, 'Children Cry for It,' Sapolio, Grape-Nuts, Peruna, Spearmint, Pierce-Arrow, 57 Varieties, Kodak, Mumm's, Gold Dust Twins, 'He Won't Be Happy Till He Gets It,' Bull Durham, Pianola, Cuticura, Clysmic, Firestone, Steinway, Thermos, Coco-Cola, the Watch That Made the Dollar Famous—I suppose you don't know what they mean? I thought so!

"Say, what kind of garters do you wear? Sure, I knew it. What do you know about 'em. Nothing! Are they any better than any other? You don't know. I don't know. But every paper I ever looked into had a picture of a man's leg with a certain kind of garter on it. So when I go into a store to ask for garters I just naturally say 'Boston.' Say, what kind of eggs do you eat? Well, why hen eggs, of course?

"Did you ever eat a duck egg? Do you know anything against the duck? But when a duck lays an egg it's a fool and keeps its mouth shut. But when a hen lays one it's "cluck, cluck, cluck" all over the place. She's advertising. And that's why you eat hen's eggs!"

Doesn't look like much to hang a play on does it? But it "goes great." There was a full house at the Atlanta Thursday night and it ranged from the uproarious to the disorderly. It just goes to show that the new-thought philosophers who discovered the Business Man and used him for fiction and the drama struck a gold mine their fellows had been walking over for generations while searching for romance.

"It Pays to Advertise" is here for the rest of the week, including a Saturday matinee. The Ad Men's club is boosting the sale of seats by offering them at a number of uptown stores, and a share of their sales goes to the Home for Incurables. But whether you go for charity or go for fun, you'll get your full money's worth.

MARKET REPORT

COTTON

By The Associated Press.

New York, Dec. 4.—The cotton market was quiet today and prices fluctuated within a range of 4 or 5 points, or between 12.66 and 12.61 for March contracts. That delivery closed at 12.69 with the general list closing steady at an advance of 3 to 6 points as compared with last night's closing figures.

The market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 7 points and active months sold 5 to 7 points net higher during the early trading on covering for over the week-end and a little bull support. This advance carried January contracts up to 12.43c, while May sold at 12.91c and evidently was encouraged by the steadiness of Liverpool, favorable weekly reviews of the domestic goods trade, a slight increase in the amount of cotton on board ships and the reiteration of small ginning figures from private bureaus. These features, however, failed to materially stimulate demand in advance of the government reports expected next week and trading seemed to be largely in the way of evening up accounts for the week-end. At any rate, slight reactions followed under realizing, with January selling off to 12.39 and May to 12.87.

There was some Wall street buying on a scale down and closing prices showed rallies of 2 or 3 points from the lowest on most of the more active positions. Rumors of ginning returns pointed to a crop of only 11,000,000 bales excluding linters, probably increased confidence in a small showing by the census report next Wednesday.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was 139,752 bales, comparing with 126,708 last week and 301,004 last year, while increased offerings of commercial bills in the exchange market also tended to color the talk of some improvement in export demand.

New Orleans.

By the Associated Press.

New Orleans, Dec. 4.—Dullness prevailed in the week-end session of the local cotton market today, but the tone was steady and prices remained at a small net rise the session through, standing at the best 6 points up and closing 2 up.

Cables were better than due and private bureau reports on ginning were bullish, which stimulated moderate buying. Offerings were restricted by the fear of a bullish consumption bureau Monday on ginning to the end of November. A private bureau crop estimate of 11,000,000 bales, not including linters, caused bullish comment.

Much of the trading consisted of evening up transactions and brokers were of the opinion that a good part of the offerings came from longs who did not care to carry their cotton over Sunday.

The interior continued to report a moderately good inquiry for spots and small offerings, which gave the market a good undertone, in sympathy with the small mill takings for the week.

WHEAT

By the Associated Press.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—Highest prices yet on the 1915 crop were reached today in the wheat market here as the result of an excited advance. Buying on a huge scale, said to be partly on orders from a foreign government swept prices upward 6¼c above the low point of the day. The close was buoyant at $1.16⅝ for December and $1.16½ for May, 2⅞@3c to 5½c higher than yesterday's finish. Corn gained 3¼c net and oats ⅛@⅜c to ½c. In provisions the outcome varied from 2½c decline to a rise of 22½c.

Closing quotations on wheat, which were virtually the tiptop for the session, represented a jump of 10 to 13⅛c a bushel as compared with a week ago. The buying fever at the end of the day formed a notable contrast to the weakness apparent at the start. Failure of the Liverpool market to reflect yesterday's advance in America had temporarily a discouraging effect and so did announcement that six eastern railroads had put an embargo on export shipments of flour and that the congestion of freight handling facilities threatened to extend to Galveston. All bearish influences, however, were speedily forgotten when seemingly endless orders to purchase came streaming into the pit.

Corn responded to the strength of wheat.

Oats followed the action of corn.

Provisions averaged higher despite a setback in the value of hoge.

ARMENIAN WOMEN SAVED FROM HAREM, CHILDREN FROM DEATH; PURSUED BY TURKS, RESCUED AT LAST MINUTE BY FRENCH SHIP

Armenian refugees at English camp at Port Said.

Special to the Morning News.

Port Said, Egypt, Dec. 2.—The Armenians have long been the objects of persecution in Turkey and on July 30 last the Turkish authorities told those living in Suedia to sell all their possessions and be ready to move to some distant part of the country. They were given seven days' grace, but they rebelled against the idea of flight.

During the seven days they climbed the nearest mountain which dominated the Syrian coast and assisted by natural defense they fought the Turks for seven weeks. They had only sixteen killed and a dozen wounded, while the Turks are said to have lost hundreds as the Armenians made good use of the natural surroundings.

But their brave resistance could not last long and they would all have perished had not a French warship noticed a large Red Cross flag floating from the mountain top. A boat pulled off to the shore and the Armenians explained the situation. Other cruisers were requisitioned and 4200 refugees were saved.

These refugees are now in a camp at Port Said, organized by Major Pearson. The Armenian patriarch in Cairo is helping with clothing for the poor and many Red Cross nurses are active in the camp.

The camp contains many women who undoubtedly would have been carried off to Turkish harems had assistance not come at the last minute. There are many children also, who would have been butchered by the Turks.

The grown men who were saved by the French have all volunteered to go to the front and fight for the allies.

CAPITALIZING HER TIME.

Wife Does Not Need to Go Out to Work in Order to Save Money.

Here is a contributor's idea of one of the many ways in which a wife can help increase the family's budget:

"She was an old lady and she was piecing a quilt. Came a pretty, frivolous young married woman.

"'The idea,' commented the frivolous one, 'of anyone's having time to sew her life up in a thing like that.'

"'In my time, all women did it,' commented the older woman.

The pretty one flushed.

"'But nowadays time is so much more valuable,' she defended.

"'Is it, I wonder?' mused the wise woman. 'Does your time bring you in any money?' The pretty one shook her head. 'Then why not make it save the money your husband's time brings in, as we did in our day?

"'The dress you wear cost—$6.98? And cheap at that, no doubt you think. Yet you could have bought better material for $2. In two days' time you could have made it better and more daintily than it is. At that rate your time would have yielded you $2.49 a day. Would you be glad of that much for a day's work if you were being paid for it directly?'

"'Indeed, I would!' responded the girl fervently. 'I wish I could make some money to help my husband!'

"'A penny saved is a penny earned, my dear! If you have contracted the habit of sitting on the veranda and thinking of the things you would buy if you had the money, it may be a little hard to devote yourself to a sewing machine and working out a paper pattern. But in return you'll have your $2.50 a day, the pleasure of wearing a dress you have made yourself, and the admiration of your husband.'

"The frivolous one became all attention. 'I just thought I could buy the dress for less than I could buy the material and have it made,' she explained.

"'A specious argument, my dear. Of course you could. But you could not buy it for what you could make it yourself. You are young. Help your husband to make and save his money now.'"—American Magazine.

VIEW OF RUINED YPRES.

A Town Without a Profile, Edith Wharton Says.

That long low line was Ypres; every monument that marked it, that gave it an individual outline, is gone. It is a town without a profile.

We had seen evacuated towns—Verdun, Badonville, Raon-l'Etape—but we had seen no emptiness like this. Not a human being was in the streets. Endless lines of empty houses looked down on us from vacant windows. Our footsteps echoed like the tramp of a crowd, our lowered voices seemed to shout.

In one street we came on three English soldiers who were carrying a piano out of a house and lifting it onto a hand cart. They stopped in amazement to stare at us, and we stared back. It seemed an age since we had seen a living being! One of the soldiers scrambled into the cart and tapped out a tune on the cracked keyboard, and we all laughed with relief at the foolish noise..... Then we passed on and were alone again.

We had seen other ruined towns, but none like this. The towns of Lorraine were blown up, burned down, deliberately erased from the earth. At worst they are like stone yards; at best like Pompeii. But Ypres has been bombarded to death, and the outer walls of its houses are still standing, so that it presents the distant semblance of a living city, while near by it is seen to be a corpse disemboweled and embalmed. Every window pane is smashed, nearly every building unroofed, and some house fronts are cut clean off, with the different stories exposed, as if for the stage settings of a farce. And in these exposed interiors the poor little household goods shiver and blink like owls surprised in a hollow tree.

A hundred signs of intimate and humble tastes, of humdrum pursuits, of family association, cling desperately to the unmasked walls. Whiskered photographs fade on the morning glory wallpapers, little plaster saints pine under glass bells, antimacassors droop from plush sofas, yellowing diplomas display their scars on office walls. It was all so still and familiar that it seemed as if the people for whom these things had a meaning might at any moment come back and take up their daily business.

And then—crash! the guns began, slamming out volley after volley all along the English lines, and the poor frail web of things that had made up the lives of a vanished city-full hung dangling before us in that blast of death.—Edith Wharton in Scribner's Magazine.

BROOKS SQUARELY IN SENATORIAL RACE

BAYLOR PRESIDENT GIVES BRIEF LIFE SKETCH AND ANNOUNCES HIS PLATFORM.

IS FOR WIDE RETRENCHMENT

He Would Cut "Pork" Out of Rivers, Harbors, Pension and Public Building Bills.

Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor university and candidate for the United States senate, has issued the following formal statement and announcement of his platform.

To the Democrats of Texas:

For what appears satisfactory reasons, I am sending out this statement and platform earlier than was originally intended.

THE STATEMENT.

The people have a right to know a candidate as well as his policies; therefore some matters personal are presented herewith prior to the platform.

I Am a Democrat. I am an enthusiastic supporter of President Woodrow Wilson and his administration of domestic and foreign affairs. Like him, I recognize changing local and world conditions, and am ready to adopt new policies to meet new conditions as they arise.

I Am a Poor Man. I have no capital above my home. I abhor the idea of any office going to any man because he happens to have much money. As a poor man, on merit of character and ability, I offer my services to my state and country.

Wage Earner. Just as I became a man a railroad passed my father's little farm of 67 acres in Johnson county, Texas. Crops were laid by. Summer was on. Ditch-diggers and spike-drivers were wanted. I became a section hand. The wage was one dollar and fifteen cents per day of ten hours. The board was fifty cents per day. A year of this work on top of a life of ordinary farm labor gave me the point of view of him who lives by the sweat of his brow. Very naturally, I became and have continued to be, a friend of labor organized for its betterment, and as a result I will earnestly do what I can on its behalf. However, I do not depreciate the farmer, the mechanic, or other wage-earners by putting them in a corner separate from other people; nor do I insult them by putting them on a pedestal by truckling myself. I stand on old mother earth, ready to take every man by the hand as my brother, looking each in the eye on the dead level of equality and the democracy of merit. On this basis I invite all good men to give consideration to my candidacy.

I Believe in All the People. I do not believe in a mere part. My contact with many people in the lines of activity in which I for years have been engaged has heightened my confidence in a government of the people.

I Believe in Manufacturing Industries. I shall do what I can to promote their development without regard to the size of the business ,but wholly with regard to their treatment of the people who make their business possible by (a) labor, by (b) investment, or by (c) consumption of their products.

Newspapers. I hope my candidacy will develop the strength of news, thereby giving me entrance to their columns. Decent pappers spurn the sale of editorial space, and I am literally financially unable to pay for even legitimate advertising.

I Will Manage My Own Campaign. In doing this I am not unmindful that I am an unsophisticated politician, that I have no political machine, and that large sums of money will be spent in an effort to defeat me. It has been said that, since I am ignorant of the tricks of the politicians, I will be helpless as a candidate. I freely admit my ignorance of such trickery, and care not to learn it. In spite of this so-called handicap, I boldly throw myself upon the votes of men unpurchased and unpurchasable, and trust that they, as my friends, will organize Brooks clubs in every community and thus offset the weakness incident to enforced economy and ignorance of practical politics.

THE PLATFORM.

Several Things. There needs to be a quickening sense of the members of the United States congress to much shameful pension legislation and other expenditures, like public buildings, more for politics than for service to the people. The mileage allowance of all members of congress should be reduced more nearly to the actual cost of travel. There should be a curtailment of the franking privilege, whereby a member of the senate or house may not, unsought, frank through the mails tons of speeches outside of his own district. All garden and other seeds should not be sent out by members of either house. They should be sent by by the secretary of agriculture on application of the people, or upon the suggestion of agricultural field agents, whereby there would be some show of practical returns in farm or garden products at infinitely reduced cost over the present method.

I believe that the United States, where possible, should manufacture all its warships and other distinctively military goods not used in the arts of trade; that the chief Federal Medical Officer, and the United States Commissioner of Education, should each be made a member of the president's cabinet; that reasonable child-labor laws should be enacted for the protection of little children and child-bearing mothers who help to make goods for interstate traffic; that speedy improvements should be made of all worthy rivers and harbors, particularly those of Texas, too long delayed in favor of those of other states; that lands for the people should be reclaimed, both swamp and desert, by drainage and irrigation; that punishment should be meted out to national bankers who violate the usury laws of the states in which they are located; and that there should be quickly adopted a cloture rule whereby one or two leather-lung senators may not defeat the clear will of a majority by a mere pretense of debate, a veritable joke on the fundamental rules of deliberative bodies.

Warehouse Law. There should be enacted a federal warehouse law, whereby, through the Department of Agriculture, experts could sample and grade cotton and other non-perishable farm products. This would give uniformity in grading, confidence among buyers and standardize warehouse receipts among bankers at home and abroad. It need not interfere with state warehouse laws.

Parcels Post. I would enlarge it to include all express business. It is understood (1) that all express property would be purchased at a fair value; (2) that all railroads will thereafter be properly remunerated for any incident increase in the mail business, and (3) that all worthy express employes may pass into the postal department with corresponding rank and honors incident to length of employment without recourse to the civil service laws.

Prohibition. I favor the constitutional prohibition of the liquor traffic without limit of geographical bounds in the territory of the United States. Neither the state nor national platform of our party makes this question a test of democratic soundness. The organized brewery interests, having long sought by fraudulent ballots to control the people of this country, will now seek to belittle me as a man capable of standing on only one plank. This charge I resent, and on this single plank I will not stand. Because of the breadth of my platform, and the integrity of my judgment, thousands of honorable, individualistic anti-prohibitionists, resentful of brewery leadership, will give support to me.

Merchant Marine. The policy of the present administration at Washington is to increase the foreign trade of the countries of Central and South America. This would be greatly helped by a merchant marine. Such ships, therefore, should be built at once for (1) commerce in peace and for (2) auxiliaries in times of war.

Neutral Convention. I favor an immediate convention of neutral nations, out of which may come a body of doctrine having to do with the respective future rights of neutrals and belligerents in the light of modern life and the experience of the European war. This body of doctrine would be offered nations after the present war is at an end. It is confidentiy believed that many acts of injustice now done by belligerents towards neutrals would be impossible under such an agreement.

Rural Credits. On this subject President Wilson has promised legislation during the next congress. Experts have visited Europe, studied carefully the financial condition of the rural classes there, and are at this time collating the wisdom of the world in an effort to advance the interests of the American farmers, and especially those without land of their own. It shall be my joy to do what I can to get Farm Land Loan Banks and Rural Credit associations organized so that through them frugal, industrious tenants may acquire homes of their own, having payments extended by the amortization plan even to as much as five to thirty-five years.

Preparedness. I am not so much frightened about what somebody is going to do to us from the outside as I am about what militarism, its expense and other consequences would do to us from the inside, if we allow it to dominate the thinking of our people. Yet, I am in favor of preparedness, preparedness to care for our interior and over-sea possessions and to meet any and every emergency as it may arise. I would keep up the present efficiency of the army and navy. In addition, I would have hundreds of aeroplanes manned, ready for service, very many equipped submarines with their noses pointed to the sea; many large storage magazines full of bullets, guns and dry powder ready in the hands of citizen soldiers for any eventuality. If, however, when the European war is at an end, circumstances seem to justify it, I would vote any and all sorts of enlargement of the army and navy to meet the demands necessary to maintain American rights before or against the whole world.

JOHN JURNEY DIES SUDDENLY ON TRAIN

BELOVED WACO CITIZEN PASSES AWAY EN ROUTE HOME FROM TRIP.

RESIDENT OF CITY ALL LIFE

Was Traveling Salesman for McLendon Hardware Company 23 Years. Funeral This Afternoon.

The train that was to have brought John Jurney, aged 56, veteran traveling saleman, home from his weekly trip to spend a happy Sunday with his family at 509 Herring avenue, brought his dead body yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Jurney died suddenly en route to Waco on a Texas Central train near Ross, a stop about twelve miles north of the city. LEADERS MAINTAIN SUPREMACY IN BIG MERCHANT CONTEST

Although the votes cast during the week in the big prize contest ran up into the hundreds of thousands, the leaders of last week in both the city and out-of-town districts are still holding their advantage. Miss Marguerite Pinto still heads the list in the city district, and Miss Ruth Oswald remains in the lead in the out-of-town district. Both these contestants are now close to the one million mark in the total number of votes cast by them.

In second place in the city district this week is E. T. Genheimer, with 800,725 votes, and in the out-of-town district Mrs. J. R. Mullins holds second place with 608,920. Miss Sara Rosenberg, Miss Ethel Jackson and Miss Jennie Novich, in the city list, have nearly 800,000 votes each, there being a difference of less than 3,000 between the three of them. The race is growing warmer all the time, and promises to be a close one, with the result just as much in doubt now as at the beginning of the contest.

Speaking of the contest, the contest manager of the Goldstein-Migel company said last night:

"The big contest now has only sixteen more days to run, and on the use that the contestants make of these sixteen remaining days depends the result of the race. Every vote counts now, and every person who has a friend in the race should put forth every possible effort to help that friend. The contestant whose friends stand by him or her most loyally now has the best chance to win.

"We are suggesting to all the friends of the various contestants a Christmas gift plan that is to the mutual advantage of the contesant and the person who wishes to help the contestant. This is the giving of coupon books as Christmas gifts. No gift could be more pleasing or acceptable to the average person than a book of coupons good for $5, $10 or $25 at eleven of the best stores and firms in town. With one of these books a person can buy almost anything, for the firms that are in the contest include all lines of business. On account of the extra number of votes which are given on the sale of these coupon books, you can help a contestant more by purchasing books than in any other way. Almost everybody who has a considerable number of presents to give can use several of these books. As a gift to one's mother, wife, sister or brother, or to a business associate or to an employe, there is no better gift than a coupon book; it saves all the worry of deciding what to give, and it enables the recipient to get just exactly what he wants.

"Persons who have accounts at the various stores in the contest can help their 'contestant friends' very greatly if they will pay their accounts before the 24th of December, thus securing votes. Another way that a contestant can be materially assisted is for the contestant's friends to buy coupon books in an amount sufficient to cover their needs during January and February. The purchases of goods can then be made as they are needed, and the votes will be given to the contestant at once. Anybody who expects to spend $50 or $100 with these firms during January can buy the books now and help some friend with the votes thus secured."

Complaints Filed in Hold-up Case

A. P. Young, who claims that he is from Memphis, Tenn., and Jim Thomas of Waco, are held in the county jail with charges of "robbery with firearms" against them for the hold-up of R. W. Echols on South Fifth street late Friday night. A third white man who was connected with the "stick-up" has not yet been located by the officers. Patrolman Mack Kennedy was responsible for the capture of Young and Thomas, having observed them a few minutes prior to the hold-up and later identifying them with the robbery. He captured the two as they were coming out of a restaurant.

No Disposal Made Texas Building at Frisco Exposition

With the close of the great Panama-American exposition and the varying fate of the millions of dollars represented in the hundreds of beautiful exposition buildings, Texans are naturally interested in the disposition of the Lone Star building which was erected through popular subscriptions over the state. Abe Gross, one of the board of commissioners in charge of the building, said last night that no definite plan had been made for the disposition of the Texas building, so far as he knew, and probably would not be definitely known until a meeting of the commissioners at an early date.

The Texas building is of beautiful architecture and was the pride of thousands from the state who felt a touch of home when they entered their state headquarters at the exposition.

Many of the state buildings are on property in San Francisco which belongs to the government and have to be cleared away. Several of the structures are now in the process of being razed, and only one so far has been given over to the California metropolis to be used as an aquarium.

MORDIS FALKNER IS ROTARY SPEAKER FOR LUNCHEON MONDAY

Mordis Falkner, the horticulturist member, will be the chief speaker at the weekly Rotarian lunch at the State House tomorrow and his address will deal with the problems and opportunities in truck gardening and fruit raising. Louis McCulloch will act as toastmaster. The resolution appealing for greater national preparedness will be the main item of business to be considered.

The secretary has sent out the following letter regarding the meeting:

"Last meeting the resolution on "Preparedness" was read and will be open for discussion at this meeting. This is a very interesting subject and every member is requested to be on hand.

"There is a delay in getting into the dining room at luncheon promptly at 12:15, this causes a delay in adjourning. Rotarians, let's be prompt in future. We stand for 'service.'

"It is suggested that the entertainment committee appoint some member each of four successive meetings to give his personal experience in a three minute talk under the following:

"1. The funniest thing that ever happened to me.

"2. The most amusing thing I ever saw.

"3. My most thrilling experience.

"4. My greatest achievement in sports.

"Rotary means elevating the mind, enlarging the heart, stimulating the brain, making both the body and the mind a better place to live in.

"In the midst of our recreation and sports, let us pause to give thanks that our nation is at peace with the nations of the earth, that nature has yielded a bountiful harvest, that prosperity has dawned, and that we can look into the future with the assurance that all will be well with us.

"Try to make the secretary happy by bringing that $1.50 donation to the conference fund with you this meeting, if you haven't already paid it."

TRUST COMPANIES IN WACO AMONG BEST IN COUNTY

The 1915 edition of "Trust Companies of the United States," which is the annual publication of trust company statistics issued by the United States Mortgage and Trust company, New York, is being distributed.

The book contains the names of 2031 trust companies and in addition to the statements of condition of 1777 trust companies throughout the country, there is included lists of officers and directors of the various companies, together with stock quotations, dividend rates, etc.

The substantial increase in each item of the resources of trust companies in the past year, indicates a continuance of the steady growth which has obtained since this compilation was first started in 1903.

On June 30, 1908, the total resources of trust companies were reported as $3,917,442,000, while the figures for June 30 this year are reported as $11,795,000,000, showing a gain of over 61 per cent. The trust company resources are now nearly 54 per cent of the resources of national banks reported on June 23 as $11,795,000,000.

A valuable table shows a "recapitulation of resources and liabilities of trust companies by states" and gives for all trust companies in each state the following items: Stocks and bonds, loans, notes and mortgages; cash on hand and in bank; real estate banking houses, etc.; other resources; capital, surplus and undivided profits; deposits and due to banks and bankers; other liabilities.

According to this recapitulation the trust companies of Texas are reported as holding $62,377,225 in banking resources.

In Waco there were no trust companies until 1912.

The recent issue of the 1915 edition of Trust Companies of the United States indicates that resources are held here by trust companies as follows:

The Bankers Trust company of Waco, $1,083,383.63.

Lumbermen's Security and Trust company, $362,335.48.

In the preface, President John W. Platten says:

Each succeeding year reveals a continued expansion of the activities of the trust companies of the United States and the growth of additional features of usefulness which bear world-wide significance.

Each succeeding year there is added to the available wealth of the nation through these institutions a steadily augmenting volume of resources, this year's increase of over four hundred million dollars being a notable example.

Each succeeding year the personal and corporate business of the country shows increased confidence in trust companies as evidenced i nthe continuous growth of their deposits, of which this year's gain is $381,943,696.75.

Each succeeding year the trust companies demonstrate more clearly their ability to care efficiently for those individual and corporate operations which involve very large and intricate transactions.

Each succeeding year the tendency to designate an institution of this class for the execution of personal trusts and the administration of estates is becoming more and more marked.

Each succeeding year affords evidence that the responsiveness of these institutions in meeting local requirements has in no small measure been perfected by reason of their knowledge of conditions peculiar to the particular section in which each company operates and their ability to administer through resident control.

Each succeeding year further progress is being achieved in standardizing the banking laws of the various states which tends to conserve and advance the interest of trust companies and the communities they serve.

And finally each succeeding month and each succeeding year will reveal the fact that it is of vital importance if the fullest development of the nation's resources is to be accomplished, that every step be taken calculated to co-ordinate along acceptable lines the country's now more or less disconnected financial units, the necessity being for further and concerted action to secure amendments by congress of the act which will render it desirable for state institutions to become members of the federal reserve system.

Faithfulness of Dog Bad Luck for Owner

When the great commoner, Oliver Cromwell, declared that the dog was man's best friend he couldn't of course, know about Ellis Decard's old cur. Decard is a negro of Waco with a saucer-mouth effect and he has a smile that won't come off because nature made his two rows of shining teeth show, and despite the fact that Decard is now in the county jail on a charge of stealing a horse, he can't look serious. But the smiling negro would probably not be in the jail now if it were it not for his cur dog.

A farmer living out several miles from the city missed one of his horses the other night. The same night that the horse disappeared a cur dog appeared. The dog followed some one to the farmer's lot, found a bone and decided to board over night.

The owner of the dog proved to be Decard, and when the farmer found his man on the city square yesterday he got in touch with Fire Marshal Joe Carlisle standing near and the arrest was made. Decard was first put in the city jail and later transferred to the county jail.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS, SICK FEVERISH CHILD

LOOK, MOTHER! IS TONGUE COATED, BREATH HOT AND STOMACH SOUR?

HARMLESS "FRUIT LAXATIVE" BEST TO CLEAN TENDER LIVER AND BOWELS.

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

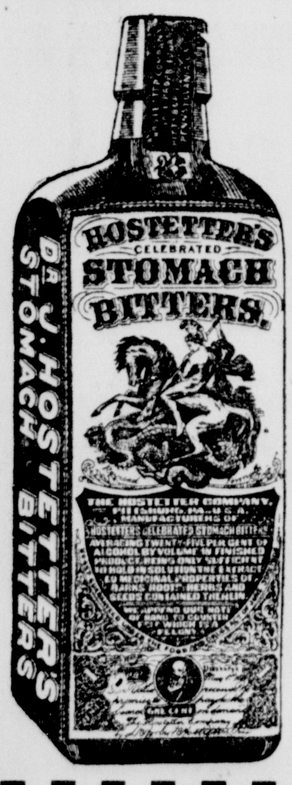

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

The Promotion of Health

Good health must have its start in the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, for these organs are the controlling power and have direct influence on the entire system.

If stomach weakness is allowed to develop, digestion becomes impaired, the appetite begins to wane, the liver becomes lazy and the bowels constipated.

Therefore the great importance of establishing and maintaining strength and vigor in these organs at all times. To this end just try

BAYLOR SENIORS PLANT CLASS TREE

ANNUAL CEREMONY ON CAMPUS COINCIDENT WITH DR. S. P. BROOKS' BIRTHDAY.

FRESHMEN BEST SOPHOMORES

Fish Take Annual Football Game 17 to 6—College Library and Bindery Doing Excellent Work.

Baylor's senior class held its annual tree-planting yesterday afternoon in honor of Dr. Brooks' birthday, as is the custom of each senior class. The exercises were well attended, and the conditions of the weather could have been no better for an open air gathering. Among the speakers of the day were Mayes Behrman, class orator; Bruce Schulkey, class president; H. V. Nigro, Florrie Glass, Alice Keeling, Nan Halbert, class secretary, and several others. Owing to the fact that the juniors did not appear as has always been the custom, to receive the class spade from the senior class, Mr. Robert N. Cluck of McGregor, president of the sophomore class, accepted the spade and assured the seniors that the time-honored custom of celebrating the birthday of the college president would not be dropped, but that the '18 class would take it up just the same as if the juniors had not been in school.

As the meeting came to a close the class gathered around the tree and sang the Baylor song.

Fish Humble Sophs.

The freshmen won the annual interclass game yesterday with the sophomores by a score of 17 to 6. The game was long and drawn out on account of the men on both teams not being in condition. For the freshmen McCorkle was the star, with his long runs and splendid line bucking. He received the ball on the kickoff and ran 70 yards for a touchdown. Charlton Wood, captain of the freshmen, did fine work on defense and was good for a gain on offense when called on.

The sophomores seemed to lack the punch when it came to a crucial moment and failed to buck the ball over when they had it on the soph's 15-yard line. However they came back in the fourth quarter and with a series of passes went down the field to the one-yard line and Miller bucked it over. He failed to kick goal.

Library Progressing.

The Baylor library under the excellent management of J. C. Lewis has made some wonderful progress in the past few months. Mr. Lewis has increased the efficiency of his staff by consistent training and drill in the most up-to-date library methods, and is now prepared to accommodate any number of readers that may come. The library offers work for about fifty students who wish to make their tuition in school. With this number there are always sufficient numbers of assistants to attend to the wishes of the patrons.

Library Extension Service.

New books are coming in constantly and the periodicals are being arranged so that any one can get almost any number desired. One valuable addition to the shelves is a complete set to date of ninety-three volumes of "Nature," an English scientific publication. This is considered one of the best editions of its kind and Mr. Lewis says that Baylor is fortunate in getting it. Another feature of the recent additions is the material on the war in Europe. This is official accounts of the happenings there and contains what will be valuable history in later days.

Baylor's library, like all big libraries of the east, has its own bindery. It is under the management of Mr. Lewis and the principal work is done by Mr. K. Solvey, a professional binder. Aside from Mr. Solvey there is work for one other man and two young ladies. With new machinery on hand and more on the road it is the best equipped of its kind in the state. Two men are working full and overtime trying to supply the demand for bound volomes, not only for the Baylor library but for the Public library, which has an order in now for over one hundred books. Just a few days ago Texas Christian university of Fort Worth placed an order for a large number of books with Mr. Lewis and the work is being done now. Other orders are coming in constantly and the force is being enlarged to accommodate the demand.

Museum Open to Visitors Monday.

After the Cotton Palace the museum exhibit was somewhat in a torn-up condition, but J. K. Strecker with Assistant Kellog have been constantly preparing new and attractive exhibits for the public. The last of the work was done Saturday and the material that was used at the Cotton Palace together with some new additions from various parts of the country has been arranged in a very attractive way. Among the added attractions are a large number of colonial stamps and coins from the various parts of the old British colonies. Other recent additions are curios from South America, old documents of the Southern states, and some old war implements from the Indian tribes and Mexico.

Glee Club Returns From Cameron.

The young ladies' glee club of the university gave a concert in Cameron Friday night. A large and appreciative crowd was present and the program was a very pleasing affair. The principal features of the program were Mr. De Heck's solos and the reading by Miss Ingram of the class in expression.

The young men's glee club will give a concert at Belton in Alma Reeves chapel Monday.

Campus Personals.

Registrar F. M. Allen went to Dallas yesterday to be with Mrs. Allen, who has serious trouble with her eyes. According to reports the nature of her affliction is unusually serious and the Baylor people extend their sympathy to her and the family.

Dr. Brooks went to Holland yesterday to deliver a lecture on the subject of education. He was invited by the people there to make this address and the churches have co-operated in the enterprise by joining their congregations and hearing him at the school auditorium.

Santa Claus Arrives With Boy Scout Guard for Christmas Season

Santa Claus, who arrived in Waco yesterday from the North Pole, was convoyed to his headquarters at the S. H. Kress store by an honor guard of Boy Scouts with the Goddess of Liberty and Uncle Sam and was met on the streets by a great host of boys and girls. Just outside of the Kress building the Boy Scouts were given a beautiful silk flag with staff by Miss Gladys Beanland, as the Goddess of Liberty, in behalf of the S. H. Kress company. With genial Old Santa and the music of the Scout band the event yesterday afternoon proved a jubilant occasion for the youngsters.

Santa was well pleased with his reception and expects to have a great time with the Waco boys and girls, said G. H. Moessner, local manager of the Kress store, last night. Many letters from kiddies in the city and from all over this section have reached Santa, addressed in care of Kress'. The scribbled appeals to Santa are full of human interest and youngster's hopes. One little girl begged Santa to bring her about fifteen different toys and wound up by telling her troubles, saying that she had sore eyes, but had been a "mighty good little girl."

S. H. Kress of New York, establisher of the string of Kress stores and a pioneer in the five and ten-cent store movement of the last generation, arrived in Waco yesterdty and will remain over until this evening. Mr. Kress came here from Dallas on his semi-annual tour of the stores. W. T. Burall, one of the Kress buyers, is also in the city.

AUSTIN HIGH BEATS NORTH FORT WORTH SIX TO NOTHING

Special to the Morning News.

Austin, Dec. 4.—Austin High School defeated the team representing the North Fort Worth High School 6 to 0 in a real football game on Clark Field this afternoon, thereby winning the semi-finals for the state high school championship.

Waco claims that she still has an equal claim on the title since she tied Austin, but her refusal to meet Austin in a return game has confused the race in Central Texas. The North Texas teams, Cleburne and Amarillo, played today and the winner of that game will have to be defeated by the champs before they will be allowed to again claim the title for the state.

Today's exhibition was featured by the runs of Lawhon and Henderson for the winners, the latter making a twenty-yard plunge for the only touchdown of the game.

McMillan was unquestionably the star of the game. Although his team was defeated by the faster Austin team, he was by far the best individual on the field and had it not been for his continuous tackling of the Austin men the score would have been much larger.

CALIFORNIAN GIVEN TITLE FOR TENNIS

OFFICIAL STANDINGS PLACE WM. M. JOHNSTON OF 'FRISCO AT HEAD OF LIST FOR YEAR.

Miss Molla Bjurstedt of Norway Leads Women Players Who Were Rated by National Association.

By The Associated Press.

New York, Dec. 4.—William M. Johnston of San Francisco was placed at the top of the national tennis ranking list for the season in the singles and paired with Clarence J. Griffin of San Francisco at the top of the doubles in the report officially issued today by the committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association. The findings were made by F. C. Inman, W. L. Pate and William Hall.

Miss Molla Bjurstedt of Norway headed the list of women players who were rated.

Johnston's right to No. 1 was established by his record in the national championship, in which he defeated Karl H. Behr of New York, R. Norris Williams of Philadelphia and M. E. McLoughlin of San Francisco on successive days. The committee admitted that there was only a slight shade between Williams and McLoughlin and that justice might have been done in rating McLoughlin in second place instead of third.

The ratings of the first ten and the class 1 in the singles, out of 100 names follows:

William M. Johnston, R. Norris Williams, M. E. McLoughlin, Karl H. Behr, T. R. Pell, N. W. Niles, C. J. Griffith, W. M. Washburn, George M. Church, W. M. Hall.

Class 1—K. J. Armstrong, Leonard Beekman, C. M. Bull Jr., H. T. Buford, W. F. Johnson, Robert Leroy, Dean Mathey, Harold A. Throckmorton, S. H. Voshel and J. C. Wright.

Rating of first ten pairs in doubles—W. M. Johnston and C. J. Griffin, M. E. McLoughlin and T. C. Bundy, G. M. Church and Dean Mathey, R. N. Williams and W. M. Washburn, W. T. Hayes and R. H. Burdick, I. C. Wright and W. F. Johnson, T. R. Pell and B. C. Prentice, H. H. Hackett and W. M. Hall, F. C. Baggs and S. H. Voshel, E. P. Larned and F. C. Inman.

Rating of first ten women in singles out of 25 names—Miss Molla Bjurstedt, Mrs. George Wightman, Mrs. Marshall McLean, Miss Florence Sutton, Miss Barger Wallach, Mrs. Marine Wagner, Miss Anita Myers, Miss Sara Livington, Miss Clare Cassell, Miss Eleanor Sears.

In its report the ranking committee because less than 100 players sent in their records, recommends that it be compulsory for clubs holding tournaments to file with the committee a complete record of the tournament within ten days of its completion on penalty of losing its tournament next year.

A committee was appointed to report plans to develop the interest in junior tennis throughout the country.

The net receipts of the national tournament at the West Side Tennis club were $16,000, slightly larger than any sum ever received when the tournament was held at Newport, R. I.

REICHSTAG WORKING ON FOOD PROBLEMS

SOCIALISTS TAKING A LEADING PART IN URGING GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF SUPPLIES.

Berlin Municipality Organizes Butter Bureau—Everything Higher Priced.

By The Associated Press.

Berlin, Dec. 4, via London, Dec. 5, 2:16 a. m.—The budget committee of the reichstag is devoting several days to the discussion of food problems. The socialists are taking a leading part, two having spoken on Thursday and three on Friday.

The socialist speakers fully approved the government's measures to protect consumers and secure a better distribution of supplies, but demanded that the government must go even further and apply the card system to meats and virtually everything else and wholly eliminate the middleman. One socialist demanded that the government carry out the resolution already unanimously adopted by the reichstag providing for the establishment of a central government office having complete control of food supplies.

A conservative speaker pointed out that the prices of feed have risen more than the prices of meat and milk. He said that the production of a litre (1.06 quarts) of milk now costs 3¾c more than in normal times. He recommended that the governments of other states follow the example of Prussia, which proposes to devote $25,000,000 to procure feed for fattening swine.

Owing to the difficulty experienced by the people in obtaining sufficient butter, the Berlin municipality has organized a so-called butter bureau in the city hall. The function of this bureau is to distribute in Berlin and vicinity the quotas of butter assigned to the territory by the central buying agency, which is an organization operating under the auspices of the government.

It is charged in some quarters that the butter famine of the last few days has been due to the holding back of butter by the producers. It is admitted, however, everywhere that the shortage of feed is the chief cause. An alleged contributing cause is that imported butter can be sold only through the central selling agency.

Habit Forming Drugs Cannot Be Sold by Mail-Order House

By the Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 4.—Medicines containing habit-forming narcotic drugs, in which is forbidden by the Harrison law, cannot be sold through a mail order busness, Judge J. E. Sater decded in federal district court here today. He dismissed a suit brought by the Dr. Nathan Tucker Asthma Specific company of Mount Gilead, Ohio, to enjoin B. E. Williamson, federal internal revenue collecter, from seizing the plant.

The court's decision declared medicines containing narcotic drugs may be prescribed by physicians only after a personal examination of the patient before each prescription. Diognosis by mail is held illegal.

The decision is considered of far-reaching importance, since it is said many other proprietary remedies contain narcotic drugs or their derivatives, and are sold by the mail order system.

Mexican Conditions Reported Very Bad

By the Associated Press.

Laredo, Dec. 4.—Passengers arriving today from points as far south as the City of Mexico say that although industrial and commercial conditions are commencing to improve, many foreign-owned plants are, however, being operated solely to retain their concessions, rather than to obtain a profit. Cheap money has become a serious problem throughout the republic, it is said.

At Monterey, the public utilities plants, owned by a Canadian corporation, are being operated at a great loss. Telephone service is rendered at a rate of three pesos a month, or 18 cents gold. Other corporations desiring to protect their concessions are doing business on a parity.

General Carranza is at Monterey and is enveloped in administration affairs. Persons in close touch with the first chief are expecting him to make an announcement regarding the appointment of an ambassador to the United States, but he has taken no action. The name of Eliseo Arredondo, Carranza's special agent at Washington, continued to be mentioned prominently.

The military campaign against Chihuahua state has commenced, but the troop movement is slow. Passengers from Torreon say that city is almost deserted.

Explosion Cripples Liner Minnesota

By the Associated Press.

San Francisco, Dec. 4.—The crippled Hill liner Minnesota, returning toward the Golden Gate after having turned back when well at sea on her voyage to London, Eng., has in her brig three men who, if information made public here tonight is correct, are suspected of having perpetrated an explosion, which, the information says, occurred in the engine room of the big freighter and caused her disability.

San Francisco representatives of the Great Northern Steamship company are reported tonight to have admitted the receipt of a message from St. Paul, Minn., where the general offices of the Great Northern Steamship company are located, telling of the alleged explosion and the arrest of the three men.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 4.—In the absence of Louis W. Hill, who is confined to his home by a slight illness, officials of the Great Northern Steamship company tonight refused to comment on news dispatches from San Francisco which said that three men were held on board the steamer Minnesota, charged with attempting to disable the liner. It was intimated, however, that the steamer's machinery was tampered with and that discovery of this was followed by further discovery of an alleged attempt to wreck the vessel completely.

Horses Stampede Fort Worth Streets

Fort Worth, Texas, Dec. 5.—Two hundred horses of a herd of 500, gathered here for shipment to Europe, stampeded, broke a corral fence and raced down the principal street of the business section of the city tonight shortly after midnight. Owl cars were stopped and late pedestrians forced to take shelter in doorways by the rush of the animals. A hurriedly assembled posse of cowboys started rounding up the animals within a short time after their escape and a special police call was made to help clear the business district of its unusual visitors.

HALF ENGLAND MAKING MUNITIONS OF WAR

FINANCIAL AGENT OF LLOYD-GEORGE TALKS TO CANADIAN BUSINESS MEN.

National Economy Will Win, Declares Speaker at Banquet in Ottawa.

By the Associated Press.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 4.—Half the population of England is engaged in producing war munitions to aid the 3,000,000 men in the fighting lines in a war which is costing Great Britain $1,000,000 an hour, the Honorable R. H. Brand, financial agent of David Lloyd-George, minister of munitions, told business men at a luncheon here today. Those present included the duke of Connaught, Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfred Laurier.

"The war," continued Mr. Brand, "will be a long one and no one can tell how much more England, Canada and other parts of the empire may have to do before it is successfully ended, but of all the things to be done to win, financial operations are the most important."

National economy will win the war, the speaker added, and he begged Canadians to practice the most rigid economy in order to provide the greatest possible aid to Great Britain. He expressed appreciation of Canada's decision to make financial advances to England and promised that all such loans would be repaid soon after the close of the conflict.

Germany Admits Greek's Concessions.

By the Associated Press.

Berlin, Dec. 4.—(Via London)—Despite the probability, according to the indications, that the entente powers have attained favorable concessions in their negotiations with Greece the situation as regards that country apparently is causing little anxiety in German circles.

There seems to be no disposition here to criticise Greece harshly for yielding to a certain extent to the demands of the entente, adverse as these are to the central powers and Bulgaria, since the position of Greece with her exposed coast line is realized.

Fit Two Monkeys With Eye Glasses

By the Associated Press.

Baltimore, Dec. 4.—Two monkeys at Johns Hopkins hospital are being fitted with eyeglasses in an effort to discover a cure for various diseases in the human.

The glasses will entail severe strain on the eyes, causing imperfect vision, and in other ways will confuse the recording nerves of the eye ball. The direct result expected is a serious reaction of the thyroid glands of the monkeys with a consequent development of diseases found in huban beings to have their origin in the thyroad gland. Principal among these are goitre, nervousness, palpitation of the heart, protruding eyeballs and scrofula, a mild form of tuberculer affection.

Investigations have revealed that the thyroad gland is responsive to optical disaffections. This gland is blamed generally for a multitude of troublesome and disfigurating diseases and through the irritation expected to be produced in the monkeys the various stages and manifestations of disease will be minutely studied and a search started for a counter irritant or serum.

Ship Builders Meet With Lloyd's Men

By the Associated Press.

Philadelphia, Dec. 4.—The heads of almost all the large ship building firms in the eastern states attended an informal conference here today to consider phases of the American shipbuilding interests affected by the recent establishment in this country of a committee of Lloyd's Registry association.

The appointment of an American committee composed of representative corporation men allied with maritime interests to supervise the activities of the registry system in this country is a result of the great increase in ship building in the United States.

Andrew Scott of London, secretary of the association, was one of the guests at today's luncheon. The manner in which the work of registry in American ship yards is too simplified and the purpose of the American builders is to corporate some of their own ideas in the system of international ship registry were the basis for an informal discussion.

KELLERMAN TELLS OF ATTACK ON LOOS

WELL KNOWN GERMAN AUTHOR SAYS BRITISH SENT TO CERTAIN DESTRUCTION.

First Charge Follows Heavy Artillery Fire and Four Great Waves of Gas.

Correspondence of Associated Press.

Berlin, Dec. 4.—The fighting around Loos, where the British succeeded in capturing a part of the foremost positions of the German lines in September, is still the subject of descriptive reports in the press. One of the most animated of such descriptions is from the pen of Bernard Kellermann, known in America as the author of "The Tunnel."

He says that after four days of inconceivably heavy artillery fire the British began a gas attack on the morning of September 25. Four separate waves of gas, alternately white and dark gray, were blown forward toward the German lines and at the same time the British artillery was hurling gas bombs upon the Germans. The latter coughed and held their ground as long as they could, but many fell, unable to resist the fumes. In the midst of all this the Germans were preparing for the expected infantry attack.

Finally the British appeared, emerging suddenly as if from nowhere, behind a cloud of gas, and wearing masks. They came on in thick lines and storming columns. The first line of the attackers was quickly shot down by the hail of rifle and machine gun bullets that rained upon they from the shattered German trenches; the hand grenades especially wrought terrible havoc, some of them cutting down six and eight men. The dead and wounded soon laid like a wall before the German position. The second and third lines of English suffered the same fate. It was estimated that the number of British killed before this German division alone reached 8000 to 10,000.

The fourth line of attackers, however, finally succeeded in overrunning the decimated line of Germans, who stood by their guns to the very last; those of them who had not fallen were made prisoners. Not one of them returned to tell what happened in this terrific fighting. On the neighboring front, too, the British succeeded in breaking the German first position; and gained here from 500 to 2000 yards of ground. At the second German position, where their reserves were in waiting, the attack was completely checked and the fighting lost something of its fierceness as the afternoon waned; and September 25 ended with hand-to-hand encounters and hand grenade attacks at various points along the front. The Germans made an attack during the night and regained a part of the lost ground.

The British renewed the next morning their attempts to break through the German lines.

"They tried with quite new tactics—or rather with very old tactics that are out of date in this war. It was a thing wholly unexpected; and the staff officers looked on with open-mouthed wonder. Shortly before noon it was observed that the British—thickly massed and in echelon formation of eight ranks—were advancing from Loos to attack us. Their artillery was sending down a hail of shells to beat open a path for these storming masses. At the same time the enemy mounted artillery, in broad daylight, rode up to take a position upon hill 70 to the east of Loos, which is nothing more than a slight elevation in the landscape, hardly noticed in riding across the fields. The batteries were carrying bridge material with them to enable them to make crossings over trenches and natural obstructions. Still more—one or two mounted cavalry regiments were observed on the plain far to the rear.

"Eight ranks of infantry; mounted artillery; cavalry in the background—that was too much. A veritable battle plan of a past age; the product of a mind in its dotage and a half-century behind the times. Commanders of armies get out of date in our times as rapidly as inventions and sciences, whereas the lesson taught by this war is that the lives of soldiers should be trusted only to the most modern, the most elastic, and most highly endowed minds—the very pick of a nation's best talent. The English should have sent back their old celebrities to take charge of communications.

"Splendidly, with admirable courage, the English troops came forward to the attack. They were young, wore no decorations, they carried out with blind courage what their senile commanders orders—and this in a period of mortars, machine guns and the telephone. Their behavior was splendid, but all the more pitiable was the breakdown of their attack.

"The eight-ranks columns, before they had advanced ten paces, got into our mixed fire of rifles, machine guns and artillery—all at the call of the telephone. Our batteries were only awaiting the signal. His English excellency was not prepared for this. Fresh reserves were put into action, only to be mowed down by the crossfire from our machine guns. The English mounted artillery had a wretched end; it not only got into the range of our machine guns, but at the same time our heavy mortars (called by telephone), raked it so rapidly and thoroughly that the men did not even have time to unlimber their guns. The cavalry regiments waiting in the background for the order to attack were greeted with such salvos of heavy shells that shook the sabres from their scabbards. That ended the battle. The attack broke down in front of our wire entanglements.

"An enormous number of head lay before our trenches. . . The enemy's losses for the two days before this German division alone amounted at a low estimate to 20,000 men."

The lesson that Kellermann thinks should be learned from the fighting here is that "war is not a sport in the hands of a dozen privileged dilletantes."

The pantalette is of tufted tulle tied with satin ribbon, leaving a little frill around the ankles. The waist is sleeveless with straps across the shoulders to hold it in place.

REPORTED ATTACK ON AMERICAN SHIP IN MEDITERRANEAN

By the Associated Press.

Athens, Dec. 4.—A wireless S. O. S. call reached Athens this morning from an unnamed American ship, the message stating that she was being attacked by an Austrian or a German submarine south of the Island of Crete.

Washington, Dec. 4.—The state department late today had received no official information regarding the reported attack on an American ship in the Mediterranean. Officials thought there was little possibility that the collier Caesar was the ship referred to in news dispatches as attacked by a submarine and suggested that it probably was one of a small fleet of merchant vessels plying in Grecian waters under the American flag, but owned entirely by Greek capital. An attack on a ship of that status, it was said, probably would not confront the United States with a serious international problem unless there were Americans on board.

It was said at the navy department that the cruiser Des Moines probably was nearer the scene of the reported attack than was the Caesar. Both reported early today that they had lost their anchors and suffered some other minor damage yesterday in a severe gale off Baffa. The Caesar was to proceed to the south, however, taking refugees to Alexandria, while the Des Moines was on her way to Cyprus under indefinite orders which might take her to other Mediterranean islands.

The disposition of navy officials was to regard it as impossible that any American warship had been attacked either through accident or otherwise.

It was said by officials that an attack upon one of the Greek owned vessels of American registry might present a rather difficult problem, but that it was highly improbable that the United States would feel justified in making it an international issue.
